Slap At Spain Voted 29 To 6 By U. N. Group

U. S. And 19 Other Countries Abstain

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 12 —(AP)— A Soviet-supported slap at Franco Spain was approved today by the United Nations Political Committee but it fell far short of the unanimous vote its backers wanted.

The 57-member committee voted 29 to 6 for a toned-down mixture of three resolutions aimed against Generalissimo Franco. France, China, Britain and Russia were among those voting for it. The United States and 19 other countries abstained.

The committee thus reaffirmed a resolution approved by the Assembly last December 12 which called on United Nations members to withdraw their ambassadors and ministers from Madrid and on the Security Council to act if a democratic regime were not installed in Spain in a "reasonable" time.

The new resolution now goes to the full Assembly, where delegates expected it would receive final approval.

United States View

Charles Fahy, American alternate delegate; said the United States felt the resolution meant the Security Council should act. He said the United States did not favor economic measures against Spain which the council could take under the Charter. The United States is on record against any action which "would initiate change by violence."

Six Latin American countries—Argentina, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Dominican Republic, Paraguay, and Peru voted against it. They contended the proposal constituted unwarranted interference in the affairs of a nation.

Other United Nations developments:

1. South Africa and India clashed in the Political Committee over the issue of alleged "Jim Crowism" against Asians in South Africa. India again charged South Africa with discriminating against Indians in South Africa and argued that South Africa had failed to carry out a 1946 Assembly resolution calling on the two countries to settle the issue between themselves.

South Africa said the United Nations has no jurisdiction, that the question is purely a domestic one.

India Quits Race

2. India withdrew from the Security Council contest. This left a clear field to the Soviet Ukraine, which was generally expected to be elected at a full meeting of the Assembly tomorrow at Flushing Meadow Park, New York.

3. The United Nations prepared to consider 23 items at three Assembly meetings tomorrow. These included the year-around "Little Assembly" and the Korean Election Commission already approved over Russian protests in the Political Committee. The Russian bloc has served notice it will boycott those two bodies.

4. Britain failed to deliver an expected declaration declining major responsibility for enforcing the proposed partition of Palestine. Details of the plan still were under study but the discussions are stalled pending a British statement.

Missing Couple's Downed Airplane Is Located

EVANSTON, Wyo., Nov. 12 —(AP)— Aerial searchers located the downed plane of a missing California couple today 15 miles east of Gilbert peak in the rugged Uintah Mountains and Sheriff Frank L. Narramore said a man and woman at the site were definitely the missing pair.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Dykes, Taft, Calif., disappeared Saturday while en route by private plane from Custer, S. D., to Taft.

Narramore said the downed plane, its registration numbers matching those of the Dykes craft, was sighted about 11 a. m., (MST).

From the air, he said, only the plane's landing gear appeared to be damaged. The couple, waving from the plane, appeared unhurt.

Demos To Meet July 12

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP) — Next year's Democratic national convention will open in Philadelphia Monday, July 12, National Chairman J. Howard McGrath announced today.

U. N. Philippines Delegate "Just Thinking Aloud"

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 12 (AP) — Philippine Delegate Tomas Cabili offered this thought today on the 1948 meeting of the United Nations General Assembly: "We all want to know what's going on in Russia —why not hold the next meeting here, then?"

"You are at liberty to make that proposal formally," said Justice Fazli Ali, of India, chairman of the 57-nation Budgetary Committee which was considering the possible cost of a session in Europe.

"Oh no! Not that!" answered Cabili quickly. "I was just thinking out loud."

Five Young Jews Killed By British In Holy Land Raid

Three Of Victims Are Teen-Age Girls

JERUSALEM, Nov. 12 (AP)—British troops and police killed five young Jews, three of them girls, in a raid on what officials said was a school operated by the Jewish underground to train teen-agers of both sexes in the use of "a variety of weapons."

The raid, carried out by a force of 1,000 to 1,500 British troops with armored cars seeking hidden arms in the rich orange grove region on the Palestine coastal plain, occurred at Shunath Maccabi, 10 miles north of Tel Aviv. Two of the dead girls were described as 16 years old. The other was reported to be 18.

At approximately the same time, in Haifa, three Jewish gunmen entered an upstairs transport office, threatened workers and, firing a machine gun from a window, killed a British police sergeant and wounded three other officers who were drinking coffee in a cafe across the street. The killers covered their flight with a flash bomb.

The British wounded dangerously a third Jewish youth in the raid at Shumath Maccabi and captured four others. The violence constituted the first serious outbreak here since last September. Reliable informants said the Stern Gang was believed responsible for the attack in Haifa, which flared a short time after a military tribunal sentenced two Stern Gang members to 20 years in jail for illegal possession of weapons.

Jewish informants said the youths at Shunath Maccabi also were believed to be trainees of the Stern Gang.

Official sources said the Jews fired on the raiding party and were killed in the yard of the farm house that served as the school, from which they pursued two officers and one enlisted man.

Residents of the area said the Jews were killed by the troops while trying to flee from the house where they were cornered.

A communique said a gun battle developed when the raiding party of police and soldiers forced its way into the school and found the youths of both sexes receiving military instruction.

The youths opened fire and pursued the searching party from the house, which had been cordoned off by troops, the communique said. The troops opened fire, resulting in the casualties to the Jews.

Hungarian Opposition Leader Arrives In U. S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(INS)—Zoltan Pfeiffer, Hungarian opposition leader who fled the "shadow of the noose" in his Communist-dominated homeland, arrived unexpectedly by plane at LaGuardia Field today.

He arranged to stay at a New York hotel tonight and will go to Washington tomorrow to tell his story to the United States State Department.

The leader of Hungary's Independence Party emerged from an Overseas Airways plane accompanied by his wife and five-year-old daughter.

They had no passports, and Pfeiffer had not had a bath in 10 days. He fled from Budapest only in the clothes he wore—escaping in a lend-lease jeep parked at the rear of his home while Soviet agents were at the front door.

Leaning And Fighting Drunks Only Two Of 12 Kinds, Police Chief Says

HAWTHORNE, N. J., Nov. 12—(AP)—Police Chief Ryan Vandervalk today told members of the Men's Club of the St. Clement's Episcopal Church that there are 12 different kinds of drunks that police have to handle.

They are:

1. The leaning drunk—Wants to lean on something or somebody.
2. The singing drunk—Harmless, but a nuisance.
3. The crying drunk — Always wants to weep on some convenient shoulder.
4. The running drunk—Half runs and half staggers as he goes.
5. The fighting drunk — Gets nasty after a few drinks and wants to fight everyone.
6. The wife-beating drunk—Always wants to fight with his wife.
7. The charitable drunk—Gives away money or anything else he has with him.
8. The religious drunk—Heads for the nearest church and goes to sleep.
9. The suspicious drunk—Always suspicious of someone.
10. The talking drunk — Always wants to make a speech.
11. The important drunk—Feels important and knows all the important people.
12. The loving drunk—Wants to hug and kiss every woman he meets.

Congress Will Hear Truman Appeal Monday

Harriman Says Aid Won't Tax Economy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP)—President Truman will open the special session of Congress next Monday with a personal appeal for the two things he wants Congress to do—give immediate aid to Europe and check rising prices in the United States.

The four major radio networks announced they would broadcast the speech from 1:30 to 2 p. m. EST.

The President's decision to deliver his message in person to a joint session was announced as he conferred with representatives of industry, labor and agriculture on methods of producing enough to make European aid feasible.

Secretary of Commerce Harriman told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the government's proposal to send $597,000,000 in goods to France, Italy and Austria this winter could be carried out without undue strain on the country's economy.

"Special Problem"

Harriman, who headed a 19-member committee appointed by the President to study America's ability to help Europe, added however that sending the contemplated amount of nitrogen fertilizer would create a "special problem" because of high domestic consumption.

To increase production of fertilizer, the Army was asked by the White House to lease an 8,325-acre plant at Etter, Tex., with the requirement that the plant's present output of 60,000 tons of nitrogen fertilizer a year be doubled.

"Since one ton of fertilizer can produce several tons of food, this doubling of capacity will ultimately add substantially to the world's food supplies," Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman said in the announcement.

Meanwhile Secretary of State Marshall, under questioning by the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said the government expects "about 70 per cent efficiency" in the use of the $300,000,000 to be proposed for aiding China over a 15-month period.

Would Combat Inflation

Marshall told a news conference later that the proposed $20,000,000 a month for China was intended to combat that country's rampant inflation. He said he still hoped China's Nationalist government would be broadened by inclusion of other political parties—a step he urged after returning from China last year.

The Secretary also told newsmen he hoped some Latin-American countries would be able to help the United States finance long-term aid to Europe. He added, however, that a number of those countries are in no economic position to help.

Marshall said he doubted that the on-the-spot report on China prepared by Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer would be published in full, although parts of it might be made public.

New England Is Lashed By Storm

BOSTON, Nov. 12 —(AP)—A 110-foot fishing vessel foundered tonight off the Massachusetts coast during a howling storm that reached hurricane proportions in gusts and caused heavy damage ashore.

The 15-man crew of the New Bedford fisherman "Uncle John" abandoned their ship in dories as she broke up and rowed through gale-whipped seas to the 110-foot trawler "California," which rolled helplessly nearby, her propellor gone.

The Coast Guard cutter Hornbeam towed the "California," with both crews aboard, into New Bedford.

The storm demolished cottages along the New England coastline, toppled chimneys and church steeples, and disrupted public utilities.

One death was attributed to the storm, that of a six-year-old boy struck by an automobile while crossing the street during blinding rain.

The Weather Bureau measured the peak of the storm at 78 miles an hour—three miles above the minimum hurricane velocity — in northwest gusts on Block Island, R. I.

Two Killed In Plane Crash Near Woodward, O.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 12. (AP) —A small plane crashed in flames in a farm pasture near Woodward, O., today in attempting an emergency landing, and the two occupants burned to death.

The State Highway Patrol identified the dead as:

John Charles Danek, 25, Joffre, Pa., an employe of the Tri-State Aviation Corporation, Washington, Pa., the pilot, and David Spratt, 28, Dormont, Pa., an employe of the Sunny Hill Coal Company.

Witnesses said the plane struck a tree top while attempting to land on the farm of M. B. Kazy, tearing off the wings, then scudded 50 feet on the ground and exploded.

"TURKEY TROT"—Flocks of turkeys were driven along a street at Cuero, Tex., yesterday as part of the hour-and-a-half parade which climaxed the Cuero "turkey trot." The "turkey trot" revived a tradition started in 1912, to mark the fall driving of turkeys to market.

Treaties Against Russia Are Urged By Gen. De Gaulle

French Leader Says His Nation Menaced

PARIS, Nov. 12—(AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle asked France today to establish an airtight system of alliances with the United States, Britain and other western nations against the Soviet Union, which he said was the greatest menace France had ever encountered.

He told a news conference that his country was menaced abroad "by the creation of an enormous power, more formidable for her than any previous European power, more formidable than were the empire of Charles the Fifth (of Austria), the Reich of Kaiser Wilhelm II or the Reich of Hitler."

De Gaulle did not mention Russia directly, but there was no doubt of his meaning as he spoke an answer to a question as to how he envisaged relations with the Soviet Union with which he concluded a 20-year alliance in 1944 when he was provisional president.

Today, he said his country was imperilled, because "independently of her own force, this European power of which I speak has assistance within France."

He said France should immediately conclude arrangements with other powers "who feel themselves menaced" to provide for the common defense and "where each will bring what he can for the common safety."

He said France should take the lead in preparing for defense.

De Gaulle said France must work "in conjunction" with the United States on a basis of one power with another. The United States could furnish economic aid and France her "geographical position and moral influence in Europe," he explained.

Treaties with the United States and Britain must be concluded immediately, he said, but should be arrived at "as equals. We must not appear to be beggars."

Fuel Saving Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP) — Short supplies of major fuels this winter were forecast today by secretary of the Interior Krug. He urged everybody to be frugal with coal, oil and natural gas.

Morgenthau, Eccles Deny Meyers Consulted Them Regarding Big Bond Deal

H-Hour Near In "Battle Of Newark Bay"

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP) — This city's pony fleet of two fireboats was under orders tonight to continue patrol of the Port Newark channel despite nearing of an agreement between the Navy and Newark officials to end the "Battle of Newark Bay."

Fireboat captains said they had been told to keep the fleet in action and Public Safety Director John B. Keenan announced he had appealed to New York City for additional ships to keep out of the Port Newark channel the 30,000-ton former battleship New Mexico which is on its way to a Port Newark yard for scrapping.

Unawed and unarmed, save for four water and foam guns, the 30-foot fireboats lined up at the mouth of Port Newark channel, determined to turn back the superdreadnaught.

H-Hour was set for sometime tomorrow.

Preparations for the imminent battle were virtually complete. The fireboats had taken on a full load of chemical spray and water and had spent the past 24 hours patrolling the entrance of the channel at Newark bay. The press, radio and television services were standing by.

The decommissioned battlewagon, now a dead ship after a noble record in two world wars, lay at anchor outside the harbor of New York, of which Newark Bay is a part. It's last trip had been a sad one, towed and shoved by three tugs to a scrapyard, only to find it was not wanted at its final resting place.

Beneath the comic opera overtones of the impending battle between the fireboats and the battleship lay a serious dispute involving the future of Newark's busy airport and seaport.

Newark fears that the arrival of the New Mexico for scrapping by the Lipsett, Inc., which purchased it and two other old battleships from the Navy for salvage, would jeopardize the city's newly-signed lease with the Port of New York Author-

Gen. Eaker Linked To Stock Purchase

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 —(AP)— Bennett E. Meyers, retired major general, testified today that he consulted former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., about government bonds before plunging into a wartime $4,000,000 bond deal — and that he once bought aviation stock for his Air Forces superior, Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker.

The witness further told investigating senators that he also consulted Marriner S. Eccles, Federal Reserve Board chairman, before he and his wife purchased the bonds on speculation. But both Morgenthau and Eccles issued vigorous denials of Meyers' testimony.

Morgenthau told him, Meyers said, that "he didn't see how I could go wrong." the former secretary called Meyers' story "an outright lie."

Paid "Around $1,000"

The balding, fast-talking Meyers, a key witness in the tumultuous Senate inquiry into $40,000,000 worth of wartime plane contracts awarded Howard Hughes, related under oath that he had bought the aircraft stock during the war for "around $1,000" for Eaker, former deputy chief of the Air Force. Meyers formerly was deputy chief of Air Force procurement.

Hughes, Hollywood film maker and plane designer, has told the Senate War Investigating Subcommittee that Eaker works for him.

Meyers said he bought 100 shares of Republic Aviation Corporation stock. He declared he purchased it in his own name but "I'll be damned if a know" why.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) inquired whether the Air Force had a rule against procurement officers buying such stock. Meyers replied he believed there was a rule that "officers could not hold stock with a company for which they were contractual officers."

Ferguson asked, "Who furnished the money?"

Meyers replied he presumed that Eaker had.

Paper Profit Of $90,000

Returning to the $4,000,000 bond deal just before leaving the stand after hours of grilling about his relations with Hughes, the witness said he wanted to clear up "this matter." He previously had testified that the purchase had produced a paper profit of $90,000—which he did not cash in on.

Meyers again entered a broadside denial concerning testimony of alleged dealings with Hughes. He has been accused of seeking a loan and a job at a time when he was negotiating a government contract with Hughes.

"I never received one cent or a job or anything else," the witness asserted. He declared he had been "crucified in the press of this country." Never in 28 years of Army service had his character ever been questioned, he declared.

CED Says Taxes Can Be Cut Six Billions In '48

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — (AP) — Taxes can be cut $6,000,000,000 in 1948 and still leave a $3,000,000,000 surplus to reduce the national debt, the Committee for Economic Development declared tonight. And a tax cut, the group said, is needed soon.

Such a pruning of revenues—half again as great as the income tax bills vetoed by President Truman last spring—would allow for $4,000,000,000 in foreign aid next year, CED said, but should not be voted until federal spending plans have jelled.

The committee, an economic planning organization of businessmen, proposed that the government adopt a "stabilizing budget policy" by fixing tax rates to produce an annual surplus of $3,000,000,000 under conditions of 96 per cent employment.

"Having set these rates, leave them alone unless there is some major change in national policy or of national life," the CED report went on.

Such a program can provide substantial debt reduction in the 1950s, when war influences on the budget are ended, it suggested, but a partial step can be taken next year.

"It is important that careful plans for tax revision be made in the Congress as soon as possible," the report said. "The American economy needs a tax reduction in the near future."

The 70-page statement was issued by CED Chairman Paul G. Hoffman, president of Studebaker Corporation. It was adopted by CED's 21-member research and policy committee, which includes Beardsley Ruml, chairman, R. H. Macy and Company, and author of the pay-as-you-go tax plan; Eric A. Johnston, president, Motion Picture Producers Association, and Chester C. Davis, president, Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

For the 1950s a thorough "tax reform" is needed, the report said. It charts a drop in the individual income tax to a starting rate of 11.5 per cent, instead of 19 per cent; a standard corporation tax rate of 30 per cent, instead of 38, and elimination of all excise taxes except on gasoline, tobacco and alcoholic beverages.

These and other steps would bring federal revenues down to $33,000,000,000 as a peacetime objective, CED said, of which $3,000,000,000 would be surplus.

Two Detroit Car Dealers Accused Of Illegal Deals

DETROIT, Nov. 12 (AP)—Two of Detroit's largest auto dealers were named today in grand jury warrants accusing them of illegal transactions in new automobiles.

They were Clarence J. Hacquoil, described as one of the nation's largest Buick dealers, and Jerry Lynch, a major used car dealer in Detroit.

The warrants were signed by Recorder's Judge W. McKay Skillman, who has conducted a one-man grand jury investigation into allegations of black marketeering in new and used automobiles since last June.

Mantz Abandons Attempt To Set West-East Mark

BURBANK, Calif., Nov. 12 (AP) —Speed Flyer Paul Mantz returned to Lockheed Air Terminal at 8 p. m., (EST) today, three hours after he took off on an attempt to lower his transcontinental west-east flight record.

Mantz reported he got as far as Albuquerque, N. M., then found the tail winds "were no good" and encountered 100 mile cross winds.

He reported no difficulty with his Mustang plane, with which he set the previous mark of six hours, seven minutes, five seconds last February 28, won the Bendix race two successive years and set an east-west record last September of 7:00:04.

7,000 Reds Seize Marseille's City Hall; One Killed

40 Persons Wounded; DeGaullists Ousted

MARSEILLE, Nov. 12 (INS) — One Communist was killed and approximately 40 persons were wounded in day-long fighting in which 7,000 Communists seized the City Hall in Marseille and ousted the elected De Gaullists.

They still held the building against 3,000 policemen tonight.

A night club owner shot and killed the Communist tonight when a mob sacked eight night clubs, smashing furniture, windows, mirrors and bottles. Three other Communists were critically wounded.

Police chiefs conferred tonight on security plans, fearful of a miniature civil war breaking out in France's second city. Feeling was running high.

The Communists ripped down the American and British flags from the City Hall where they had been hung as part of yesterday's Armistice Day ceremony and called on the people to:

"Unite to obtain a settlement conforming to the interests of the country and defense of the republic."

This was the first overt manifestation perhaps of the recent nationwide Communist call for formation of "Committees of Defense" to resist the DeGaullist election victory—a call interpreted by some as preparation for a civil war in France.

Violence In Italy

ROME, Nov. 12 (AP)—The newspapers of Italy thundered angry denunciations against the right and the left tonight as widespread violence and terror, particularly in the industrial north, took a casualty toll of four dead and seven wounded in 24 hours.

All the deaths occurred Tuesday night when, in the village of Mediglia near Milan, a man identified as a member of the rightist Uomo Qualunque (Common Man) movement stationed himself in a hayloft and shot one leftist demonstrator to death and wounded two others. Shortly afterwards he was lynched.

Union Leader Vito Pipitone was killed in Sicily while returning from a farmers' meeting near Palermo and a former partisan was beaten to death near Bologna.

The wave of terror, conceded by observers to be of political origin, was accompanied today by new expressions of popular anger at a zoom upward in prices, after recent declines, and a nationwide strike of gas works employes that deprived Rome, the first city affected, of illuminating gas.

Leftists stormed through central Milan today, destroyed the headquarters of the Common Man Party, wrecked offices in which the rightist newspaper Ilmattino D'Italia is published and sacked the headquarters of the Rightist Socialist movement.

Yugos Release GI

TRIESTE, Nov. 12 (AP) — An American soldier, T-4 Duel A. Farrell, who was taken prisoner by Yugoslavs while fishing yesterday, was released today.

Allied military headquarters said only that Farrell was released. No details were given of his overnight imprisonment.

Former Reich Agent Quoted By Newspaper

Comment On Story Reserved By FBI

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(INS)—A French language newspaper in New York City reported today that a former Nazi spy and German-American Bundist has confessed he set the fire that wrecked the giant French luxury liner Normandie at her Hudson River pier in 1942.

The newspaper, France-Amerique, identified the alleged spy as former SS Man Fritz Scheffer and quoted his as saying that in 1942 he was working as a hair dresser in New York but actually was an agent of the Nazi spymaster, Adm. Canaris.

The story was promptly termed "bunk" by New York City Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy. The FBI, however, said merely that it would reserve comment for the time being.

Brophy, in declaring the story was not true and that he "never heard of" Scheffer, recalled that the question of sabotage was gone into thoroughly after the Normandie fire, and proved groundless.

The fire marshal said it was established definitely that carelessness was the cause—with sparks from an acetylene torch igniting highly-inflammable bales of kapok life preservers.

Arrested In Germany

France-Amerique, however, stated that Scheffer, who assertedly worked in Chicago and San Francisco as well as New York, confessed to Allied intelligence officers in Germany, after his arrest there:

"It is I who started the fire on board the Normandie. The whole affair was arranged in New York. I was in charge of those who were to start the fire. I was to give the signal and tell those under me where to point their blow torches.

"But I was not the big boss of the sabotage. He was a special envoy of Adm. Canaris and I knew him only as 'No. 437,' during our meetings in a Harlem cafe.

"I got a job on board the Normandie for one of my men as a stevedore. I chose a number of specialized workers and put them under him.

"The firm which was given the contract for converting the Normandie into a troopship had for workers a number of White Russians, who didn't want to see the Soviet Union aided, and also several former members of the German-American Bund.

"When I gave the signal, about 10 men lighted the highly-inflamable piles of kapok-stuffed lifebelts with their blow torches.

Wood Work Set Afire

"When these were afire my men turned their torches on the wood work of the grand salon, being careful to light those portions nearest portholes so the draft would be good.

"It was not until these fires were well underway that I ordered an alarm turned in. Smoke was so thick the air was suffocating.

"Contradictory reports were given to firemen in order to retard their efforts. When they finally got to work, I and my men were far away. And of course in our sabotage preparations we had not overlooked the fire-fighting equipment.

"I did not stay long in the United States after this, but went to Argentina where I put myself at the disposal of Felix Schmidt. I stayed

How did Foreign Minister Molotov's atom bomb statement hit you? Did it make you change your ideas on American - Soviet relations? Suppose Russia does know how to make the bomb, would you want to adopt a softer policy toward her or should America's opposition be stiffened?

Americans have decided views on these questions, the Gallup Poll found out. Read the answers exclusively in the Cumberland News tomorrow.

Pastor Who Sought To Quiz Another About USSR Ejected From Meeting

AMARILLO, Tex., Nov. 12 —(AP)— One pastor who wanted to know why another "feels we should be an ally of Russia" was ejected from the Baptist general convention today.

When Dr. Louie Newton, Atlanta, Ga., president of the Southern Baptist convention, was introduced as speaker, Rev. William Fraser, a pastor of Dr. Frank Norris's Fundamentalist Church at Fort Worth, got to his feet.

"I would like to challenge Dr. Newton and ask him—," Fraser began.

He was stopped by Dr. Wallace Bassett, Dallas, president of the general convention, who waved his gavel at the pastor.

During the time Fraser was trying to get to the floor he shouted several times:

"I want to know why Dr. Newton feels we should be an ally of Russia?"

Bassett, still waving his gavel, told Fraser "you're not going to ask Dr. Newton anything."

"I want to raise a protest high as heaven—," Fraser insisted.

Amid booing and feet-stomping by others in the audience, several Baptist laymen and pastors closed in on Fraser.

"You going peacefully?" one of them asked.

Fraser continued shouting until he was picked up and carried bodily from the convention hall.

While the flareup was at its height, some in the audience began singing hymns.

Norris, who has just returned from a trip to Europe where he gathered religious and political data, has long been criticizing Newton, regarding what Norris terms Newton's "stand on Russia."

Slap At Spain Voted 29 To 6 By U. N. Group

U. S. And 19 Other Countries Abstain

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 12 —(AP)— A Soviet-supported slap at Franco Spain was approved today by the United Nations Political Committee but it fell far short of the unanimous vote its backers wanted.

The 57-member committee voted 29 to 6 for a toned-down mixture of three resolutions aimed against Generalissimo Franco. France, China, Britain and Russia were among those voting for it. The United States and 19 other countries abstained.

The committee thus reaffirmed a resolution approved by the Assembly last December 12 which called on United Nations members to withdraw their ambassadors and ministers from Madrid and on the Security Council to act if a democratic regime were not installed in Spain in a "reasonable" time.

The new resolution now goes to the full Assembly, where delegates expected it would receive final approval.

United States View

Charles Fahy, American alternate delegate, said the United States felt the resolution meant the Security Council should act. He said the United States did not favor economic measures against Spain which the council could take under the Charter. The United States is on record against any action which "would initiate change by violence."

Six Latin American countries—Argentina, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Dominican Republic, Paraguay, and Peru voted against it. They contended the proposal constituted unwarranted interference in the affairs of a nation.

Other United Nations developments:

1. South Africa and India clashed in the Political Committee over the issue of alleged "Jim Crowism" against Asians in South Africa. India again charged South Africa with discriminating against Indians in South Africa and argued that South Africa had failed to carry out a 1946 Assembly resolution calling on the two countries to settle the issue between themselves.

South Africa said the United Nations has no jurisdiction, that the question is purely a domestic one.

India Quits Race

2. India withdrew from the Security Council contest. This left a clear field to the Soviet Ukraine, which was generally expected to be elected at a full meeting of the Assembly tomorrow at Flushing Meadow Park, New York.

3. The United Nations prepared to consider 23 items at three Assembly meetings tomorrow. These included the year-around "Little Assembly" and the Korean Election Commission already approved over Russian protests in the Political Committee. The Russian bloc has served notice it will boycott those two bodies.

4. Britain failed to deliver an expected declaration declining major responsibility for enforcing the proposed partition of Palestine. Details of the plan still were under study but the discussions are stalled pending a British statement.

Missing Couple's Downed Airplane Is Located

EVANSTON, Wyo., Nov. 12 —(AP)— Aerial searchers located the downed plane of a missing California couple today 15 miles east of Gilbert peak in the rugged Uintah Mountains and Sheriff Frank L. Narramore said a man and woman at the site were definitely the missing pair.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Dykes, Taft, Calif., disappeared Saturday while en route by private plane from Custer, S. D., to Taft.

Narramore said the downed plane, its registration numbers matching those of the Dykes craft, was sighted about 11 a. m., (MST).

From the air, he said, only the plane's landing gear appeared to be damaged. The couple, waving from the plane, appeared unhurt.

Demos To Meet July 12

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP) — Next year's Democratic national convention will open in Philadelphia Monday, July 12, National Chairman J. Howard McGrath announced today.

U. N. Philippines Delegate "Just Thinking Aloud"

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 12 (AP) — Philippine Delegate Tomas Cabili offered this thought today on the 1948 meeting of the United Nations General Assembly: "We all want to know what's going on in Russia —why not hold the next meeting here, then?"

"You are at liberty to make that proposal formally," said Justice Fazli Ali, of India, chairman of the 57-nation Budgetary Committee which was considering the possible cost of a session in Europe.

"Oh no! Not that!" answered Cabili quickly. "I was just thinking out loud."

Five Young Jews Killed By British In Holy Land Raid

Three Of Victims Are Teen-Age Girls

JERUSALEM, Nov. 12 (AP)—British troops and police killed five young Jews, three of them girls, in a raid on what officials said was a school operated by the Jewish underground to train teen-agers of both sexes in the use of "a variety of weapons."

The raid, carried out by a force of 1,000 to 1,500 British troops with armored cars seeking hidden arms in the rich orange grove region on the Palestine coastal plain, occurred at Shunath Maccabi, 10 miles north of Tel Aviv. Two of the dead girls were described as 16 years old. The other was reported to be 18.

At approximately the same time, in Haifa, three Jewish gunmen entered an upstairs transport office, threatened workers and, firing a machine gun from a window, killed a British police sergeant and wounded three other officers who were drinking coffee in a cafe across the street. The killers covered their flight with a flash bomb.

The British wounded dangerously a third Jewish youth in the raid at Shumath Maccabi and captured four others. The violence constituted the first serious outbreak here since last September. Reliable informants said the Stern Gang was believed responsible for the attack in Haifa, which flared a short time after a military tribunal sentenced two Stern Gang members to 20 years in jail for illegal possession of weapons.

Jewish informants said the youths at Shunath Maccabi also were believed to be trainees of the Stern Gang.

Official sources said the Jews fired on the raiding party and were killed in the yard of the farm house that served as the school, from which they pursued two officers and one enlisted man.

Residents of the area said the Jews were killed by the troops while trying to flee from the house where they were cornered.

A communique said a gun battle developed when the raiding party of police and soldiers forced its way into the school and found the youths of both sexes receiving military instruction.

The youths opened fire and pursued the searching party from the house, which had been cordoned off by troops, the communique said. The troops opened fire, resulting in the casualties to the Jews.

Hungarian Opposition Leader Arrives In U. S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(INS)—Zoltan Pfeiffer, Hungarian opposition leader who fled the "shadow of the noose" in his Communist-dominated homeland, arrived unexpectedly by plane at LaGuardia Field today.

He arranged to stay at a New York hotel tonight and will go to Washington tomorrow to tell his story to the United States State Department.

The leader of Hungary's Independence Party emerged from an Overseas Airways plane accompanied by his wife and five-year-old daughter.

They had no passports, and Pfeiffer had not had a bath in 10 days. He fled from Budapest only in the clothes he wore—escaping in a lend-lease jeep parked at the rear of his home while Soviet agents were at the front door.

Congress Will Hear Truman Appeal Monday

Harriman Says Aid Won't Tax Economy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP)—President Truman will open the special session of Congress next Monday with a personal appeal for the two things he wants Congress to do—give immediate aid to Europe and check rising prices in the United States.

The four major radio networks announced they would broadcast the speech from 1:30 to 2 p. m. EST.

The President's decision to deliver his message in person to a joint session was announced as he conferred with representatives of industry, labor and agriculture on methods of producing enough to make European aid feasible.

Secretary of Commerce Harriman told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the government's proposal to send $597,000,000 in goods to France, Italy and Austria this winter could be carried out without undue strain on the country's economy.

"Special Problem"

Harriman, who headed a 19-member committee appointed by the President to study America's ability to help Europe, added however that sending the contemplated amount of nitrogen fertilizer would create a "special problem" because of high domestic consumption.

To increase production of fertilizer, the Army was asked by the White House to lease an 8,325-acre plant at Etter, Tex., with the requirement that the plant's present output of 60,000 tons of nitrogen fertilizer a year be doubled.

"Since one ton of fertilizer can produce several tons of food, this doubling of capacity will ultimately add substantially to the world's food supplies," Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman said in the announcement.

Meanwhile Secretary of State Marshall, under questioning by the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said the government expects "about 70 per cent efficiency" in the use of the $300,000,000 to be proposed for aiding China over a 15-month period.

Would Combat Inflation

Marshall told a news conference later that the proposed $20,000,000 a month for China was intended to combat that country's rampant inflation. He said he still hoped China's Nationalist government would be broadened by inclusion of other political parties—a step he urged after returning from China last year.

The Secretary also told newsmen he hoped some Latin-American countries would be able to help the United States finance long-term aid to Europe. He added, however, that a number of those countries are in no economic position to help.

Marshall said he doubted that the on-the-spot report on China prepared by Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer would be published in full, although parts of it might be made public.

New England Is Lashed By Storm

BOSTON, Nov. 12 —(AP)—A 110-foot fishing vessel foundered tonight off the Massachusetts coast during a howling storm that reached hurricane proportions in gusts and caused heavy damage ashore.

The 15-man crew of the New Bedford fisherman "Uncle John" abandoned their ship in dories as she broke up and rowed through gale-whipped seas to the 110-foot trawler "California," which rolled helplessly nearby, her propellor gone.

The Coast Guard cutter Hornbeam towed the "California," with both crews aboard, into New Bedford.

The storm demolished cottages along the New England coastline, toppled chimneys and church steeples, and disrupted public utilities.

One death was attributed to the storm, that of a six-year-old boy struck by an automobile while crossing the street during blinding rain.

The Weather Bureau measured the peak of the storm at 78 miles an hour—three miles above the minimum hurricane velocity — in northwest gusts on Block Island, R. I.

Two Killed In Plane Crash Near Woodward, O.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 12. (AP) —A small plane crashed in flames in a farm pasture near Woodward, O., today in attempting an emergency landing, and the two occupants burned to death.

The State Highway Patrol identified the dead as:

John Charles Danek, 25, Joffre, Pa., an employe of the Tri-State Aviation Corporation, Washington, Pa., the pilot, and David Spratt, 28, Dormont, Pa., an employe of the Sunny Hill Coal Company.

Witnesses said the plane struck a tree top while attempting to land on the farm of M. B. Kasy, tearing off the wings, then scudded 50 feet on the ground and exploded.

"TURKEY TROT"—Flocks of turkeys were driven along a street at Cuero, Tex., yesterday as part of the hour-and-a-half parade which climaxed the Cuero "turkey trot." The "turkey trot" revived a tradition started in 1912, to mark the fall driving of turkeys to market.

Treaties Against Russia Are Urged By Gen. De Gaulle

French Leader Says His Nation Menaced

PARIS, Nov. 12—(AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle asked France today to establish an airtight system of alliances with the United States, Britain and other western nations against the Soviet Union, which he said was the greatest menace France had ever encountered.

He told a news conference that his country was menaced abroad "by the creation of an enormous power, more formidable for her than any previous European power, more formidable than were the empire of Charles the Fifth (of Austria), the Reich of Kaiser Wilhelm II or the Reich of Hitler."

De Gaulle did not mention Russia directly, but there was no doubt of his meaning as he spoke an answer to a question as to how he envisaged relations with the Soviet Union with which he concluded a 20-year alliance in 1944 when he was provisional president.

Today, he said his country was imperilled, because "independently of her own force, this European power of which I speak has assistance within France."

He said France should immediately conclude arrangements with other powers "who feel themselves menaced" to provide for the common defense and "where each will bring what he can for the common safety."

He said France should take the lead in preparing for defense.

De Gaulle said France must work "in conjunction" with the United States on a basis of one power with another. The United States could furnish economic aid and France her "geographical position and moral influence in Europe," he explained.

Treaties with the United States and Britain must be concluded immediately, he said, but should be arrived at "as equals. We must not appear to be beggars."

Fuel Saving Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP) — Short supplies of major fuels this winter were forecast today by secretary of the Interior Krug. He urged everybody to be frugal with coal, oil and natural gas.

Morgenthau, Eccles Deny Meyers Consulted Them Regarding Big Bond Deal

H-Hour Near In "Battle Of Newark Bay"

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP) — This city's pony fleet of two fireboats was under orders tonight to continue patrol of the Port Newark channel despite nearing of an agreement between the Navy and Newark officials to end the "Battle of Newark Bay."

Fireboat captains said they had been told to keep the fleet in action and Public Safety Director John B. Keenan announced he had appealed to New York City for additional ships to keep out of the Port Newark channel the 30,000-ton former battleship New Mexico which is on its way to a Port Newark yard for scrapping.

Unawed and unarmed, save for four water and foam guns, the 30-foot fireboats lined up at the mouth of Port Newark channel, determined to turn back the superdreadnaught.

H-Hour was set for sometime tomorrow.

Preparations for the imminent battle were virtually complete. The fireboats had taken on a full load of chemical spray and water and had spent the past 24 hours patrolling the entrance of the channel at Newark bay. The press, radio and television services were standing by.

The decommissioned battlewagon, now a dead ship after a noble record in two world wars, lay at anchor outside the harbor of New York, of which Newark Bay is a part. It's last trip had been a sad one, towed and shoved by three tugs to a scrapyard, only to find it was not wanted at its final resting place.

Beneath the comic opera overtones of the impending battle between the fireboats and the battleship lay a serious dispute involving the future of Newark's busy airport and seaport.

Newark fears that the arrival of the New Mexico for scrapping by the Lipsett, Inc., which purchased it and two other old battleships from the Navy for salvage, would jeopardize the city's newly-signed lease with the Port of New York Author-

Gen. Eaker Linked To Stock Purchase

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 —(AP)— Bennett E. Meyers, retired major general, testified today that he consulted former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., about government bonds before plunging into a wartime $4,000,000 bond deal — and that he once bought aviation stock for his Air Forces superior, Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker.

The witness further told investigating senators that he also consulted Marriner S. Eccles, Federal Reserve Board chairman, before he and his wife purchased the bonds on speculation. But both Morgenthau and Eccles issued vigorous denials of Meyers' testimony.

Morgenthau told him, Meyers said, that "he didn't see how I could go wrong," the former secretary called Meyers' story "an outright lie."

Paid "Around $1,000"

The balding, fast-talking Meyers, a key witness in the tumultuous Senate inquiry into $40,000,000 worth of wartime plane contracts awarded Howard Hughes, related under oath that he had bought the aircraft stock during the war for "around $1,000" for Eaker, former deputy chief of the Air Force Meyers formerly was deputy chief of Air Force procurement.

Hughes, Hollywood film maker and plane designer, has told the Senate War Investigating Subcommittee that Eaker works for him.

Meyers said he bought 100 shares of Republic Aviation Corporation stock. He declared he purchased it in his own name but "I'll be damned if a know" why.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) inquired whether the Air Force had a rule against procurement officers buying such stock. Meyers replied he believed there was a rule that "officers could not hold stock with a company for which they were contractual officers."

Ferguson asked, "Who furnished the money?"

Meyers replied he presumed that Eaker had.

Paper Profit Of $90,000

Returning to the $4,000,000 bond deal just before leaving the stand after hours of grilling about his relations with Hughes, the witness said he wanted to clear up "this matter." He previously had testified that the purchase had produced a paper profit of $90,000—which he did not cash in on.

Meyers again entered a broadside denial concerning testimony of alleged dealings with Hughes. He has been accused of seeking a loan and a job at a time when he was negotiating a government contract with Hughes.

"I never received one cent or a job or anything else," the witness asserted. He declared he had been "crucified in the press of this country." Never in 28 years of Army service had his character ever been questioned, he declared.

Two Detroit Car Dealers Accused Of Illegal Deals

DETROIT, Nov. 12 (AP)—Two of Detroit's largest auto dealers were named today in grand jury warrants accusing them of illegal transactions in new automobiles.

They were Clarence J. Hacquoil, described as one of the nation's largest Buick dealers, and Jerry Lynch, a major used car dealer in Detroit.

The warrants were signed by Recorder's Judge W. McKay Skillman, who has conducted a one-man grand jury investigation into allegations of black marketeering in new and used automobiles since last June.

CED Says Taxes Can Be Cut Six Billions In '48

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — (AP) — Taxes can be cut $6,000,000,000 in 1948 and still leave a $3,000,000,000 surplus to reduce the national debt, the Committee for Economic Development declared tonight. And a tax cut, the group said, is needed soon.

Such a pruning of revenues—half again as great as the income tax bills vetoed by President Truman last spring—would allow for $4,000,000,000 in foreign aid next year, CED said, but should not be voted until federal spending plans have jelled.

The committee, an economic planning organization of businessmen, proposed that the government adopt a "stabilizing budget policy" by fixing tax rates to produce an annual surplus of $3,000,000,000 under conditions of 96 per cent employment.

"Having set these rates, leave them alone unless there is some major change in national policy or of national life," the CED report went on.

Such a program can provide substantial debt reduction in the 1950s, when war influences on the budget are ended, it suggested, but a partial step can be taken next year.

"It is important that careful plans for tax revision be made in the Congress as soon as possible," the report said. "The American economy needs a tax reduction in the near future."

The 70-page statement was issued by CED Chairman Paul G. Hoffman, president of Studebaker Corporation. It was adopted by CED's 21-member research and policy committee, which includes Beardsley Ruml, chairman, R. H. Macy and Company, and author of the pay-as-you-go tax plan; Eric A. Johnston, president, Motion Picture Producers Association, and Chester C. Davis, president, Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

For the 1950s a thorough "tax reform" is needed, the report said. It charts a drop in the individual income tax to a starting rate of 11.5 per cent, instead of 19 per cent; a standard corporation tax rate of 30 per cent, instead of 38, and elimination of all excise taxes except on gasoline, tobacco and alcoholic beverages.

These and other steps would bring federal revenues down to $33,000,000,000 as a peacetime objective, CED said, of which $3,000,000,000 would be surplus.

Leaning And Fighting Drunks Only Two Of 12 Kinds, Police Chief Says

HAWTHORNE, N. J., Nov. 12—(AP) —Police Chief Ryan Vandervalk today told members of the Men's Club of the St. Clement's Episcopal Church that there are 12 different kinds of drunks that police have to handle.

They are:

1. The leaning drunk—Wants to lean on something or somebody.
2. The singing drunk—Harmless, but a nuisance.
3. The crying drunk — Always wants to weep on some convenient shoulder.
4. The running drunk—Half runs and half staggers as he goes.
5. The fighting drunk — Gets nasty after a few drinks and wants to fight everyone.
6. The wife-beating drunk—Always wants to fight with his wife.
7. The charitable drunk—Gives away money or anything else he has with him.
8. The religious drunk—Heads for the nearest church and goes to sleep.
9. The suspicious drunk—Always suspicious of someone.
10. The talking drunk — Always wants to make a speech.
11. The important drunk—Feels important and knows all the important people.
12. The loving drunk—Wants to hug and kiss every woman he meets.

Mantz Abandons Attempt To Set West-East Mark

BURBANK, Calif., Nov. 12 (AP) —Speed Flyer Paul Mantz returned to Lockheed Air Terminal at 8 p. m., (EST) today, three hours after he took off on an attempt to lower his transcontinental west-east flight record.

Mantz reported he got as far as Albuquerque, N. M., then found the tail winds "were no good" and encountered 100 mile cross winds.

He reported no difficulty with his Mustang plane, with which he set the previous mark of six hours, seven minutes, five seconds last February 28, won the Bendix race two successive years and set an east-west record last September of 7:00:04.

7,000 Reds Seize Marseille's City Hall; One Killed

40 Persons Wounded; DeGaullists Ousted

MARSEILLE, Nov. 12 (INS) — One Communist was killed and approximately 40 persons were wounded in day-long fighting in which 7,000 Communists seized the City Hall in Marseille and ousted the elected De Gaullists.

They still held the building against 3,000 policemen tonight.

A night club owner shot and killed the Communist tonight when a mob sacked eight night clubs, smashing furniture, windows, mirrors and bottles. Three other Communists were critically wounded.

Police chiefs conferred tonight on security plans, fearful of a miniature civil war breaking out in France's second city. Feeling was running high.

The Communists ripped down the American and British flags from the City Hall where they had been hung as part of yesterday's Armistice Day ceremony and called on the people to:

"Unite to obtain a settlement conforming to the interests of the country and defense of the republic."

This was the first overt manifestation perhaps of the recent nationwide Communist call for formation of "Committees of Defense" to resist the DeGaullist election victory—a call interpreted by some as preparation for a civil war in France.

Violence In Italy

ROME, Nov. 12 (AP)—The newspapers of Italy thundered angry denunciations against the right and the left tonight as widespread violence and terror, particularly in the industrial north, took a casualty toll of four dead and seven wounded in 24 hours.

All the deaths occurred Tuesday night when, in the village of Mediglia near Milan, a man identified as a member of the rightist Uomo Qualunque (Common Man) movement stationed himself in a hayloft and shot one leftist demonstrator to death and wounded two others. Shortly afterwards he was lynched.

Union Leader Vito Pipitone was killed in Sicily while returning from a farmers' meeting near Palermo and a former partisan was beaten to death near Bologna.

The wave of terror, conceded by observers to be of political origin, was accompanied today by new expressions of popular anger at a zoom upward in prices, after recent declines, and a nationwide strike of gas works employes that deprived Rome, the first city affected, of illuminating gas.

Leftists stormed through central Milan today, destroyed the headquarters of the Common Man Party, wrecked offices in which the rightist newspaper Ilmattino D'Italia is published and sacked the headquarters of the Rightist Socialist movement.

Yugos Release GI

TRIESTE, Nov. 12 (AP) — An American soldier, T-4 Duel A. Farrell, who was taken prisoner by Yugoslavs while fishing yesterday, was released today.

Allied military headquarters said only that Farrell was released. No details were given of his overnight imprisonment.

Former Reich Agent Quoted By Newspaper

Comment On Story Reserved By FBI

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(INS)—A French language newspaper in New York City reported today that a former Nazi spy and German-American Bundist has confessed he set the fire that wrecked the giant French luxury liner Normandie at her Hudson River pier in 1942.

The newspaper, France-Amerique, identified the alleged spy as former SS Man Fritz Scheffer and quoted his as saying that in 1942 he was working as a hair dresser in New York but actually was an agent of the Nazi spymaster, Adm. Canaris.

The story was promptly termed "bunk" by New York City Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy. The FBI, however, said merely that it would reserve comment for the time being.

Brophy, in declaring the story was not true and that he "never heard of" Scheffer, recalled that the question of sabotage was gone into thoroughly after the Normandie fire, and proved groundless.

The fire marshal said it was established definitely that carelessness was the cause—with sparks from an acetylene torch igniting highly-inflammable bales of kapok life preservers.

Arrested In Germany

France-Amerique, however, stated that Scheffer, who assertedly worked in Chicago and San Francisco as well as New York, confessed to Allied intelligence officers in Germany, after his arrest there:

"It is I who started the fire on board the Normandie. The whole affair was arranged in New York. I was in charge of those who were to start the fire. I was to give the signal and tell those under me where to point their blow torches.

"But I was not the big boss of the sabotage. He was a special envoy of Adm. Canaris and I knew him only as 'No. 437,' during our meetings in a Harlem cafe.

"I got a job on board the Normandie for one of my men as a stevedore. I chose a number of specialized workers and put them under him.

"The firm which was given the contract for converting the Normandie into a troopship had for workers a number of White Russians, who didn't want to see the Soviet Union aided, and also several former members of the German-American Bund.

"When I gave the signal, about 10 men lighted the highly-inflammable piles of kapok-stuffed lifebelts with their blow torches.

Wood Work Set Afire

"When these were afire my men turned their torches on the wood work of the grand salon, being careful to light those portions nearest portholes so the draft would be good.

"It was not until these fires were well underway that I ordered an alarm turned in. Smoke was so thick the air was suffocating.

"Contradictory reports were given to firemen in order to retard their efforts. When they finally got to work, I and my men were far away. And of course in our sabotage preparations we had not overlooked the fire-fighting equipment.

"I did not stay long in the United States after this, but went to Argentina where I put myself at the disposal of Felix Schmidt. I stayed

Pastor Who Sought To Quiz Another About USSR Ejected From Meeting

AMARILLO, Tex., Nov. 12 —(AP)— One pastor who wanted to know why another "feels we should be an ally of Russia" was ejected from the Baptist general convention today.

When Dr. Louie Newton, Atlanta, Ga., president of the Southern Baptist convention, was introduced as speaker, Rev. William Fraser, a pastor of Dr. Frank Norris's Fundamentalist Church at Fort Worth, got to his feet.

"I would like to challenge Dr. Newton and ask him—," Fraser began.

He was stopped by Dr. Wallace Bassett, Dallas, president of the general convention, who waved his gavel at the pastor.

During the time Fraser was trying to get to the floor he shouted several times:

"I want to know why Dr. Newton feels we should be an ally of Russia?"

Bassett, still waving his gavel, told Fraser "you're not going to ask Dr. Newton anything."

"I want to raise a protest high as heaven—," Fraser insisted.

Amid booing and feet-stomping by others in the audience, several Baptist laymen and pastors closed in on Fraser.

"You going peacefully?" one of them asked.

Fraser continued shouting until he was picked up and carried bodily from the convention hall.

While the flareup was at its height, some in the audience began singing hymns.

Norris, who has just returned from a trip to Europe where he gathered religious and political data, has long been criticizing Newton, regarding what Norris terms Newton's "stand on Russia."

Proper Procedure For Girl To Use In Introducing An Uncle

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Please give me the proper introductory procedure for a young lady to use in presenting a young man caller to an uncle who happens to be home at the time. I have used the relationship title and Christian name, but am very dubious about such procedure in this circumstance and should like your opinion.

"K. D."

Dear "K. D.":

In introducing one of your young men friends to your uncle, there is no need to be very formal about it. Simply say something like—"Bill, I would like to have you meet my uncle, John Brown." Or—"Bill, this is my uncle, John Brown."

Unless "Bill" knows in advance what your "Uncle John's" last name is, it is wiser to mention the surname so that "Bill" will know what he is to call the older man. Don't put your young friend in the position of having to ask your uncle his last name.

How To Make Friends

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Do you think it is wrong for a fellow of 22 to go out with a girl of 15 or 16? Also, what is the best way to ask a girl to go out on a date?

Being a little shy and not able to cary on a good conversation, I don't really know any girl too well. When I do meet a girl, or one of the boys, I don't know what to talk about. I have the same trouble in writing letters. Maybe you can give men a little advice.

"BACKWARDS"

Dear "Backwards":

I wouldn't say that there was anything wrong about a chap of 22 taking a teen-age girl out, but I don't think it is very appropriate. I think that a 22-year-old man would be better off with girls closer to his own age. At the same time, I can very well understand why you may feel more at home with the younger girl. This often happens when men are as shy and self-conscious as you are.

One way to overcome this type of handicap is to be interested in a lot of different things so that you can talk about them enthusiastically. Another good way is to find out what the other person is interested in and encourage him or her to talk about that. Almost anybody likes to have an opportunity to talk about his interests or hobbies to a sympathetic listener, and many a person who just listens is often surprised to find himself considered a "good talker." Try this out and see if it doesn't work.

As for how to ask a girl to go out on a date, if you are too self-conscious to give your invitation straight out, write a little note. That should get you over that particular type of hurdle nicely.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Prissy's Got a Man! (Maybe)

Yesterday Sis Martin, our librarian, found an article cut from their file copy of the Clarion. When she compared it with another copy that I gave her she found it was my column on "How to Keep a Husband Happy."

Nothing unusual about that. Except the last person seen reading the paper was Prissy Hoskins (our town's proverbial Old Maid)!

Well, if Prissy has finally got a man, more power to her. And more tolerance to both of them . . . because that's what my column was about: Tolerance of a husband's taste for old hats, old pipes, old friends, and mellow beer. And tolerance on the husband's part of a wife's tastes and habits.

From where I sit, nobody begrudges Prissy taking that clipping from the Clarion. But I'd like to hint that if she'd just subscribe, she'd get my thoughts on tolerance firsthand. And in return I'll treat her to a glass of beer.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Proper Procedure For Girl To Use In Introducing An Uncle

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Please give me the proper introductory procedure for a young lady to use in presenting a young man caller to an uncle who happens to be home at the time. I have used the relationship title and Christian name, but am very dubious about such procedure in this circumstance and should like your opinion.

"K. D."

Dear "K. D.":

In introducing one of your young men friends to your uncle, there is no need to be very formal about it. Simply say something like—"Bill, I would like to have you meet my uncle, John Brown." Or—"Bill, this is my uncle, John Brown."

Unless "Bill" knows in advance what your "Uncle John's" last name is, it is wiser to mention the surname so that "Bill" will know what he is to call the older man. Don't put your young friend in the position of having to ask your uncle his last name.

How To Make Friends

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Do you think it is wrong for a fellow of 22 to go out with a girl of 15 or 16? Also, what is the best way to ask a girl to go out on a date?

Being a little shy and not able to cary on a good conversation, I don't really know any girl too well. When I do meet a girl, or one of the boys, I don't know what to talk about. I have the same trouble in writing letters. Maybe you can give men a little advice.

"BACKWARDS"

Dear "Backwards":

I wouldn't say that there was anything wrong about a chap of 22 taking a teen-age girl out, but I don't think it is very appropriate. I think that a 22-year-old man would be better off with girls closer to his own age. At the same time, I can very well understand why you may feel more at home with the younger girl. This often happens when men are as shy and self-conscious as you are.

One way to overcome this type of handicap is to be interested in a lot of different things so that you can talk about them enthusiastically. Another good way is to find out what the other person is interested in and encourage him or her to talk about that. Almost anybody likes to have an opportunity to talk about his interests or hobbies to a sympathetic listener, and many a person who just listens is often surprised to find himself considered a "good talker." Try this out and see if it doesn't work.

As for how to ask a girl to go out on a date, if you are too self-conscious to give your invitation straight out, write a little note. That should get you over that particular type of hurdle nicely.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Prissy's Got a Man! (Maybe)

Yesterday Sis Martin, our librarian, found an article cut from their file copy of the Clarion. When she compared it with another copy that I gave her she found it was my column on "How to Keep a Husband Happy."

Nothing unusual about that. Except the last person seen reading the paper was Prissy Hoskins (our town's proverbial Old Maid)!

Well, if Prissy has finally got a man, more power to her. And more tolerance to both of them . . . because that's what my column was about: Tolerance of a husband's taste for old hats, old pipes, old friends, and mellow beer. And tolerance on the husband's part of a wife's tastes and habits.

From where I sit, nobody begrudges Prissy taking that clipping from the Clarion. But I'd like to hint that if she'd just subscribe, she'd get my thoughts on tolerance firsthand. And in return I'll treat her to a glass of beer.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Wonder and Admiration

God meant that poets should be born, else he would never have created, for their inspiration, the various and intricate designs in almost everything strewn about the earth. Note the perfection of beauty in every flower, leaf, tree, and stone. You cannot walk a foot in nature without stepping upon masterpieces!

It is the wonder and admiration that poets have had for this boundless display that has fed their imagination and that has stirred their muse to create deathless beauty in words. But not alone in books is to be discovered this urge of the heart to give further immortality to beauty. Note the display of poetry in the great buildings and cathedrals of the world.

It was Voltaire, however, who apparently had no poetry in his heart, for he once wrote: "What unhappily remains to us of the architecture and sculpture of the time is a fantastic compound of rudeness and filagree." It took a poetic artist to oppose such a statement. Said the great Michael Angelo, of the doors on the Baptistry at Florence, that they were "beautiful enough to be the doors of Paradise."

How can anyone look into the face of the simplest flower without its exciting his wonder and admiration? Or look upon the endless varieties of leaves and not their perfection of device and design?

I have visited the Grand Canyon of Arizona twice. I thought I would try and write something about it—but I couldn't. It was too breath-taking. Its moods, its coloring, its mystery, and its silence overwhelmed me. I could only stand, wonder and admire.

Every sunrise and every sunset is a poem. So is every changing season of the year. The dew upon the morning grass and the fragrant earth after a shower fill me with wonder and admiration, for these are common occurrences that happen all over the earth, and for a reason. But so common are they that few ever clothe them with significance. But the poet notes them!

In our homes, public buildings, institutions, churches, parks, and highways are endless signs of the adaptations of the beauties of nature, and they excite our wonder and admiration. The poets are our interpreters—and we, who appreciate, are no less than they.

Thirty Years Of Thinking And Doing Of Bolshevism

The thirtieth anniversary of the Russian revolution is one of those moments in history when it is wise for mankind to stop, look and listen.

The frenzied celebration in Moscow a few days ago, with its military emphasizes; with its speeches which blended childish boasting and fierce defiance, shouted before vast throngs herded about like regimented ants; with its adulation of "the leader," sums up tragic memories of Hitlerite Germany—though Soviet Russia set the example before Hitler appeared.

Let it be admitted that Molotov and the other speakers had much to boast about. The Soviet Union is stronger today than ever before. Though it lost heavily in men and factories during the war, it has since gained enormously in territory, strategic power and influence. This has been due to ruthless employment of the Red Army to overturn independent governments and set up satellites of Moscow. It has been due no less, to an icily calculating foreign policy—aided by a demonstration of naive optimism on the part of Western statesmen unique in history.

Possibly Stalin is counting on one more bout of "appeasement" from the West. Carefully inserted among the diatribes of Molotov's speech was the suggestion that capitalism and Communism may still dwell in the same world side by side. Stalin's agents in the United States may have informed him that many Americans want one more "magnanimous" gesture toward a "settlement" wtih Russia.

The answer to Molotov is plain. There is no need for a private settlement with the United States. Russia need only decide to live up to her pledges in the Atlantic Charter, at Yalta, Potsdam and San Francisco. She need only disband the Comintern, newly revived to spread the gospel of Communist world revolution. She need only agree to world control of atomic energy.

Instead of which, Russia even as Molotov spoke, was tightening the screws on Poland, Romania, Hungry and Czechoslovakia. Having paralyzed the UN Security Council through repeated use of the veto, she is now boycotting the peace efforts of the General Assembly.

The 30 years of Bolshevism have been a kind of Thirty Years' War against the capitalistic—and not so capitalistic—world. That struggle in its present phase is called the "cold war." Thanks to the nature of democracy, it will not be turned into a hot war by the United States. Probably Russia will not be in a condition to start a shooting war for some years. But until Russia turns her back on the doctrine of world Communist revolution, as set forth by Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin, there can be little hope for lasting peace and prosperity in Europe.

More Evidence Of Sentiment In Britain

The latest Gallup Poll in Great Britain shows that public sentiment has definitely turned against the Labor government for the first time since the Laborite victory of 1945. A plurality of Britons say they would vote Conservative rather than Labor if a national election were held today, that they think the government has been too eager to nationalize industries and that the Attlee cabinet has been just muddling along.

This sample of opinion is confirmed by the impressive Conservative victories in the municipal elections in England, Wales and now Scotland. Labor spokesmen concede that their party has suffered a setback. It is worse then that. Labor has suffered an important loss of public confidence half way through its five year term.

The change of sentiment has been striking in the British middle-class, whose support made possible that Laborite victory in 1945. The middle-class is sore, with reason, because of the way it has suffered at the hands of the Labor government. More, it has resented the class-conscious policies of the government, as expressed by such ministers as Aneurin Bevan and Emanuel Shinwell. It is true that self-interest can hardly have prompted middle-class Britons to vote Labor in '45. But they hoped at least that government policy would be devoted to the national interest instead of to the promotion of an economic class.

The trend in Britain will be encouraging to Congress, which has fixed a dubious eye on a country that seemed to be more interested in doctrinaire scheme to nationalize industry than in raising production. Neither the Administration nor a majority of Congress has wanted to attach political conditions to any further aid to Britain. But they cannot help being encouraged by signs that the British people resent the tendency of their government to conduct a class war while supposedly trying to struggle out of the postwar morass.

Skill Defeats Tragedy

Human skill has averted what might have been the worst tragedy in the history of trans-Atlantic aviation. Only one aspect of the rescue of those 69 people from a flying boat forced down in the North Atlantic merits anything but extravagant praise—and that is why the pilot was forced down into the water in the first place.

Once the stage for the tragedy had been set, plane and Coast Guard personnel acted with superb skill. The pilot, a former Navy airman, set his huge craft down in high seas in a landing described as "dandy" and "incomparable." That was no small feat. The 35-foot waves, topped with rough chop, were as high as a three-story building, and a 20-foot swell usually is enough to suspend landing and take-off operations of trans-oceanic planes.

Then the Coast Guard, equipped with small boats and life rafts, took over and effected the perilous rescue with superb skill and seamanship. The plane, a stout veteran of a hundred other crossings in Navy and commercial service, performed admirably. It suffered only minor damage in the landing, and was still seaworthy when the rescue was completed.

The plane was down after only a little more than half of the scheduled distance from Ireland to Newfoundland had been covered. Somewhere there must have been a serious miscalculation of the plane's remaining time in the air, considering fuel supply and the strength of the headwinds.

New Jersey man who looked for a gas leak with a lighted candle is expected to be out of the hospital in time for Thanksgiving dinner.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

TROPICAL BUGABOOS

THE other day I ran across an article exposing many of the medical myths about the South Pacific. It was written by two navy surgeons, one of whom had been consulting dermatologist to the 7th fleet. From now on I can renew my daydreams of a trip to these peaceful islands and friendly peoples.

The authors, Alden and Jones, agree that the jungle is thick, hot, humid, and mosquito-ridden and that the natives have many insanitary habits. But they point out that conditions are not much different in the swamp sections of our own country. Furthermore, northern blizzards are not inviting and our city slums are neither beautiful nor healthful.

They quote one of the leading physicians of Manila and the Dutch and Javanese doctors they encountered, who stated that in ordinary times, diseases are not particularly bothersome among the inhabitants or immigrants. The work of the local medical men centers mainly around bronchitis, pregnancy, gonorrhea, and the usual ailments of the aged. In certain sections malaria, yaws, and leprosy and other skin maladies are common but in general, only the visitors who have trouble adjusting themselves or the residents who are careless about hygiene become infected.

Many of the fairy tales associated with exotic fungous infections are also exploded. We have been hearing of jungle rot and various forms of dermatitis that were so mysterious and unusual physicians were at a loss. Any blemish that appeared while in the theater of war was blamed on the environment and in this respect, the medical officers were as much at fault as their patients.

A boy going to sick bay with a fungous infection would state: "I never had it until I went to the tropics." But questioning would reveal that he had suffered from athlete's foot in the states and there is no reason to believe that the condition is any different just because the victim is 6,000 miles away from home.

It is true that molds, yeasts, and fungi grow more easily in warm, moist climates but the organisms will flourish anywhere if wet shoes and socks are worn continuously. This means that prevention consists of keeping the clothing and skin clean, dry, and well aired. The native is not immune to fungous invasions but stands less chance of becoming afflicted because he goes barefoot or wears sandals.

These physicians are of the opinion that tropical cutaneous diseases were of the same type observed in America during the summer months. Statistics showed that in the South Pacific, 10 per cent of the admissions to sick bay and the hospitals were due to skin disturbances. In the United States, 6 per cent of all ailments fall into this category. In the Philippine general hospital, the proportion among the native population, exclusive of leprosy, amounts to less than 5 per cent. It is obvious that skin disorders are not a special problem in the tropics and there is no greater incidence than elsewhere.

SEDATIVE HABIT

T. D. writes: How can we go about having our mother cured of phenobarbital addiction? She has not been able to break herself of the habit. She started taking it after the death of our father and two brothers in the war.

REPLY

Cure is sometimes accomplished by switching the user to bromides, which are milder and less toxic sedatives. Once this is done, the bromides can usually be stopped without much difficulty. Treatment should be carried out under the guidance of a psychiatrist, who will also help her to adjust so that sedatives are no longer required.

GIFT SPOTS

L. B. writes: What do white spots on the finger nails indicate?

REPLY

Minor injuries are the most common cause such as that incurred by overzealous manicuring. Occasionally they are observed in those who are over-fatigued, nervous, or convalescing from a recent illness.

DIFFERENT LEVELS

Mrs. H. writes: During physical checkups my blood pressure is always 20 points higher in the left arm than the right. Can you explain this difference?

REPLY

Variations of this nature are observed frequently. If constriction of the large blood vessel leading from the heart can be ruled out with X-rays, you can disregard the phenomenon. If readings are taken over the legs as well as the arms, a more exact erading can be obtained.

Big Distillers Quietly Planning To Get "Misguided" Truman's Whisky Holiday Called Off Though They Have More Than Three Year's Supply

Says DREW PEARSON

Aboard The Friendship Train, Nov. 12—While the American people are working hard to save food and send it to Europe, a significant thing is happening behind the scenes with the big whisky distillers.

They would throw conniption fits if they knew outsiders had found out about it, but they are quietly planning to send twenty field men out to soften up editors and sell them on ending the whisky holiday.

The sales argument will be that President Truman double-crossed the distillers, whereas, if anything, the big distillers did (and are doing) their best to double-cross him.

After attempting to soften up the newspapers, the big four of the distilling business plan to have a greased-lightning bill introduced in Congress to call off the "misguided" Truman's whisky holiday. If successful, the distillers will then go back to using 8,500,000 bushels of grain per month—as they did in October—or as much as they can get away with.

This columnist has now obtained a copy of the hitherto confidential propaganda bulletin prepared by Licensed Beverage Industries and the Distilled Spirits Institute. It makes interesting—and to anyone who doesn't know what's what—highly convincing reading. But it carefully conceals the fact that just before the whisky holiday, distillers were using grain at the rate of 100,000,000 bushels a year. Incidentally, this amount—100,000,000 bushels—is just the amount we need to make up the deficit of grain to Europe.

One interesting statement made in the distillers' confidential propaganda report is the amazing contention that:

"Processing grain by beverage distillers leaves 100 per cent of the feeding value for beef, dairy cattle, swine and poultry."

This is equivalent to saying that the distillers have learned the secret of making something from nothing—which they have not. When they make whisky they use up entirely the most important single constituent of the grain—the starch or carbohydrate content. This represents about 65 per cent of the grain.

Actually, the only materials left over after distillation are the unfermentable constituents of the original grain—ash, fiber and protein. While this is fed to cattle and does help the protein content of cattle feed. It represents only 30 per cent of the feed's value—not 100 per cent as contended by the distillers.

This is only a small part of the whisky boys' mumbo-jumbo prepared to make the unsuspecting public think that the whisky holiday should be revoked. Actually, the distillers have more than three years' supply of whisky on hand, and they are more prosperous than ever.

It will be interesting to see if the public falls for their cleverly concealed gall.

BY PIPELINE FROM WASHINGTON:

Wall Street-Ruled Army

Republicans who will have to pass upon the qualifications of James Forrestal for the all-important job of Secretary of National Defense, have been checking into his background and have stumbled onto some highly interesting facts.

Back in the first years of the Roosevelt Administration Forrestal was exposed by the Senate Banking Committee probe for having got around a $840,000 income-tax payment by setting up a personal holding corporation.

This senate banking probe also exposed Forrestal's banking firm—Dillon, Read and Co.—as one of the worst highbinders on Wall Street when it came to floating bad loans to Germany and Latin America.

As a result of this investigation, Roosevelt set up the Securities and Exchange Commission and also attempted to jail several big income-tax violators, such as Andrew Mellon and Charles E. Mitchell of the National City Bank. In fact, a good part of Roosevelt's political campaign in 1936 was based on attacking Wall Street.

Now, however, Republicans point out that the head of a Wall Street house with one of the worst records of all has become head of the combined Army and Navy. They have nothing against Forrestal personally. In fact, most Republicans like him. But they also think that it is time the Republican Party dispelled the Democratic myth that the GOP is the especial friend of the big bankers.

For that reason they may go rather carefully into Forrestal's career and show up the fact that a banker with a Wall Street record has now been elevated by the Democrats to be head of the Army and Navy—at a time when the Army and Navy for the first time in history are consolidated.

From Exile To Ambassador

It was only a few short years ago that French Ambassador Henri Bonnet was leading a most prosaic life. He was a schoolteacher. Then came the first world war and schoolmaster Bonnet left his books to fight as an infantryman on the Western Front—four years of it. He won the Croix de Guerre and then came back to do some thinking as to how wars could be prevented in the future.

That was how Bonnet happened to join the League of Nations Secretariat where he worked on various international projects until 1940 when Hitler's forces swarmed over France, and Bonnet escaped to England one jump ahead of the Nazis.

Bonnet then became part of the French Government in Exile. The Germans in those early days of the war were trying to bolster midwest isolation in the U. S., and Bonnet was rushed to New York to help counteract their propaganda.

There he went back to schoolteaching—this time, political science.

Finally, when de Gaulle got the French Provisional Government organized in North Africa, he appointed Bonnet the first French Ambassador to the U.S.A., following liberation.

Ambassador Bonnet is tall, thin, with graying hair, slim mustache, and quick-moving nervous hands. He now knows the U.S.A. better than many Americains themselves, and when he went out to Omaha to speak from the Friendship Train he was no stranger to the Middle West.

Methods Of Raising Money For Aid To Europe All-Important

By MARK SULLIVAN

In the stage that aid to Europe has now reached as a plan, emphasis is upon methods, including the all-important one, how the money is to be raised. Much of the discussion goes on the assumption that the money is to be provided by our Treasury and taxpayers. That is true, as respects the immediate aid for food and fuel to tide Europe over the winter. But it is not true as respects the long-term aid contemplated by the Marshall Plan, some 16 to 20 billion dollars over some four years.

Every official action or authoritative utterance about the Marshall Plan goes on the assumption that some of the money will be provided from the government treasury, some from private sources. This is the intention of Secretary of State Marshall himself. In his appearance last Monday before the Senate and House Committees on Foreign Relations, he said: ". . . Every encouragement should be given to early initiation of private financing so as to eliminate as far as possible the necessity for direct assistance from the United States Government."

This is important to be understood. Not merely would 16 or 20 billion dollars, if it were to come wholly from the Treasury and taxpayers, look different to Congress than to the taxpayers. The distinction between the two methods of providing the funds goes deep, it goes to the heart of the purpose for which we have embarked upon the Marshall Plan.

Course of One of the Dollars

The difference between the two methods of providing the money can be shown by considering the course of one of the dollars that compose it.

In one case the dollar would be taken from a taxpayer, would go into the Treasury, and from there would be transmitted to one of the countries needing aid. Whether the money would be turned over to the government of that country, or to an industry within the country, is not certain—in some cases perhaps to the government, in others, perhaps to industries. In either event the dollar would not be seen again by the American taxpayer, except in the form of the broad benefits of the Marshall Plan to America.

The other method, providing the money from private sources, would take various forms. In some cases the citizen would turn his money over to a bank or other financial institution, which would give the citizen a bond promising return of the money with interest. The financial institution would then loan the money to an industry in Europe, or in some cases to a European government. In all cases the bank or other institution would take care to see that the money be fruitfully used for productive purposes, so that it could be paid back.

This method is already in operation, though so far in a comparatively small way. The World Bank has sold bonds in America and has used the funds thus raised to make carefully guarded loans in Europe. Some private American banks have made loans to some European countries or to industries in them.

In other cases American industries would provide funds for recovery of Europe in the form of selling goods on credit to industries in those countries. Some of this has been done. In other cases American industries would contribute to recovery of European countries by setting up branches in them. To some extent this has been done.

Private Financing Limited

Private financing is limited and for some time is likely to be. The early funds for the Marshall Plan must come from the Treasury. These early funds will make the European countries the better able to recover to a point which will make them practicable for private American sources to invest in. This means that the early contributions by our government to the needed 12 to 17 billion dollars, will be the largest part of the demand upon us. After the first year of our contribution, the amounts called for should be less.

The difference between financing by the government and financing by private sources goes farther than merely the difference to the American citizen, the fact that in one case the money would be taken from him as taxes and in the other case would be in a form which he could expect to get back.

The central purpose of the Marshall Plan is to make European nations self-supporting in order that they be able to resist Communism and Russian domination. That purpose would not be wisely served if our aid came wholly in the form of grants from our government. That would be making those countries mere satellites sustainerd by subsidies. What will really help toward making those countries self-supporting is normal relations between their industries and their economics with the American economy of private enterprise. This is what the Marshall Plan contemplates.

Mystery Still Exists Whether Truman Permits Censorship

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—There is still considerable mystery over whether President Truman is permitting a censorship screen to function on the matter of information to the public.

A proposed regulation to bottle up news which had been put into effect already in the Veterans Administration, was considered for possible use in other governmental agencies. A protest by the American Society of Newspaper Editors to President Truman brought a change in the language of the regulation but no information as to what was meant by the revised language, which still indicates that a government employee may be dismissed for giving out information that might possibly embarrass some individual in the government.

President Truman told a press conference that there had been much ado about nothing. He indicated that the matter of the regulations themselves was not as serious as had been supposed by the press. He intimated that the press should have ignored the matter because he, of course, would not allow any censorship at the source to be invoked.

Leaves Much To Be Desired

Mr. Truman's expressions of purpose were welcomed by the press, but there is still no information as to just what the status of these recommendations happens to be, and to what extent instructions have been issued inside the governmental departments to withhold information which might be embarrassing to individuals from a political standpoint.

The incident now has attracted the attention of Congress. Representative George H. Bender, Republican congressman-at-large from Ohio, has issued a statement declaring that a committee of Congress should make an investigation of the whole affair. Mr. Bender says:

"I am increasingly concerned over the encroachments of militarism into our civilian life and the imposition by the Truman Administration of military controls upon the normal functions of government and upon the free flow of news.

"Today I examined the text of proposed regulations drafted by the Truman Administration to apply military restrictions on any information and documents of the civilian agencies of the ogvernment. One of these regulations, it is reported, was put into effect in the Veterans Administration. The other, prepared by an interdepartmental committee for Mr. Truman's signature, would extend this 'protective' censorship over the remainder of the federal agencies by allowing them to classify as 'secret' or 'restricted' any sort of information affecting the so-called prestige of the agency.

"Any employee of the government who did not respect this classification, however absurd the classification might be, would be subject to dismissal for 'disloyalty.' It is inconceivable to me that there is any statute or authority which would permit the agencies of the government to cut off the free flow of information in this manner.

"Even during the war no such sweeping restrictions were imposed. The effect of the proposed regulations would be to cloak with secrecy all administrative bungling and incompetence. Military censorship abhorrent to our whole American way of life could be applied to the basic statistics and information collected by the United States government.

"It was reported that, at his press conference on September 6th President Truman 'criticized the press of the nation for taking what he called fragmentary bits of information to build straw men and then knocking them down.' President Truman said further that the press did not have full and correct information on this censorship project. But he apparently did not supply the full and correct information on that occasion. The secrecy with which the Truman Administration has tried to clothe its activities makes doubly unfair the President's indictment of the American press for using fragmentary bits of information. Any proposal which threatens the freedom of the press cannot be left to rumor and speculation. It is vital to the welfare of this nation that Congress determine the exact origin and status of the censorship program and the legal basis for the Truman Administration efforts to date along these lines.

"Accordingly, I have suggested to the chairman of the House expenditures committee that the entire matter be looked into, and I have offered assistance in every way possible. I am also making available at this time copies of the documents furnished to me as true drafts of the censorship regulations."

These Days

Congress and Constitution

I HAS BEEN suggested to me that I have erred in applying the Preamble of the Constitution to the obligations of Congress. The Preamble, setting forth the reasons for having a Constitution, provides:

1. To form a more perfect union; 2. to establish justice; 3. to insure domestic tranquillity; 4. to provide for the common defense; 5. to promote the general welfare; 6. to secure the blessings of Liberty. . .

All that follows the Preamble, implements it. Having stated the objectives, the Constitution establishes the machinery for their accomplishment. Story, in his classic, said of the Preamble:

". . . It is an admitted maxim in the ordinary course of the administration of justice, that the preamble of a statute is a key to open the mind of the makers, as to the mischiefs, which are to be remedied, and the objects, which are to be accomplished by the provisions of the statute. . ."

While the Preamble itself does not grant powers, it does imply obligations. As story continued:

". . . Its true office is to expound the nature, and extent, and application of the powers actually conferred by the constitution, and not substantively to create them. . ."

The Constitution was a difficult document to write and that it has continued as our basic law for 160 years establishes the wisdom of those who produced it. This country at that time was being governed by the Articles of Confederation, which established not a government but a compact among sovereign states. If the nation were to survive, a government with pov ers had to be formed and those powers required the respect, support and compliance of the people. The Preamble to the Constitution then stated the objectives, provided the political philosophy, and offered a guide.

To those of us alive today, the phrase, "a more perfect union" may, in our historical ignorance, seem puerile. But that is only because we fail to realize how little union existed when the Constitution was written and that a war among the states had to be fought some 70 years later to establish its authority.

My point, in a previous column, was that the Thomas Committee, as a part of Congress, had the obligation to concern itself with that clause in the Preamble which dealt with "domestic tranquility." The Federalist points to the small causes which may disrupt domestic tranquility:

"The influence which the bigotry of one female, the petulance of another, and the cabals of a third, had in the contemporary policy, ferments, and pacifications, of a considerable part of Europe, are topics that have been too often descanted upon not to be generally known."

And then, Alexander Hamilton, who wrote this particular article, adds:

"But notwithstanding the concurring testimony of experience, in this particular, there are still to be found visionary or designing men, who stand ready to advocate the paradox of perpetual peace between the States, though dismembered and alienated from each other. . ."

In another article in The Federalist, Hamilton, continues the argument by stating the entire issue before the Thomas Committee today:

"In republics, persons elevated from the mass of the community, by the suffrages of their fellow-citizens, to stations of great pre-eminence and power, may find compensations for betraying their trust, which, to any but minds animated and guided by superior virtue, may appear to exceed the proportion of interest they have in the common stock, and to overbalance the obligations of duty. Hence it is that history furnishes us with so many mortifying examples of the prevalency of foreign corruption in republican governments. . ."

Story, commenting on this, says:

". . . domestic factions may well be expected to arise, which, when honest, may lead to the most pernicious public measures; and when corrupt, to domestic insurrections, and even to an overthrow of the government. . ."

The Thomas Committee would be unmindful of its obligations if it ignored the constitutional duty to insure the domestic tranquility, for such is the duty of all the branches of our government. It is very easy for small and unimproved minds to pick and choose the obligations with which they care to be burdened. The complete citizen is the one who accepts the entire constitution and abides by it. For upon it America stands firm; without it our country falls to faction and strife.

The high cost of living has finally hit the universities and colleges all over the country. Football, the biggest sport in the country, is undergoing some radical changes because of inflation and high prices.

Padding is so expensive the boys are just stuffing their shoulder pads with old one dollar bills. The quarterback on all teams will now be known as the 30 cent back.

No fooling. . .things are so out of line, even the players have to pay to get in.

And the food conservation program is affecting the players. . . I wouldn't say the boys are hungry at the dinner table, but on meatless Tuesday they eye each other.

Those boys are really starving . . . Each guy brings whatever he can scrape up before a game. . .Then they all get together in the locker room, throw it in a mixer, and have a stew.

But the teams are scoring more touchdowns than ever these days. . . .That's because the players are busy tackling the hot dog boy in the stands.

One player was carried off the field in terrible pain recently. . . He had eaten too much grass.

The water boys are making a fortune, though. They're selling it to the players. When I get enough money I'm giving up radio.

Thirty Years Of Thinking And Doing Of Bolshevism

The thirtieth anniversary of the Russian revolution is one of those moments in history when it is wise for mankind to stop, look and listen.

The frenzied celebration in Moscow a few days ago, with its military emphasizes; with its speeches which blended childish boasting and fierce defiance, shouted before vast throngs herded about like regimented ants; with its adulation of "the leader," sums up tragic memories of Hitlerite Germany—though Soviet Russia set the example before Hitler appeared.

Let it be admitted that Molotov and the other speakers had much to boast about. The Soviet Union is stronger today than ever before. Though it lost heavily in men and factories during the war, it has since gained enormously in territory, strategic power and influence. This has been due to ruthless employment of the Red Army to overturn independent governments and set up satellites of Moscow. It has been due no less, to an icily calculating foreign policy —aided by a demonstration of naive optimism on the part of Western statesmen unique in history.

Possibly Stalin is counting on one more bout of "appeasement" from the West. Carefully inserted among the diatribes of Molotov's speech was the suggestion that capitalism and Communism may still dwell in the same world side by side. Stalin's agents in the United States may have informed him that many Americans want one more "magnanimous" gesture toward a "settlement" wtih Russia.

The answer to Molotov is plain. There is no need for a private settlement with the United States. Russia need only decide to live up to her pledges in the Atlantic Charter, at Yalta, Potsdam and San Francisco. She need only disband the Comintern, newly revived to spread the gospel of Communist world revolution. She need only agree to world control of atomic energy.

Instead of which, Russia even as Molotov spoke, was tightening the screws on Poland, Romania, Hungry and Czechoslovakia. Having paralyzed the UN Security Council through repeated use of the veto, she is now boycotting the peace efforts of the General Assembly.

The 30 years of Bolshevism have been a kind of Thirty Years' War against the capitalistic—and not so capitalistic—world. That struggle in its present phase is called the "cold war." Thanks to the nature of democracy, it will not be turned into a hot war by the United States. Probably Russia will not be in a condition to start a shooting war for some years. But until Russia turns her back on the doctrine of world Communist revolution, as set forth by Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin, there can be little hope for lasting peace and prosperity in Europe.

More Evidence Of Sentiment In Britain

The latest Gallup Poll in Great Britain shows that public sentiment has definitely turned against the Labor government for the first time since the Laborite victory of 1945. A plurality of Britons say they would vote Conservative rather than Labor if a national election were held today, that they think the government has been too eager to nationalize industries and that the Attlee cabinet has been just muddling along.

This sample of opinion is confirmed by the impressive Conservative victories in the municipal elections in England, Wales and now Scotland. Labor spokesmen concede that their party has suffered a setback. It is worse then that. Labor has suffered an important loss of public confidence half way through its five year term.

The change of sentiment has been striking in the British middle-class, whose support made possible that Laborite victory in 1945. The middle-class is sore, with reason, because of the way it has suffered at the hands of the Labor government. More, it has resented the class-conscious policies of the government, as expressed by such ministers as Aneurin Bevan and Emanuel Shinwell. It is true that self-interest can hardly have prompted middle-class Britons to vote Labor in '45. But they hoped at least that government policy would be devoted to the national interest instead of to the promotion of an economic class.

The trend in Britain will be encouraging to Congress, which has fixed a dubious eye on a country that seemed to be more interested in doctrinaire scheme to nationalize industry than in raising production. Neither the Administration nor a majority of Congress has wanted to attach political conditions to any further aid to Britain. But they cannot help being encouraged by signs that the British people resent the tendency of their government to conduct a class war while supposedly trying to struggle out of the postwar morass.

Skill Defeats Tragedy

Human skill has averted what might have been the worst tragedy in the history of trans-Atlantic aviation. Only one aspect of the rescue of those 69 people from a flying boat forced down in the North Atlantic merits anything but extravagant praise—and that is why the pilot was forced down into the water in the first place.

Once the stage for the tragedy had been set, plane and Coast Guard personnel acted with superb skill. The pilot, a former Navy airman, set his huge craft down in high seas in a landing described as "dandy" and "incomparable." That was no small feat. The 35-foot waves, topped with rough chop, were as high as a three-story building, and a 20-foot swell usually is enough to suspend landing and take-off operations of trans-oceanic planes.

Then the Coast Guard, equipped with small boats and life rafts, took over and effected the perilous rescue with superb skill and seamanship. The plane, a stout veteran of a hundred other crossings in Navy and commercial service, performed admirably. It suffered only minor damage in the landing, and was still seaworthy when the rescue was completed.

The plane was down after only a little more than half of the scheduled distance from Ireland to Newfoundland had been covered. Somewhere there must have been a serious miscalculation of the plane's remaining time in the air, considering fuel supply and the strength of the headwinds.

New Jersey man who looked for a gas leak with a lighted candle is expected to be out of the hospital in time for Thanksgiving dinner.

TROPICAL BUGABOOS

THE other day I ran across an article exposing many of the medical myths about the South Pacific. It was written by two navy surgeons, one of whom had been consulting dermatologist to the 7th fleet. From now on I can renew my daydreams of a trip to these peaceful islands and friendly peoples.

The authors, Alden and Jones, agree that the jungle is thick, hot, humid, and mosquito-ridden and that the natives have many insanitary habits. But they point out that conditions are not much different in the swamp sections of our own country. Furthermore, northern blizzards are not inviting and our city slums are neither beautiful nor healthful.

They quote one of the leading physicians of Manila and the Dutch and Javanese doctors they encountered, who stated that in ordinary times, diseases are not particularly bothersome among the inhabitants or immigrants. The work of the local medical men centers mainly around bronchitis, pregnancy, gonorrhea, and the usual ailments of the aged. In certain sections malaria, yaws, and leprosy and other skin maladies are common but in general, only the visitors who have trouble adjusting themselves or the residents who are careless about hygiene become infected.

Many of the fairy tales associated with exotic fungous infections are also exploded. We have been hearing of jungle rot and various forms of dermatitis that were so mysterious and unusual physicians were at a loss. Any blemish that appeared while in the theater of war was blamed on the environment and in this respect, the medical officers were as much at fault as their patients.

A boy going to sick bay with a fungous infection would state: "I never had it until I went to the tropics." But questioning would reveal that he had suffered from athlete's foot in the states and there is no reason to believe that the condition is any different just because the victim is 6,000 miles away from home.

It is true that molds, yeasts, and fungi grow more easily in warm, moist climates but the organisms will flourish anywhere if wet shoes and socks are worn continuously. This means that prevention consists of keeping the clothing and skin clean, dry, and well aired. The native is not immune to fungous invasions but stands less chance of becoming afflicted because he goes barefoot or wears sandals.

These physicians are of the opinion that tropical cutaneous diseases were of the same type observed in America during the summer months. Statistics showed that in the South Pacific, 10 per cent of the admissions to sick bay and the hospitals were due to skin disturbances. In the United States, 6 per cent of all ailments fall into this category. In the Philippine general hospital, the proportion among the native population, exclusive of leprosy, amounts to less than 5 per cent. It is obvious that skin disorders are not a special problem in the tropics and there is no greater incidence than elsewhere.

SEDATIVE HABIT

T. D. writes: How can we go about having our mother cured of phenobarbital addiction? She has not been able to break herself of the habit. She started taking it after the death of our father and two brothers in the war.

REPLY

Cure is sometimes accomplished by switching the user to bromides, which are milder and less toxic sedatives. Once this is done, the bromides can usually be stopped without much difficulty. Treatment should be carried out under the guidance of a psychiatrist, who will also help her to adjust so that sedatives are no longer required.

GIFT SPOTS

L. B. writes: What do white spots on the finger nails indicate?

REPLY

Minor injuries are the most common cause such as that incurred by overzealous manicuring. Occasionally they are observed in those who are over-fatigued, nervous, or convalescing from a recent illness.

DIFFERENT LEVELS

Mrs. H. writes: During physical checkups my blood pressure is always 20 points higher in the left arm than the right. Can you explain this difference?

REPLY

Variations of this nature are observed frequently. If constriction of the large blood vessel leading from the heart can be ruled out with X-rays, you can disregard the phenomenon. If readings are taken over the legs as well as the arms, a more exact erading can be obtained.

Big Distillers Quietly Planning To Get "Misguided" Truman's Whisky Holiday Called Off Though They Have More Than Three Year's Supply

Says DREW PEARSON

Aboard The Friendship Train, Nov. 12—While the American people are working hard to save food and send it to Europe, a significant thing is happening behind the scenes with the big whisky distillers.

They would throw conniption fits if they knew outsiders had found out about it, but they are quietly planning to send twenty field men out to soften up editors and sell them on ending the whisky holiday.

The sales argument will be that President Truman double-crossed the distillers, whereas, if anything, the big distillers did (and are doing) their best to double-cross him.

After attempting to soften up the newspapers, the big four of the distilling business plan to have a greased-lightning bill introduced in Congress to call off the "misguided" Truman's whisky holiday. If successful, the distillers will then go back to using 8,500,000 bushels of grain per month—as they did in October—or as much as they can get away with.

This columnist has now obtained a copy of the hitherto confidential propaganda bulletin prepared by Licensed Beverage Industries and the Distilled Spirits Institute. It makes interesting—and to anyone who doesn't know what's what—highly convincing reading. But it carefully conceals the fact that just before the whisky holiday, distillers were using grain at the rate of 100,000,000 bushels a year. Incidentally, this amount—100,000,000 bushels—is just the amount we need to make up the deficit of grain to Europe.

One interesting statement made in the distillers' confidential propaganda report is the amazing contention that:

"Processing grain by beverage distillers leaves 100 per cent of the feeding value for beef, dairy cattle, swine and poultry."

This is equivalent to saying that the distillers have learned the secret of making something from nothing—which they have not. When they make whisky they use up entirely the most important single constituent of the grain—the starch or carbohydrate content. This represents about 65 per cent of the grain.

Actually, the only materials left over after distillation are the unfermentable constituents of the original grain—ash, fiber and protein. While this is fed to cattle and does help the protein content of cattle feed. It represents only 30 per cent of the feed's value—not 100 per cent as contended by the distillers.

This is only a small part of the whisky boys' mumbo-jumbo prepared to make the unsuspecting public think that the whisky holiday should be revoked. Actually, the distillers have more than three years' supply of whisky on hand, and they are more prosperous than ever.

It will be interesting to see if the public falls for their cleverly concealed gall.

BY PIPELINE FROM WASHINGTON:

Wall Street-Ruled Army

Republicans who will have to pass upon the qualifications of James Forrestal for the all-important job of Secretary of National Defense, have been checking into his background and have stumbled onto some highly interesting facts.

Back in the first years of the Roosevelt Administration Forrestal was exposed by the Senate Banking Committee probe for having got around a $840,000 income-tax payment by setting up a personal holding corporation.

This senate banking probe also exposed Forrestal's banking firm—Dillon, Read and Co.—as one of the worst highbinders on Wall Street when it came to floating bad loans to Germany and Latin America.

As a result of this investigation, Roosevelt set up the Securities and Exchange Commission and also attempted to jail several big income-tax violators, such as Andrew Mellon and Charles E. Mitchell of the National City Bank. In fact, a good part of Roosevelt's political campaign in 1936 was based on attacking Wall Street.

Now, however, Republicans point out that the head of a Wall Street house with one of the worst records of all has become head of the combined Army and Navy. They have nothing against Forrestal personally. In fact, most Republicans like him. But they also think that it is time the Republican Party dispelled the Democratic myth that the GOP is the especial friend of the big bankers.

For that reason they may go rather carefully into Forrestal's career and show up the fact that a banker with a Wall Street record has now been elevated by the Democrats to be head of the Army and Navy—at a time when the Army and Navy for the first time in history are consolidated.

From Exile To Ambassador

It was only a few short years ago that French Ambassador Henri Bonnet was leading a most prosaic life. He was a schoolteacher. Then came the first world war and schoolmaster Bonnet left his books to fight as an infantryman on the Western Front—four years of it. He won the Croix de Guerre and then came back to do some thinking as to how wars could be prevented in the future.

That was how Bonnet happened to join the League of Nations Secretariat where he worked on various international projects until 1940 when Hitler's forces swarmed over France, and Bonnet escaped to England one jump ahead of the Nazis.

Bonnet then became part of the French Government in Exile. The Germans in those early days of the war were trying to bolster midwest isolation in the U. S., and Bonnet was rushed to New York to help counteract their propaganda.

There he went back to schoolteaching—this time, political science.

Finally, when de Gaulle got the French Provisional Government organized in North Africa, he appointed Bonnet the first French Ambassador to the U.S.A., following liberation.

Ambassador Bonnet is tall, thin, with graying hair, slim mustache, and quick-moving nervous hands. He now knows the U.S.A. better than many Americains themselves, and when he went out to Omaha to speak from the Friendship Train he was no stranger to the Middle West.

Methods Of Raising Money For Aid To Europe All-Important

By MARK SULLIVAN

In the stage that aid to Europe has now reached as a plan, emphasis is upon methods, including the all-important one, how the money is to raised. Much of the discussion goes on the assumption that the money is to be provided by our Treasury and taxpayers. That is true, as respects the immediate aid for food and fuel to tide Europe over the winter. But it is not true as respects the long-term aid contemplated by the Marshall Plan, some 16 to 20 billion dollars over some four years.

Every official action or authoritative utterance about the Marshall Plan goes on the assumption that some of the money will be provided from the government treasury, some from private sources. This is the intention of Secretary of State Marshall himself. In his appearance last Monday before the Senate and House Committees on Foreign Relations, he said: ". . . Every encouragement should be given to early initiation of private financing so as to eliminate as far as possible the necessity for direct assistance from the United States Government."

This is important to be understood. Not merely would 16 or 20 billion dollars, if it were to come wholly from the Treasury and taxpayers, look different to Congress than to the taxpayers. The distinction between the two methods of providing the funds goes deep, it goes to the heart of the purpose for which we have embarked upon the Marshall Plan.

Course of One of the Dollars

The difference between the two methods of providing the money can be shown by considering the course of one of the dollars that compose it.

In one case the dollar would be taken from a taxpayer, would go into the Treasury, and from there would be transmitted to one of the countries needing aid. Whether the money would be turned over to the government of that country, or to an industry within the country, is not certain—in some cases perhaps to the government, in others, perhaps to industries. In either event the dollar would not be seen again by the American taxpayer, except in the form of the broad benefits of the Marshall Plan to America.

The other method, providing the money from private sources, would take various forms. In some cases the citizen would turn his money over to a bank or other financial institution, which would give the citizen a bond promising return of the money with interest. The financial institution would then loan the money to an industry in Europe, or in some cases to a European government. In all cases the bank or other institution would take care to see that the money be fruitfully used for productive purposes, so that it could be paid back.

This method is already in operation, though so far in a comparatively small way. The World Bank has sold bonds in America and has used the funds thus raised to make carefully guarded loans in Europe. Some private American banks have made loans to some European countries or to industries in them.

In other cases American industries would provide funds for recovery of Europe in the form of selling goods on credit to industries in those countries. Some of this has been done. In other cases American industries would contribute to recovery of European countries by setting up branches in them. To some extent this has been done.

Private Financing Limited

Private financing is limited and for some time is likely to be. The early funds for the Marshall Plan must come from the Treasury. These early funds will make the European countries the better able to recover to a point which will make them practicable for private American sources to invest in. This means that the early contributions by our government to the needed 12 to 17 billion dollars, will be the largest part of the demand upon us. After the first year of our contribution, the amounts called for should be less.

The difference between financing by the government and financing by private sources goes farther than merely the difference to the American citizen, the fact that in one case the money would be taken from him as taxes and in the other case would be in a form which he could expect to get back.

The central purpose of the Marshall Plan is to make European nations self-supporting in order that they be able to resist Communism and Russian domination. That purpose would not be wisely served if our aid came wholly in the form of grants from our government. That would be making those countries mere satellites sustainerd by subsidies. What will really help toward making those countries self-supporting is normal relations between their industries and their economics with the American economy of private enterprise. This is what the Marshall Plan contemplates.

Mystery Still Exists Whether Truman Permits Censorship

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—There is still considerable mystery over whether President Truman is permitting a censorship screen to function on the matter of information to the public.

A proposed regulation to bottle up news which had been put into effect already in the Veterans Administration, was considered for possible use in other governmental agencies. A protest by the American Society of Newspaper Editors to President Truman brought a change in the language of the regulation but no information as to what was meant by the revised language, which still indicates that a government employee may be dismissed for giving out information that might possibly embarrass some individual in the government.

President Truman told a press conference that there had been much ado about nothing. He indicated that the matter of the regulations themselves was not as serious as had been supposed by the press. He intimated that the press should have ignored the matter because he, of course, would not allow any censorship at the source to be invoked.

Leaves Much To Be Desired

Mr. Truman's expressions of purpose were welcomed by the press, but there is still no information as to just what the status of these recommendations happens to be, and to what extent instructions have been issued inside the governmental departments to withhold information which might be embarrassing to individuals from a political standpoint.

The incident now has attracted the attention of Congress. Representative George H. Bender, Republican congressman-at-large from Ohio, has issued a statement declaring that a committee of Congress should make an investigation of the whole affair. Mr. Bender says:

"I am increasingly concerned over the encroachments of militarism into our civilian life and the imposition by the Truman Administration of military controls upon the normal functions of government and upon the free flow of news.

"Today I examined the text of proposed regulations drafted by the Truman Administration to apply military restrictions on any information and documents of the civilian agencies of the ogvernment. One of these regulations, it is reported, was put into effect in the Veterans Administration. The other, prepared by an interdepartmental committee for Mr. Truman's signature, would extend this 'protective' censorship over the remainder of the federal agencies by allowing them to classify as 'secret' or 'restricted' any sort of information affecting the so-called prestige of the agency.

"Any employee of the government who did not respect this classification, however absurd the classification might be, would be subject to dismissal for 'disloyalty.' It is inconceivable to me that there is any statute or authority which would permit the agencies of the government to cut off the free flow of information in this manner.

"Even during the war no such sweeping restrictions were imposed. The effect of the proposed regulations would be to cloak with secrecy all administrative bungling and incompetence. Military censorship abhorrent to our whole American way of life could be applied to the basic statistics and information collected by the United States government.

"It was reported that, at his press conference on September 6th President Truman 'criticized the press of the nation for taking what he called fragmentary bits of information to build straw men and then knocking them down.' President Truman said further that the press did not have full and correct information on this censorship project. But he apparently did not supply the full and correct information on that occasion. The secrecy with which the Truman Administration has tried to clothe its activities makes doubly unfair the President's indictment of the American press for using fragmentary bits of information. Any proposal which threatens the freedom of the press cannot be left to rumor and speculation. It is vital to the welfare of this nation that Congress determine the exact origin and status of the censorship program and the legal basis for the Truman Administration efforts to date along these lines.

"Accordingly, I have suggested to the chairman of the House expenditures committee that the entire matter be looked into, and I have offered assistance in every way possible. I am also making available at this time copies of the documents furnished to me as true drafts of the censorship regulations."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Congress and Constitution

IT HAS BEEN suggested to me that I have erred in applying the Preamble of the Constitution to the obligations of Congress. The Preamble, setting forth the reasons for having a Constitution, provides:

1. To form a more perfect union; 2. to establish justice; 3. to insure domestic tranquility; 4. to provide for the common defense; 5. to promote the general welfare; 6. to secure the blessings of Liberty. . .

All that follows the Preamble, implements it. Having stated the objectives, the Constitution establishes the machinery for their accomplishment. Story, in his classic, said of the Preamble:

". . . It is an admitted maxim in the ordinary course of the administration of justice, that the preamble of a statute is a key to open the mind of the makers, as to the mischiefs, which are to be remedied, and the objects, which are to be accomplished by the provisions of the statute. . ."

While the Preamble itself does not grant powers, it does imply obligations. As story continued:

". . . Its true office is to expound the nature, and extent, and application of the powers actually conferred by the constitution, and not substantively to create them. . ."

The Constitution was a difficult document to write and that it has continued as our basic law for 160 years establishes the wisdom of those who produced it. This country at that time was being governed by the Articles of Confederation, which established not a government but a compact among sovereign states. If the nation were to survive, a government with powers had to be formed and those powers required the respect, support and compliance of the people. The Preamble to the Constitution then stated the objectives, provided the political philosophy, and offered a guide.

To those of us alive today, the phrase, "a more perfect union" may, in our historical ignorance, seem puerile. But that is only because we fail to realize how little union existed when the Constitution was written and that a war among the states had to be fought some 70 years later to establish its authority.

My point, in a previous column, was that the Thomas Committee, as a part of Congress, had the obligation to concern itself with that clause in the Preamble which dealt with "domestic tranquility." The Federalist points to the small causes which may disrupt domestic tranquility:

"The influence which the bigotry of one female, the petulance of another, and the cabals of a third, had in the contemporary policy, ferments, and pacifications, of a considerable part of Europe, are topics that have been too often descanted upon not to be generally known."

And then, Alexander Hamilton, who wrote this particular article, adds:

"But notwithstanding the concurring testimony of experience, in this particular, there are still to be found visionary or designing men, who stand ready to advocate the paradox of perpetual peace between the States, though dismembered and alienated from each other. . ."

In another article in The Federalist, Hamilton, continues the argument by stating the entire issue before the Thomas Committee today:

"In republics, persons elevated from the mass of the community, by the suffrages of their fellow-citizens, to stations of great preeminence and power, may find compensations for betraying their trust, which, to any but minds animated and guided by superior virtue, may appear to exceed the proportion of interest they have in the common stock, and to overbalance the obligations of duty. Hence it is that history furnishes us with so many mortifying examples of the prevalency of foreign corruption in republican governments. . ."

Story, commenting on this, says:

". . . domestic factions may well be expected to arise, which, when honest, may lead to the most pernicious public measures; and when corrupt, to domestic insurrections, and even to an overthrow of the government. . ."

The Thomas Committee would be unmindful of its obligations if it ignored the constitutional belief to insure the domestic tranquility, for such is the duty of all the branches of our government. It is very easy for small and unimproved minds to pick and choose the obligations with which they care to be burdened. The complete citizen is the one who accepts the entire constitution and abides by it. For upon it America stands firm; without it our country falls to faction and strife.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The high cost of living has finally hit the universities and colleges all over the country. Football, the biggest sport in the country, is undergoing some radical changes because of inflation and high prices.

Padding is so expensive the boys are just stuffing their shoulder pads with old one dollar bills. The quarterback on all teams will now be known as the 30 cent back.

No fooling. . .things are so out of line, even the players have to pay to get in.

And the food conservation program is affecting the players. . . I wouldn't say the boys are hungry at the dinner table, but on meatless Tuesday they eye each other.

Those boys are really starving . . . Each guy brings whatever he can scrape up before a game. . .Then they all get together in the locker room, throw it in a mixer, and have a stew.

But the teams are scoring more touchdowns than ever these days. . . .That's because the players are busy tackling the hot dog boy in the stands.

One player was carried off the field in terrible pain recently. . . He had eaten too much grass.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

"Would you be interested in acquiring an unusual timepiece?" asked Major Timothy Morgan. "A great deal of blood has been shed over it."

Billy Rose

I looked at the battered watch the self-commissioned Major handed me. It was an old dollar Ingersoll.

"What are you asking for this object d'art?" I inquired.

"The customary twenty tiny dollars," beamed the old confidence man.

"What makes it worth the extra nineteen?"

"The part it has played in shaping the lives of men," boomed Timothy. "But before I furnish additional fodder for your unlettered quillings, how about a wee drap of the creature?"

I opened the medicine chest and got the bottle of bourbon. The Major went through his regular ritual. He poured a few drops into a glass, dipped a corner of his handkerchief into the bourbon, delicately moistened his lips, and then up-ended the bottle.

As he put the bottle down, he gave me the hypnotic eye which had sold many a fifty-cent kewpie doll for five dollars. "The scene is Gilhooley's Bar and Grill on Ninth Avenue," he declaimed. "The time—a few minutes before midnight. Into the bar comes a giant of a man. He orders a double whiskey and tosses it down neat. As the giant turns to leave, the man who is standing next to him at the bar yells his pocket has been picked and accuses the newcomer. Before you can say 'Mulligan's Aromatic Acrobatic Itching Soap,' a brawl starts up. The gent who claims he was robbed and a dozen of his friends gang up on the giant. What ensues is reminiscent of Napoleon's Retreat from Moscow. The giant picks up his attackers two at a time, knocks their heads together and stacks the bodies in a corner like kindling wood."

"Did you see this yourself?" I asked the Major.

"From a vantage point under a table," said Morgan. "When the giant left Gilhooley's, I left with him. He interested me. He was the only tall pickpocket I had encountered in an experience embracing forty years and five continents."

"How did you know he was a pickpocket?"

The Major looked hurt. "That's like asking Einstein whether Dr. Conant is a good physicist," he said with dignity.

"As we passed Madison Square Garden, I suddenly realized I had the key to Fort Knox in my hand. The way the giant had handled his thirteen attackers stamped him as championship fight material. Beneath a friendly street light on Fifty-first Street, I told my overgrown friend he could get himself more money putting his hand in the other fellow's eye than in his pocket.

"The next day I cut in a sport-loving janitor and set up a training camp on the roof of one of our better tenements. Acting as trainer and sparring partner, I taught the tall pickpocket what I knew about the manly art of self-defense—eliminating, of course, those refinements which have to do with the elbows and teeth. The giant was an exemplary pupil, although on several occasions I had to insist on the return of my key ring and corkscrew."

I got a picture of the paunchy Major in his fireman-red underwear, skipping rope with his protegee on a windy roof. "Don't ring," I told my telephone girl. "This is an important moment in my life."

"A month later I got my boy his first fight," continued the Major. "His opponent was an old warrior named Bicks who hadn't won a bout since Carnera was champ. I bet our end of the purse—fifteen dollars—on the giant, who I had named 'Ignorant Eddie Burke' so as to confuse his opponents.

"On the night of the fight, I was in Ignorant Eddie's corner. My boy started piling up points right from the opening bell. At the end of the first round, Old Man Bicks had trouble finding his corner. At the beginning of the second, my boy produced considerable claret with a sharp right to Bicks' schnoz. It was only a question of time now. Bicks fell into a clinch.

"The referee stepped in to separate the men. When they parted, I yelled for my boy to finish it up. But instead of using his talented right, the giant kept pawing at his opponent with his left. He seemed afraid to use the other hand. It only took Old Man Bicks a few seconds to figure the same way. He started throwing leather at my boy. Instead of facing up to him, Ignorant Eddie kept backing away, trying to cover up with his left. Two swings later, my boy was on the canvass. We carted him off to the dressing room and laid him out on the table. Some one produced a bottle of brandy."

"Which you drank," I cut in.

"Ignorant Eddie was in no condition to appreciate it," explained the Major. "His right hand was still closed. I pried open the fingers gently in order not to further damage the hand. At this moment, he came to, and when he did, he received his second knockout of the evening."

"You don't mean to say you belted the poor boy," I deadpanned.

"Poor boy, indeed!" bristled the Major. "In Ignorant Eddie's right hand was the referee's Ingersoll which he had lifted at the beginning of the second round."

If you buy a rayon dress, however, and there is no label, remember that in general, smooth, flat fabrics such as rayon sharkskin, are likely to wash well. Fabrics in the crepe family may give trouble. When any crepey fabric is wet, there is danger of its shrinking or stretching. If the material is very crepey, never wash it at all. Send it to the dry cleaner.

'48 Winter Wheat Outlook Darkened By Planting Delay

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The outlook for next year's winter wheat has been darkened by a serious delay in fall planting, the Agriculture Department reported today.

In its next to last crop report of the year, the department also estimated the weather-harried corn crop at 2,447,422,000 bushels, a decline of about one-half of one per cent from its estimate of a month ago.

Today's corn figure confirmed previous official statements that the crop is about 17 per cent short of requirements for livestock feeding, food uses and export for the current crop year.

It shows this crop to be about 25 per cent smaller than last year's record one.

Dampening official hopes for another bumper wheat crop next year, the department said about 25 per cen tof the intended winter wheat acreage in the important Great Plains area had not been seeded by November 1 because of dry weather. Normally the crop is all planted by this date. Winter wheat, which makes up about three-fourths of all wheat produced, is harvested in the following spring and summer.

A short wheat crop next year would lower this country's ability to supply cereals to Europe, which is expected to continue to require large imports for at least three more years.

Because of this year's short crop of corn and other feed grains, the department made plans meanwhile to ask farmers to plant about 6.5 per cent more land to principal feed grains next year. The corn acreage would be increased about 6.3 per cent.

1948 Will Bring Much Snow, Rain, Almanac States

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 12 Besides being Leap Year and election year, 1948 will bring much snow, rain, windiness, and cloudiness, the latest edition of the Hagerstown Town and County Almanac prognosticated today.

The 151st edition, off the presses today, said a cool summer will see only five hot and sultry days.

Established here by John Gruber in 1797, the annual publication has remained unchanged in form.

Dewey-Stassen Battle In N. Hampshire Assured

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 —(AP)—A New Hampshire primary fight between supporters of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen for Republican national convention delegates became assured today, setting up the first major skirmish in the battle for the 1948 GOP presidential nomination.

Dewey, the party's 1944 nominee, has not yet announced his 1948 intentions but his friends said today that a full slate of candidates friendly to him would be entered next March 9 in the New Hampshire balloting—a traditional kickoff point in presidential campaigns.

Stassen, former Minnesota Governor and the first candidate to announce for the top spot on the Republican ticket next year, said yesterday that a group of delegates favoring him would be on the ballot in the New England state.

Photographer, Claiming False Arrest, Files Suit

FREDERICK, Md., Nov. 12 (AP) — Charles W. Roelke, free-lance photographer, filed a $2,000 damage suit in Circuit Court today against a member of the Frederick police force who he contended arrested him falsely for taking a photograph at the scene of a fatal accident last September 28.

The suit said the defendant, Lt. Frank K. Dorsey, "illegally imprisoned" Roelke at police headquarters and required him to deposit collateral after "being booked for non-existing crimes."

The plaintiff was charged with disturbing the peace, disorderly conduct, and interfering with an officer when he photographed a hit-and-run victim's body after first being denied permission by Dorsey. The charges were dropped after Roelke destroyed the film in the presence of police officers.

State's Attorney General Hall Hammond said some days after the incident that he could "find no law prohibiting the taking of pictures" on the site of violent deaths provided the photographer did not "create a scene or obstruct traffic or violate one of the ordinary laws."

Ex-Presidents' Busts For Argentina

BUENOS AIRES—(AP)—The government has ordered busts of five recent presidents from five Argentine sculptors to complete the gallery of ex-presidents. The presidents, whose busts will cost $10,000 pesos ($2,500) each, are Augustin P. Justo, Ricardo M. Ortiz, Ramon S. Castillo, Pedro Pablo Ramirez, and Edelmiro J. Farrell.

Britain's Labor Government Asks For Higher Taxes

LONDON, Nov. 12—(AP)—The Labor government called today for twice as big a tax on company earnings and imposed higher levies on alcoholic drinks and other consumers' items in order to fight inflation by cutting down the amount of money available for purchase of goods.

The announcement was made in the House of Commons when Chancellor of the Exechequer Hugh Dalton presented the interim autumn budget.

He said the proposed revenues would absorb an additional £208,000,000 ($832,000,000) of the annual surplus spending power, estimated unofficially at around £800,000,000 ($3,200,000,000).

The budget is subject to parliamentary approval but most of the taxes became effective with Dalton's announcement.

Dalton proposed increasing the tax on distributed company profits from 12½ to 25 per cent and upping the levy on undistributed earnings from five to 10 per cent.

He said many corporation dividends had been increased contrary to his advice and this he attacked as "inflationary and disturbing to good industrial relations."

He decreed what amounted to a tax on advertising budgets with only half a company's expenditures for that purpose permitted to be classified as "allowable expenditures" for taxes. Formerly, all advertising expenses were allowable.

"In these days much of the advertisements are a serious waste of money and labor," he said.

He demanded more revenue from both the rich and from the working man. For the first time in history the laborer must pay a tax for one of his favorite pastimes, betting on dog races and in football pools. A pint of beer in his local pub will cost one pence (two cents) more.

Under the new schedules purchase taxes will be doubled, pooled wagers on football scores and pari-mutuel betting on dog races will be taxed at 10 per cent. The betting tax to be effective January 4, was expected to yield £15,000,000 ($60,000,000) a year.

Man Who Turned Gun On Police Car Convicted

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 12—(AP)—George Tobie, 55-year-old Pasadena painter who said he fired his shotgun once "for no reason at all" and a second time "by accident" was convicted of assault with intent to kill four persons today.

One of his alleged targets was Mrs. William G. Smith, a neighbor who testified she had obtained a gunning license for Tobie the previous day.

Judge William J. McWilliams announced the verdict after a trial without jury in Anne Arundel County Court. He said he would determine a sentence later.

Tobie was accused of turning his shotgun on a police car parked in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Smith early in the morning of September 14. In the car with the Smiths were Sgt. George Bolm and Patrolman Leo Kinsey, of the county police.

Anti-Pollution Group Plans Notice To Canners

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 12. (AP)—A notice to canners to cease dumping wastes into Maryland streams will be considered Friday at a meeting of the Water Pollution Control Commission at Baltimore.

Paul W. McKee, executive secretary, disclosed today the commission would be asked to approve a letter warning canners it is unlawful to discharge polluting material into "any stream or body of water" that will create a nuisance, harm fish life or destroy the use of waters for recreational or agricultural purposes."

McKee said Dr. Joseph H. McLain, commission chairman, had approved the draft of a letter to be sent to over 200 canners.

"Baseball's" Supporters Struck Out By Judge

LANCASTER, O., Nov. 12 (AP) — The folks in the combined towns of Basil and Baltimore, who wanted to change the community's name to "Baseball," struck out today.

Common Pleas Judge Earl D. Parker ruled against their petition. He held that the 626 persons who signed the petition did not constitute three-fourths of the inhabitants, as required by law.

The town's name will remain Baltimore.

Rail Unions Form Political League

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—Top officers of 19 railroad unions tonight set up an organization for political activity in the 1948 elections, the first such move in recent railroad annals.

Up to now each of the railroad brotherhoods has decided on endorsement or opposition to candidates as a separate union and without a direct appeal to the more than 1,500,000 railroad workers for united action.

The Railway Labor Executives Association recessed its meeting late today, then met as individuals and formed "Railroad Labor's Political League."

The executives of 19 of the 21 railroad unions then adopted a resolution agreeing on the principles to be followed in by-laws to be written, and declaring there is:

"Need for railroad workers more fully and efficiently to exercise their rights to vote."

The two brotherhoods not in the association are the trainmen of A. F. Whitney, and the locomotive engineers of Alvanley Johnston.

Reuther Forces Oust Thomas, Leonard In UAW

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP)—The triumphant Walter Reuther forces in the CIO United Auto Workers tumbled tobacco-chewing R. J. Thomas and mild-mannered Dick Leonard out of their vice presidential jobs today.

Completing the Reuther sweep of four top union offices, the UAW convention turned Leonard's post over to Regional Director John W. Livingston, St. Louis.

A few hours earlier, Thomas was beaten by Dick Gosser, powerful Toledo, Ohio, labor leader.

The election stampede got off to a flying start yesterday when Reuther was re-elected president without organized opposition and Emil Mazey defeated Secretary-treasurer George F. Addes.

Marshall Denounces Maniu's Conviction

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP) — The conviction of former Romanian Premier Juliu Maniu by a Bucharest military tribunal was denounced sharply today by Secretary of State Marshall.

He said the trial represented another attempt by a Communist-dominated regime "to eliminate every vestige of democratic opposition" and followed the general pattern of all such recent political trials in Eastern Europe.

U. S. Teaching Greeks To Can Food

ATHENS — (AP) — The American Mission for Aid to Greece has installed five out of 30 community canning centers, valued at $34,350 brought here by UNRRA.

The Greek suspicion that canned foods are dangerous and badit activity prevented more than three centers from being set up prior to the mission's arrival.

"The Greeks are fresh food eaters and resist any wide use of canned goods," says Elmer N. Holmgreen, of Bryan, Texas, agricultural division director of the American mission.

"People, even for their own needs, are not in a position to preserve food, except through more or less primitive methods."

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 12 (AP) — Hans Van Meegeren, 57, a Dutch artist who reproduced the old masters so faithfully his paintings fooled world art experts, was sentenced to a year in prison today for fraud.

Reuther Forces Oust Thomas, Leonard In UAW

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP)—The triumphant Walter Reuther forces in the CIO United Auto Workers tumbled tobacco-chewing R. J. Thomas and mild-mannered Dick Leonard out of their vice presidential jobs today.

Completing the Reuther sweep of four top union offices, the UAW convention turned Leonard's post over to Regional Director John W. Livingston, St. Louis.

A few hours earlier, Thomas was beaten by Dick Gosser, powerful Toledo, Ohio, labor leader.

The election stampede got off to a flying start yesterday when Reuther was re-elected president without organized opposition and Emil Mazey defeated Secretary-treasurer George F. Addes.

Marshall Denounces Maniu's Conviction

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP) — The conviction of former Romanian Premier Juliu Maniu by a Bucharest military tribunal was denounced sharply today by Secretary of State Marshall.

He said the trial represented another attempt by a Communist-dominated regime "to eliminate every vestige of democratic opposition" and followed the general pattern of all such recent political trials in Eastern Europe.

U. S. Teaching Greeks To Can Food

ATHENS — (AP) — The American Mission for Aid to Greece has installed five out of 30 community canning centers, valued at $34,350 brought here by UNRRA.

The Greek suspicion that canned foods are dangerous and badit activity prevented more than three centers from being set up prior to the mission's arrival.

"The Greeks are fresh food eaters and resist any wide use of canned goods," says Elmer N. Holmgreen, of Bryan, Texas, agricultural division director of the American mission.

"People, even for their own needs, are not in a position to preserve food, except through more or less primitive methods."

Suffers Knee Injury

Mary Crawford, 12, Mt. View Drive, suffered abrasions of the knee when struck by the automobile operated by Wilbur H. Miller, Route 5, Fairgo, on Cumberland Street last Saturday night. Police said the girl was riding a bicycle, and preferred no charges against Miller.

Tavern Operator Fined $200 On Whiskey Charge

Saying he sold a pint of whiskey Monday night as a "favor," Hugh Stride, operator of a tavern at 751 Kelly Boulevard, was fined $200 in Police Court yesterday on a charge of selling whiskey without a license in violation of a city ordinance.

Stride, who entered a plea of guilty, said the pint of whiskey he sold to two plainclothes policemen was for his own personal use. He told Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., that two men posing as Kelly-Springfield Tire Company employes and wearing company badges, walked into his place and asked to purchase whiskey. "It was late and I thought I was doing them a favor," he said.

Stride said he couldn't afford to pay a heavy fine or forfeit bond, but Magistrate Bruce informed him the maximum fine for the offense is $300.

Carlisle Teachers Visit Schools Here

West Side and Mt. Royal schools here visited yesterday by eight teachers from Franklin School, Carlisle, Pa., to learn first hand how local schools operate.

Mrs. Myrtle T. Davidson, sixth grade teacher and leader of the group, said the Carlisle teachers are visiting a number of schools and selected Allegany County for one visit because of the excellent reputation of the local system.

The visitors were conducted to the two schools by Miss Ruby M. Adams, director of elementary education, and Miss Winifred Green, supervisor. Lunch was served at West Side cafeteria.

39 Heirs Trying To Find Personal Effects Of Uncle

In Dispute Over Chickens, Radio

Legal heirs of Herman Getson, Cash Valley, who died October 30, appeared in Orphans Court yesterday with two attorneys, in an effort to locate several items of missing personal property of the deceased, and to determine the status of the estate.

The heirs comprise about 39 neices and nephews, with Franklin Getson, a nephew, represented by Gorman Getty, and Mrs. Goldie Often, a neice, represented by Mathew J. Mullaney, in dispute over the missing items, which include three watches, a table model radio, two guns and about 125 chickens.

Attorneys had no particular difference, but were attempting to locate the items allegedly missing, they told the Court.

Franklin Getson was originally qualified by the Court as administrator, and later Mrs. Often was qualified as co-administratrix, when some of the heirs claimed their uncle's personal effects had largely disappeared.

Getson died without leaving a will, and was the last of his immediate family. The property on which he lived belonged to his late mother, and he continued to reside there, attorneys said. This real estate will probably be divided among the heirs in the dispute, it was indicated.

Mrs. Often said when she went to the place Saturday to appraise the "200 chickens supposed to be there," she found they had been removed to Franklin Getson's place. But Getson claimed there were only 25 and they had been removed so he could care for them.

Nothing actually came out of the hearing, except the Courts' displeasure at the time consumed over the small amount involved and attaches said none of the items that had disappeared was located.

The will of Mrs. Genevieve Anna Stump was filed in the court this morning, naming a son, Dr. John P. Stump, Sr., as executor. He posted bond of $1,000.

Mrs. Stump left household and personal effects to a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Adele Whaley Stump, and divided real estate revenue, after conversion into cash, equally among her sons, Dr. John P. Stump, Sr., and Charles Stump.

Another will, that of Mrs. Cynthia Lindeman, city, was also filed naming a daughter, Mrs. Hannan S. Heron, as executrix. The latter posted bond of $500. The entire estate was bequeathed to her.

Ridgeley Schools To Have Parents Visitation Today

Ridgeley Graded and High Schools will hold Parents' Visitation Day and Open House today, as part of its Education Week observance. Parents are invited to attend any class during the day or spend the entire day at the school if they desire.

A dramatization, "Beachhead for Freedom," will be presented by a group of Ridgeley Junior High School students, during the last period of the afternoon, from 3 until 4. The play depicts the part the school takes in building citizens conscious of personal responsibility and freedom. Edward Stein will portray Uncle Sam and Phyllis Campbell, Miss Liberty.

Other characters will be played by Eugene Weller, Lucille Murray, Vera Jean McDaniels, Burke Baker, Carol Persin, Lelia Swadley, Louis Margharita, Richard Zirk, Wanona Kesner, William Ellifitz, Madeline Morris, Phyllis Comer, Edward Moore, Louella Grimes, James Baker and Betty Jean Mullan.

The program will also include "O Mighty Land," by the Girls Glee Club and a vocal solo by Margaret Morgan. Miss Doris Elrick will direct the play with Miss Evelyn Finster, in charge of the music.

Mrs. Gewndelyn Gillham, English and French instructor at Potomac State, will speak at the combined P-TA meeting at 8:15. Mrs. Gillham was service training instructor for the War Department connected with the Air Forces, and administrative assistant to the Exchange Officer, Army Exchange Service, during the war. She will discuss educational conditions in Europe as she observed them when she was in that area. The music and play will be repeated at the P-TA meeting.

Parents may visit teachers in the class rooms from 7 until 8 and inspect the samples of the school work on exhibit.

Central High Physics Class Visits Airport

A visit to the Cumberland airport was made yesterday by the Physics Class of Central High school with their instructor, Kendrick Y. Hodgdon, in conjunction with their course on the theory of airplane flight.

J. W. Wright, flight instructor, gave an hour's flight theory and an hour of maintenance. Charles F. Heller, maintenance man, gave an hour's flight pattern and landing strip construction to the group of twenty students.

Inspection was made of a Flying Fortress at the Cumberland field, and two training planes.

The students enjoyed the trip to the field and it proved educational and worthwhile in their study of airplane flight theory.

Stork Keeps Doctor Busy In Rome

AP Newsfeatures

ROME—For American wives who have their babies in Italy, there has been for the last year only one doctor.

Virtually every American colony birth notice chronicled in the Rome Daily American, local English language newspaper, has ended with the words: "Capt. Grady W. Phillips delivered the baby."

Recently the Birmingham, Ala., army medico, delivered his own—a six-pound, four-ounce girl who was named Frances Evelyn.

A son of Arthur M. Phillips and the late Mrs. Phillips of (6628 First Avenue, South) Birmingham, Capt. Phillips has been stationed in Rome since Aug. 3, 1946, and in that time, he estimates, he has delivered some 100 American babies. Mrs. Phillips is the former Doris Cockerham of Gunnison, Miss.

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

39 Heirs Trying To Find Personal Effects Of Uncle

In Dispute Over Chickens, Radio

Legal heirs of Herman Getson, Cash Valley, who died October 30, appeared in Orphans Court yesterday with two attorneys, in an effort to locate several items of missing personal property of the deceased, and to determine the status of the estate.

The heirs comprise about 39 neices and nephews, with Franklin Getson, a nephew, represented by Gorman Getty, and Mrs. Goldie Often, a neice, represented by Mathew J. Mullaney, in dispute over the missing items, which include three watches, a table model radio, two guns and about 125 chickens.

Attorneys had no particular difference, but were attempting to locate the items allegedly missing, they told the Court.

Franklin Getson was originally qualified by the Court as administrator, and later Mrs. Often was qualified as co-administratrix, when some of the heirs claimed their uncle's personal effects had largely disappeared.

Getson died without leaving a will, and was the last of his immediate family. The property on which he lived belonged to his late mother, and he continued to reside there, attorneys said. This real estate will probably be divided among the heirs in the dispute, it was indicated.

Mrs. Often said when she went to the place Saturday to appraise the "200 chickens supposed to be there," she found they had been removed to Franklin Getson's place. But Getson claimed there were only 25 and they had been removed so he could care for them.

Nothing actually came out of the hearing, except the Courts' displeasure at the time consumed over the small amount involved and attaches said none of the items that had disappeared was located.

The will of Mrs. Genevieve Anna Stump was filed in the court this morning, naming a son, Dr. John P. Stump, Sr., as executor. He posted bond of $1,000.

Mrs. Stump left household and personal effects to a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Adele Whaley Stump, and divided real estate revenue, after conversion into cash, equally among her sons, Dr. John P. Stump, Sr., and Charles Stump.

Another will, that of Mrs. Cynthia Lindeman, city, was also filed naming a daughter, Mrs. Hannan S. Heron, as executrix. The latter posted bond of $500. The entire estate was bequeathed to her.

Ridgeley Schools To Have Parents Visitation Today

Ridgeley Graded and High Schools will hold Parents' Visitation Day and Open House today, as part of its Education Week observance. Parents are invited to attend any class during the day or spend the entire day at the school if they desire.

A dramatization, "Beachhead for Freedom," will be presented by a group of Ridgeley Junior High School students, during the last period of the afternoon, from 3 until 4. The play depicts the part the school takes in building citizens conscious of personal responsibility and freedom. Edward Stein will portray Uncle Sam and Phyllis Campbell, Miss Liberty.

Other characters will be played by Eugene Weller, Lucille Murray, Vera Jean McDaniels, Burke Baker, Carol Bersin, Lelia Swadley, Louis Margharita, Richard Zirk, Wanona Kesner, William Ellifitz, Madeline Morris, Phyllis Comer, Edward Moore, Louella Grimes, James Baker and Betty Jean Mullan.

The program will also include "O Mighty Land," by the Girls Glee Club and a vocal solo by Margaret Morgan. Miss Doris Elrick will direct the play with Miss Evelyn Finster, in charge of the music.

Mrs. Gewndelyn Gillham, English and French instructor at Potomac State, will speak at the combined P-TA meeting at 8:15. Mrs. Gillham was service training instructor for the War Department connected with the Air Forces, and administrative assistant to the Exchange Officer, Army Exchange Service, during the war. She will discuss educational conditions in Europe as she observed them when she was in that area. The music and play will be repeated at the P-TA meeting.

Parents may visit teachers in the class rooms from 7 until 8 and inspect the samples of the school work on exhibit.

Central High Physics Class Visits Airport

A visit to the Cumberland airport was made yesterday by the Physics Class of Central High school with their instructor, Kendrick Y. Hodgdon, in conjunction with their course on the theory of airplane flight.

J. W. Wright, flight instructor, gave an hour's flight theory and an hour of maintenance. Charles F. Heller, maintenance man, gave an hour's flight pattern and landing strip construction to the group of twenty students.

Inspection was made of a Flying Fortress at the Cumberland field, and two training planes.

The students enjoyed the trip to the field and it proved educational and worthwhile in their study of airplane flight theory.

Stork Keeps Doctor Busy In Rome

AP Newsfeatures

ROME—For American wives who have their babies in Italy, there has been for the last year only one doctor.

Virtually every American colony birth notice chronicled in the Rome Daily American, local English language newspaper, has ended with the words: "Capt. Grady W. Phillips delivered the baby."

Recently the Birmingham, Ala., army medico, delivered his own—a six-pound, four-ounce girl who was named Frances Evelyn.

A son of Arthur M. Phillips and the late Mrs. Phillips of (6628 First Avenue, South) Birmingham, Capt. Phillips has been stationed in Rome since Aug. 3, 1946, and in that time, he estimates, he has delivered some 100 American babies. Mrs. Phillips is the former Doris Cockerham of Gunnison, Miss.

Bro. Declan Leads Band

Frostburg Talks Boxing

Rhoades' Run Is Longest

Sunday Sports Favored

By C. V. BURNS

Remember Brother Declan, former LaSalle High School baseball coach, and his big German police dog named "Zeke"?

Brother Gregory, director of athletics at LaSalle, gets the information via the grapevine that Brother Declan is now moderator of the St. John's College High School Band in Washington, D. C., and his musical outfit at the military school has been wowing 'em this season not only with their marching but with their Irish melodies and even jigs.

One of the band's top acts is the formation of members into four circles and their joining into one large circle. The lights in the stadium are doused and the band members wear lights to put on the stunt.

"Zeke" isn't there to help his master direct the show but Brother Declan hopes to come here soon to see the giant dog who is now being boarded in Ridgeley.

The Frostburg National Guard and Century Athletic Club have merged and hope to obtain a license from the South Atlantic Association of the A. A. U. to stage amateur fistic shows in the Mountain City this winter. Harry Frost, trainer of boxers, and publicity man for Frostburg's Softball League last summer, will be the matchmaker. Funds will go to the Frostburg Playground Association.

Shows will be staged at St. Michael's Hall.

Police Commissioner Bill Keegan was not satisfied in bringing an army football home with him from the Notre Dame-Army game in South Bend last Saturday.

He tried to take the Army's mule, too, but the animal became too fractious so Bill decided that it was safer to make the trip back home by train.

A number of local fight fans were disappointed when the Sammy Adragna-Charley Fusari match was cancelled last Monday night at Pittsburgh. The reason: Fusari injured his hand. Barney McGinley, of the fistic and football firm of Rooney and McGinley, informs us that the boys will get together in several weeks at the Gardens in Pittsburgh.

A baseball fan asks: "How many unassisted triple plays have been executed by major league players?"

Others were made by Paul Hines, Providence, 1878; Neal Ball, Cleveland, 1909; George H. Burns, Boston A. L., 1923; Ernest K. Padgett, Boston N. L., 1923; Glenn Wright, Pittsburgh, 1925; James E. Cooney, Chicago, N. L., 1927 and John H. Neun, Detroit, 1927.

What is believed to be the longest touchdown run made by a player in the tri-state district this season was executed on September 26 when Jack Rhoades of Parsons High School's Panthers dashed 105 yards for a scoree against Kingwood High School on the latter's field.

Paul Gallen wins the bet that Sammy Baugh has been playing professional football longer than Sid Luckman.

The record books show that Baugh's last year at Texas Christian University was 1936 and he was with the Washington Redskins in 1937. He's playing his 11th year as a pro.

Luckman now rounding out his ninth year in the pro ranks played his last year with Columbia in 1938 and broke in with the Chicago Bears in 1939.

Frank Colley, ye olde tyme baseball pitcher, who has been in there pitching for the Hagerstown Herald for many years, tells us that a pro football league will be formed next season and invitations will be offered to Hagerstown and Cumberland to enter teams.

Cumberland has been without a first rate independent eleven since Raymond "Ike" Law's Bulldogs of the 1920s.

And it was just 20 years ago (1927) that "Ike" turned out a humdinger of a basketball team at LaSalle.

In the last week's election Altoona (Pa.) voters approved Sunday afternoon sports and Sunday motion pictures but the latter issue was defeated everywhere else in Blair county. Sunday sports was only an issue in Altoona. The Sunday sports referendum received a majority of 1,728 votes.

Sunday sports and movies in Altoona will not be official for several weeks, however. Election routine calls for the results to be certified by the court following the official count. There is also a five-day waiting period in which objections may be filed.

Reds Annex Opener In Shuffleboard Loop

"Duby" Hamilton's Reds opened the Amvets inter-club shuffleboard league last night on the Amvets alley, before a large crowd. The Reds consisting of Gerdeman, Peddicord, Clark and Hamilton were too much for "Slick" Carters "Blues". The final score was "Reds" 145—"Blues" 117. Gerdeman was high score for the evening with 45 points. Carter paced the losers with 39 points.

Tonight at 9 p. m. the Greens play the Purple.

Local Legion Post Is Host At Meeting

Out-Of-Town Teams Invited To Attend

Steps will be taken at a meeting here tonight to reorganize the Interstate Basketball League which functioned with eight clubs during the 1946-47 campaign.

The session will be held at the home of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, and is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock.

It is hoped that more teams outside of Cumberland will be represented in the circuit this year to make it more evenly balanced. Last season five of the teams were from Cumberland—the Legion, Amvets, Moose, K. of C., and Fulton Myers Post. James P. Love Post, American Legion, Lonaconing, winner of the championship, Mt. Savage VFW and Paw Paw Legion were the other clubs represented in the circuit.

John Sloan, of Fort Cumberland Post, member of the committee in charge of reorganizing the circuit, stated last night that Westernport Post, American Legion; Knobley Mountain Post, American Legion of Ridgeley, and Keyser, Lonaconing and Frostburg are expected to have representatives at tonight's session in addition to spokesmen for the Amvets or V.F.W. and the Cumberland Legion. Other clubs not contacted also are urged to send representatives.

Sloan pointed out that the league started play early in December last year and if eight teams are lined up again they'll tackle a 28-game schedule commencing next month.

It is hoped to have an executive committee of five men head the circuit instead of naming a president and other officials.

Nearby Schools Invited To Game At Morgantown

Keyser, Parsons Are Among 25 Grid Teams

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 12—If past performances mean anything, West Virginia University will have all the odds in its favor Saturday in its homecoming clash with the University of Virginia at Mountaineer Field. In the four seasons Bill Kern has been at the helm—he was on military leave in 1943-44-45—the Mountaineers never have lost a homecoming game.

His first team in 1940 upset favored Kentucky in a mud battle, 9-7, and the following season Kansas was whipped, 21-0. Then in 1942 West Virginia pulled one of its biggest coups by drubbing previously unbeaten Penn State, 24-0. Last year Syracuse came here a heavy favorite but departed on the short end of a 13-0 score.

Altogether Kern's creations have dropped only two home games in four and a half seasons. One was in 1941 to Michigan State, 14-12, and the other to Kentucky last Saturday, 15-6.

Last Appeared In 1922

Since Kern has a knack of sharpening his teams to razor's edge for homecoming performances, there is increasing sentiment in West Virginia quarters that the Mountaineers will snap their three-game losing streak at the expense of the once-beaten Cavaliers. Some 20,000, including hundreds of old grads, will return to the campus to see the grid scrap which will mark Virginia's first appearance here since 1922 when Dr. Clarence Spears' undefeated team walloped the Old Dominion team, 13-0.

Spears and the members of his '22 squad will be on hand to celebrate the 25th anniversary of West Virginia's only unbeaten season in 55 years of grid competition.

Attendance will be boosted by some 25 high school squads which will be guests of the Mountaineer athletic department. Among the schools expected are Mount Hope, Elkins, Keyser, Kingwood, Bridgeport, Cairo, Parsons, Pennsboro, Pineville, Harrisville, Rowlesburg, Franklin, Ripley, Grantsville, Mannington, Monongah, Harpers Ferry and Linsly Institute (Wheeling).

Big Parade Scheduled

Many alumni will arrive early Friday for the torchlight parade and pre-game thuse. The parade, with over 30 fraternity and sorority floats, will move through downtown Morgantown at 6:15 p. m. Between halves Saturday, members of the '22 squad will be introduced and the homecoming queen selected by the student body will be crowned on the field.

On Saturday's heavy schedule is a cross country run between Art Smith's Mountaineer harriers and Virginia. This event will be at 11 a. m. at the Morgantown Country Club.

The winless West Virginia freshman gridders wind up their abbreviated schedule away from home, traveling to Fort Lefiance, Va., to play Augusta Military Academy Saturday.

IN FINAL GAME — Ralph "Meatball" Basilio, former Allegany High School player, will play his last game for Potomac State School tomorrow when the Cats take on West Virginia Tech for the conference championship at Keyser. Basilio has been seeing much action this year as a sophomore and for the past two years has been a standout lineman in conference play. He's the only Potomac lineman to score a touchdown this year, getting the six-pointer against Morris-Harvey on a runback of an intercepted pass. Ralph served in the Army Air Corps during the war.

Kramer Will Get $50,000 Annually For Turning Pro

Jack To Play Riggs In New York Dec. 26

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 —(AP)—Jack Kramer, twice national amateur singles tennis champion, today turned professional for an annual salary of $50,000, largest contract ever offered a tennis star.

Kramer will engage Bobby Riggs, national professional champion, in a tour opening in New York's Madison Square Garden Dec. 26. They will play from 50 to 60 matches on their tour, sponsored by Jack Harris, Chicago. The tour also will take them to South Africa, where Harris took Don Budge and Riggs last year on a profitable venture.

Snow, Rain, Gale Force Suspension Of Horse Racing

SALEM, N. H.,Nov. 12 (AP)—Horse racing at the two New England tracks, Rockingham Park in New Hampsire and Lincoln Downs in Rhode Island was cancelled today as a howling easterly rainstorm suddenly turned to snow.

Shortly after a rain and snow-laden gale ripped loose 30 feet of the rail at the new Lincoln Downs track and brought cancellation of the day's racing card, Rockingham Park was forced to suspend—with three races still uncompleted.

Officials at Rockingham, oldest of New England's four principal horse racing tracks, said it was the first time in the history of the track that racing had been cancelled there on account of snow.

They said that blinding snow swirling above a muddy track made visibility so poor and conditions so dangerous that it was decided to call the program off after the fifth race.

Pails Flies To U. S. To Turn Professional

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 12 —(AP)—Dinny Pails, Australia's No. 1 tennis player, flew to America today to turn professional, and was sped on his way by a sharp blast from one of the country's leading amateur officials.

"Australia amateur tennis is well rid of him," said Brian Fuller, president of the New South Wales Association. "All tennis administrators feel the same about Pails—they are sick of him.

"I think this is just another act of discourtesy on his part. Pails was chosen to play in an inter-state match starting next Wednesday. He also was to have played in the New South Wales championship next week. He must have known this morning at the latest that he was going."

The 26-year-old Pails, present holder of the Australian singles crown, said before his departure that he had not yet signed to play professionally, but that he expected to do so.

Humbird Bulldogs Win 10th Straight

The Humbird Street Bulldogs football team made it ten straight triumphs yesterday by defeating the Potomac Street Scribes by the score of 7 to 6 on Potomac Street Field.

Junior Richards' 40-yard pass to Lynn Beightol netted the Bulldogs' touchdown in the opening period and Dick Moore kicked the extra point.

Bobby Smith's 10-yard run around right end produced the Scribes' six-pointer.

Potomac State Must Win Final To Tie For Lead

Cats Are Favored Over Tech At Keyser Friday

Should the old jinx hold true, the Potomac State Catamounts will find themselves in a tie for the West Virginia Intercollegiate Football Conference crown when the dust clears from Friday's title contest with West Virginia Tech at Stayman Field in Keyser.

The Cats have not only beaten the Golden Bears in every game of their series but they haven't as yet been polite enough to allow this week's visitors to cross their goal line. State edged Tech 6-0 in the series opener and then added another win to their side of the ledger with a 7-0 conquest last year.

This final game is very important to Potomac State. Should the Cats win they will officially tie the West Liberty Hilltoppers for the conference title. However a league ruling may award Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's eleven undisputed possession of the flag because of their playing eight loop games to West Liberty's four.

Tech comes to Keyser tonight and tomorrow they will get a good look-see of Stayman Field. The Bears have dropped only one conference game in five starts, Morris Harvey providing a 14-13 upset. That loss came on the heels of a 25-0 smearing by the California Teachers, a team which squashed Potomac 26-6 last week.

The Loughmen are in a fair physical shape although changes may be made at quarterback and at center, depending on whether old injuries heal in time. "Barney" Walley may move in as signal caller and Jim White may handle the center spot.

14 Bag Turkeys In Hardy County

16-Pounder Sports 10 1-2 Inch Beard

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 12—Wild turkey kills reported to the West Virginia Conservation Commission this week brings the total for the 1947 season up to 14. Most of the kills have been reported from the Lost River and Capon Valley sections. Only a few birds have been bagged on the South Branch Valley side of the mountains.

Reports this week include Guy F. Ludwig, Mathias, a 16 pound gobbler on the opening day. The gobbler had a 10½-inch beard. Oscar Fitzwater and his son, John William Fitzwater, Moorefield, both killed 18 pound gobblers on Potato Row Mountain on November 7. O. L. Smith a 7½ pound hen on November 8 in Grant county just across the Hardy county line. Glenn Stump reports a 10 pound hen on November 1 on Elk Horn Mountain. Charlie Riggleman bagged a 12 pound gobbler November 1 up South Fork. E. E. Wilkins, Needmore, reports an 11 pound gobbler on Branch Mountain November 4. Winfed Tharp, Wardensville reports a 12 pound gobbler in Dutch Hollow. Warren Jenkins an 18½ pound gobbler on Baker's Mountain. Floyd Rinard a 12 pound hen on Baker's Mountain, Ervin Jenkins, Leetown, a 10 pound hen on Baker's Mountain, Bruce Shell, Lost City, a 10 pound hen on Little Ridge and Wheeler Wilkins, Jr., Inkerman, a 15 pound gobbler on Spring Lick Ridge.

The state law requires reports within 10 days giving date, place, time, name of the hunter, residence and whether the bird was a hen or a gobbler. Reports may be made to District Conservation Officer John Shanholtz, direct to the Commission or at the Moorefield Examiner office.

George Earnshaw, former star pitcher for the Athletics, is teaching youngsters in the Philadelphia Phillie farm system how to become better pitchers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP) — First football coach—"How did your team come out yesterday?"

Second football coach—"I don't know. I haven't seen the pictures yet."

That may be a little exaggeration, but anything is possible in these days when the mentors are doubling as movie crtics, peering at the camera's story of what happened to their team in their weekend encounters.

They have an easy choice in their reviews. Either the picture has an odor, if their team happened to lose, or it is colossal and will have a long run, particularly if their halfbacks had some of the same.

Anyway, the movie camera is both the blessing and the curse of football. It enables the coaches to spot defects in their team's play, which is good. And often as not it arouses controversies over official decisions and thus leaves a victory slightly tarnished, which is bad.

Last Saturday two games ended in sour notes. Ohio State defeated Northwestern, 7-6, in a game which saw the Buckeyes scoring the winning point about three minutes after the game should have been over, due to a series of offside penalties.

Georgia Tech scored its winning touchdown on Navy on a play which, Navy Coach Hamilton declares, was illegal. He saw it in the movies. He says Quarterback Jimmy Southard was not eligible to take the forward pass for the winning touchdown inasmuch as he was not a yard behind the ball when he took the original pass from center. Tech says the play was on the up-and-up. So take your choice.

There was a time, before movies became part of the equipment of every respectable football squad, when games were won or lost on the field. Officials might err, being human, but there was no proof of lasting nature that they did, and if a coach thought he had been given the small piece of the cake in an official decision he grumbled a little, then forgot about it. He'd have a hard time proving anything.

Now, with movies to back him up, he can yelp lustily, although in only one case, to our knowledge, did the pictorial history of a game have a bearing on the outcome.

That was the famous fifth-down incident of the Dartmouth-Cornell game of 1940, when through a miscalculation of Referee Red Friesell, Cornell scored its supposedly winning touchdown on the fifth down of a series. When Friesell saw movies of the game and was confronted with his mistake, he admitted it and Cornell promptly conceded that Dartmouth had won, 3 to 0, instead of losing, 7 to 3.

The Army-Columbia game earlier this year struck a discordant note when there was some argument as to whether Bill Swiacki, the Columbia end who fielded beautifully all afternoon, caught and had possession of a ball which gave the Lions their winning touchdown.

Both the Columbia and Army coaching staffs rushed to their projection rooms as quickly as possible, although they knew that what they might see would have no bearing on the outcome of the game. Columbia claimed the movies showed Swiacki made a legitimate catch. Army was noncommittall, but indicated it wasn't so sure.

Anyway, the movies have piled woes on the officials, who not only are second-guessed by the coaches and fans, but by the cameras as well. Every play is a photo-finish with them, so they'd better be right.

They're the only guys we know who get a screen test every Saturday afternoon.

Major League Status Is Sought By Coast Loop In Three Years

Circuit Asks Higher Rating Than Triple A

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(AP)—The Pacific Coast League has requested quick action from baseball's executive council to place it one step above its present triple A rating now and to give it major league status in three years, it was learned today.

From an authoritative baseball source, it also was learned that the coast loop has asked that it's name be changed to "The Pacific Coast Major League."

A special committee comprising Charles Graham, San Francisco; Victor Ford Collins, Hollywood; William Starr, San Diego; and Emil Sick, Seattle, has been named to confer with the executive council during the annual minor league meetings to be held in Miami, Dec. 3-5, in an effort to gain the following demands:

1—The name to be used at the start of next season to be the Pacific Coast Major League.

2—The creation of a new classification for the PCL—between the present triple A and the majors.

3—No elimination of draft selection regulations except that the draft price for the PCL be increased from $10,000 to $25,000 and the draft eligibility be raised from four to six years.

4—The PCL shall follow the major league in draft selection order and precede the two other triple A leagues, but will agree not to draft from the International League and American Association.

5—The agreement shall last three years at the end of which period the status of the PCL shall be revived for the purpose of taking the final step to full major league classification.

Williamsport Is 6-0 Winner Over Barton Booters

Bruce-Thurmont Battle Set For Hancock Today

Barton High School's soccer team was eliminated from Maryland's tournament for Class "D" schools when the up-creek eleven went down to defeat yesterday at the hands of a powerful Williamsport team at Hancock, Md., by the score of 6 to 0.

The victory gave the Washington county team which won state honors last year the championship of District No. 1, comprising Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties, for the 1947 campaign, and moved Coach Doub's eleven a step closer to another "D" title in Maryland.

Hanna, Anderson Star

The Billport team scored one or more field goals in every period and the game was played in Barton territory a greater part of the time. Hanna and Anderson formed such a perfect defensive combination in Williamsport fullback and halfback lines that Goalie Weaver handled only one chance during the game. Hanna's long distance booting was the best seen by the Barton boys this season.

Anderson and Kreps booted field goals to give Williamsport at 2-0 edge in the first quarter. Kline scored in the second period, Kreps and Morgan in the third stanza and Kreps racked up his third fielder of the game in the final canto.

Warnick played a good game at the uprights for Barton and handled at least 25 chances, many of them being torrid shots.

Bruce To Play Thurmont

Lamotta-Fox Bout May Draw $80,000

"Natural" Is Listed Friday At Garden

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—A fight "natural" coming up this Friday in Madison Square Garden has cut short a lot of sad talk over what's happening to the boxing business.

Blackjack Billy Fox, the Philadelphia knockout artist and anvil-chinned Jake Lamotta, the bruising Bronxite who never has been knocked off his feet, are slated to go 10 rounds but there are few experts who believe it will go the distance.

Fox, a 21-year-old light heavy, has had 50 pro fights. He has won 49 of them by putting his opponents to sleep. In the other he was flattened himself by 175-pound champion Gus Lesnevich in the tenth round.

Lamotta, a cocky, rugged middleweight, has never been slugged to the floor. A veteran, 26-year-old mauler who will fight anyone if the price is right, the confident Lamotta has had trouble getting action from other top-ranking battlers in his own 160-pound division.

As a result the 20th Century S. C. has been doing a rushing business and Sol Strauss, acting director of the organization in the absence of the ailing Mike Jacobs, is happily anticipating an $80,000 plus gate. Television and radio rights will add to that sum.

Gasparilla Captures $25,000 Added Race

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—A. J. Sackett's Gasparilla shook off a consistent habit of running second and galloped off with a seven-length victory in the 42nd running of the $25,000-added Walden at Pimlico today.

The chestnut son of Diavolo-Headtide took command on the stretch turn after Jockey Warren Mehrtens shook him up and widened the margin easily as the field of four two-year-olds pounded down to the wire in the mile and a sixteenth test. The winning time was 1:49 1-5, a creditable performance over the heavy, rain-soaked strip, and the payoff was $5.20 and $3.40.

Brookmead's Chains got off to a bad start and finished second to pay $4.40, and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's co-favored Newsweekly was third. Bobanet's Tenabob brought up the rear after setting the pace for the first half mile.

The victory was worth $21,450 to Gasparilla; $5,000 went to Chains, $2,500 to Newsweekly, and Tenabob picked up $1,250 for coming in fourth and last.

A crowd of 11,872 sent $959,730 through the mutuels during the eight-race program.

SIGNED BY DODGERS—Milton Neal, 20-year-old former Winthrop, Mass., high school baseball ace, will report for spring training with Nashua, N. H., Brooklyn Dodgers' farm team at Greenville, S. C. Young Neal is the first New England Negro to be affiliated with organized baseball.

Pimlico Track Features Longest Race In America

Pimlico Cup Today Will Be Two Miles

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 — (AP) — Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Halconero and Mill River Stable's Miss Grillo meet in a rubber match here tomorrow in the two-and-a-half-mile Pimlico Cup, longest race on an American track.

The $25,000 added event features the closing of the Pimlico meeting during which Miss Grillo and Halconero have each won a distance race. Bowie starts the last Maryland racing of the year on Friday.

Five other distance runners have been nominated for the Pimlico Cup, but Miss Grillo and Halconero overshadow the field.

The Mill River horse galloped to an easy win in the Governor Bowie, but was upset when Halconero romped to a ten-length victory in the exterminator last Saturday.

Conn McCreary will replace Eddie Arcaro on Miss Grillo who will carry 124 pounds, the same weight as last week.

Jockey Ruperto Donoso, who bought Halconero in South America for Vanderbilt, will be able to ride tomorrow since the handicap has been upped ten pounds to 115. He couldn't make the weight last Saturday.

Miss Grillo's stablemate, Grand Prince, Miss Margie Fisher's Shivaree, H. C. Boorse's Our Sensation, H. L. Straus' March Chick and the Lazy F Ranch's Calvados round out the field.

GRID LOOP PLAYOFF IS SET FOR DEC. 14

St'l in the running for the eastern title are the New York Yankees, with a record of eight wins and two losses, and the Buffalo Bills, with seven wins, three losses and one tie. Cleveland leads the Western group with nine victories and one defeat.

Starkey-Boone Bout Will Top Armory Card

Tressler May Fight Lewistown Battler

Amateur boxing returns to the spotlight in Cumberland next Monday night (November 17) when the Police Boys' Club presents a program of eight or more three-round bouts at the State Armory. Matchmaker John Henry Stitcher announced last night.

Stitcher said that in one of the two top matches on the card, Randall "Skeets" Starkey, local high school sensation of the past two seasons, will swap punches with Homer Boone, welterweight of the Lewistown (Pa.) Athletic Club.

An opponent is being sought for Johnny Tressler, local heavyweight, who will appear in the other half of the double windup. Ed Knepp, of Lewistown, Pa., will likely be Tressler's opponent.

Matchmaker Stitcher, who is promoting P. B. C. shows for the third season, for the benefit of boys' work in the community, said that local boxers will meet Lewistown scrappers in three or four matches and the remainder of the card will comprise talent from local clubs.

"There are a flock of newcomers who want to show their wares and I'm going to put them on if I can match them," Stitcher declared last evening.

Homer Boone, who is slated to fight Starkey, put up a great battle with the hard-hitting Brian Holsopple of Windber, Pa., in St. Mary's A. C. show which opened the 1947-48 season on Tuesday, September 16.

Stitcher announces that tickets are now on sale and he expressed the opinion that they should go fast inasmuch as the local fistic-loving public is craving action from the beak-busters after a two months' layoff.

The show will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Chuck Bednarik, Penn Star, Voted Lineman Of Week

Played Leading Role In Win Over Virginia

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(AP)—Chuck Bednarik, center on the University of Pennsylvania's unbeaten and untied football team, today won this week's award as lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll.

Bednarik's name was on the lips of virtually everyone who saw Saturday's Penn-Virginia clash in Philadelphia. He was the key factor in Penn's triumph with his vicious tackling and pass interceptions at the opportune moments. He twice halted Virginia threats on the one-yard line.

Art Guepe, Virginia coach, paid the Bethlehem, Pa., 220-pounder, compliments galore after the game.

"I think we would have scored more than twice—in fact, I feel sure of it—except for one man," Guepe said. "That Bednarik. We knew he was good, but we didn't believe any center in the country was that good."

Down in the southwest another snapperback, Joe Watson, of Rice, received high praise. After his performance against Arkansas, Arkansas Coach John Barnhill asserted "Watson is the best center we have seen all year."

Wash Serini, Kentucky tackle, made tackles all over the field against West Virginia and drew high praise for his spectacular play.

Others complimented included: Malachi Mills, Virginia Military tackle, for making nearly 70 per cent of the tackles against William and Mary; Quentin Sichels, Michigan guard, for "tearing Indiana backfield to pieces;" Russell Frizzell, Tulsa tackle who sparked his team to upset win over Oklahoma Aggies; and Ziggy Czaroboski, Notre Dame tackle, who "seemed to be making the tackle almost every time an Army back carried the ball."

Ocean Downs Plant Will Cost $500,000

SALISBURY, Md., Nov. 12—(AP)—Officers of Ocean Downs Racing Association today announced plans to start construction Monday of a $500,000 harness racing plant at Taylorville, three and a half miles west of Ocean City on the main highway to Salisbury.

Ocean Downs was one of three applicants to which the Maryland Racing Commission on Monday issued notice of its intention to grant a license for twenty days of harness racing next summer.

Plans for the track include a $150,000 concrete grandstand, $75,000 worth of barns, lighting equipment to cost $40,000 and a $11,500 building to house drivers.

The sponsors hope to have it completed by next June.

Bro. Declan Leads Band

Frostburg Talks Boxing

Rhoades' Run Is Longest

Sunday Sports Favored

By C. V. BURNS

Remember Brother Declan, former LaSalle High School baseball coach, and his big German police dog named "Zeke"?

Brother Gregory, director of athletics at LaSalle, gets the information via the grapevine that Brother Declan is now moderator of the St. John's College High School Band in Washington, D. C., and his musical outfit at the military school has been wowing 'em this season not only with their marching but with their Irish melodies and even jigs.

One of the band's top acts is the formation of members into four circles and their joining into one large circle. The lights in the stadium are doused and the band members wear lights to put on the stunt.

"Zeke" isn't there to help his master direct the show but Brother Declan hopes to come here soon to see the giant dog who is now being boarded in Ridgeley.

The Frostburg National Guard and Century Athletic Club have merged and hope to obtain a license from the South Atlantic Association of the A. A. U. to stage amateur fistic shows in the Mountain City this winter. Harry Frost, trainer of boxers, and publicity man for Frostburg's Softball League last summer, will be the matchmaker. Funds will go to the Frostburg Playground Association.

Shows will be staged at St. Michael's Hall.

Police Commissioner Bill Keegan was not satisfied in bringing an army football home with him from the Notre Dame-Army game in South Bend last Saturday.

He tried to take the Army's mule, too, but the animal became too fractious so Bill decided that it was safer to make the trip back home by train.

A number of local fight fans were disappointed when the Sammy Adragna-Charley Fusari match was cancelled last Monday night at Pittsburgh. The reason: Fusari injured his hand. Barney McGinley, of the fistic and football firm of Rooney and McGinley, informs us that the boys will get together in several weeks at the Gardens in Pittsburgh.

A baseball fan asks: "How many unassisted triple plays have been executed by major league players?"

Others were made by Paul Hines, Providence, 1878; Neal Ball, Cleveland, 1909; George H. Burns, Boston A. L., 1923; Ernest K. Padgett, Boston N. L., 1923; Glenn Wright, Pittsburgh, 1925; James E. Cooney, Chicago, N. L., 1927 and John H. Neun, Detroit, 1927.

What is believed to be the longest touchdown run made by a player in the tri-state district this season was executed on September 26 when Jack Rhoades of Parsons High School's Panthers dashed 105 yards for a scoree against Kingwood High School on the latter's field.

Paul Gallen wins the bet that Sammy Baugh has been playing professional football longer than Sid Luckman.

The record books show that Baugh's last year at Texas Christian University was 1936 and he was with the Washington Redskins in 1937. He's playing his 11th year as a pro.

Luckman now rounding out his ninth year in the pro ranks played his last year with Columbia in 1938 and broke in with the Chicago Bears in 1939.

Frank Colley, ye olde tyme baseball pitcher, who has been in there pitching for the Hagerstown Herald for many years, tells us that a pro football league will be formed next season and invitations will be offered to Hagerstown and Cumberland to enter teams.

Cumberland has been without a first rate independent eleven since Raymond "Ike" Law's Bulldogs of the 1920s.

And it was just 20 years ago (1927) that "Ike" turned out a humdinger of a basketball team at LaSalle.

In the last week's election Altoona (Pa.) voters approved Sunday afternoon sports and Sunday motion pictures but the latter issue was defeated everywhere else in Blair county. Sunday sports was only an issue in Altoona. The Sunday sports referendum received a majority of 1,728 votes.

Sunday sports and movies in Altoona will not be official for several weeks, however. Election routine calls for the results to be certified by the court following the official count. There is also a five-day waiting period in which objections may be filed.

Reds Annex Opener In Shuffleboard Loop

"Duby" Hamilton's Reds opened the Amvets inter-club shuffleboard league last night on the Amvets alley, before a large crowd. The Reds consisting of Gerdeman, Peddicord, Clark and Hamilton were too much for "Slick" Carters "Blues". The final score was "Reds" 145—"Blues" 117. Gerdeman was high score for the evening with 48 points. Carter paced the losers with 39 points.

Tonight at 9 p. m. the Greens play the Purple.

Interstate Cage Loop Reorganizes Tonight

Local Legion Post Is Host At Meeting

Out-Of-Town Teams Invited To Attend

Steps will be taken at a meeting here tonight to reorganize the Interstate Basketball League which functioned with eight clubs during the 1946-47 campaign.

The session will be held at the home of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, and is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock.

It is hoped that more teams outside of Cumberland will be represented in the circuit this year to make it more evenly balanced. Last season five of the teams were from Cumberland—the Legion, Amvets, Moose, K. of C., and Fulton Myers Post. James P. Love Post, American Legion, Lonaconing, winner of the championship, Mt. Savage VFW and Paw Paw Legion were the other clubs represented in the circuit.

John Sloan, of Fort Cumberland Post, member of the committee in charge of reorganizing the circuit, stated last night that Westernport Post, American Legion; Knobley Mountain Post, American Legion of Ridgeley, and Keyser, Lonaconing and Frostburg are expected to have representatives at tonight's session in addition to spokesmen for the Amvets or V.F.W. and the Cumberland Legion. Other clubs not contacted also are urged to send representatives.

Sloan pointed out that the league started play early in December last year and if eight teams are lined up again they'll tackle a 28-game schedule commencing next month.

It is hoped to have an executive committee of five men head the circuit instead of naming a president and other officials.

Nearby Schools Invited To Game At Morgantown

Keyser, Parsons Among 25 Grid Teams

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 12—If past performances mean anything, West Virginia University will have all the odds in its favor Saturday in its homecoming clash with the University of Virginia at Mountaineer Field. In the four seasons Bill Kern has been at the helm—he was on military leave in 1943-44-45—the Mountaineers never have lost a homecoming game.

His first team in 1940 upset favored Kentucky in a mud battle, 9-7, and the following season Kansas was whipped, 21-0. Then in 1942 West Virginia pulled one of its biggest coups by drubbing previously unbeaten Penn State, 24-0. Last year Syracuse came here a heavy favorite but departed on the short end of a 13-0 score.

Altogether Kern's creations have dropped only two home games in four and a half seasons. One was in 1941 to Michigan State, 14-12, and the other to Kentucky last Saturday, 15-6.

Last Appeared In 1922

Since Kern has a knack of sharpening his teams to razor's edge for homecoming performances, there is increasing sentiment in West Virginia quarters that the Mountaineers will snap their three-game losing streak at the expense of the once-beaten Cavaliers. Some 20,000, including hundreds of old grads, will return to the campus to see the grid scrap which will mark Virginia's first appearance here since 1922 when Dr. Clarence Spears' undefeated team walloped the Old Dominion team, 13-0.

Spears and the members of his '22 squad will be on hand to celebrate the 25th anniversary of West Virginia's only unbeaten season in 55 years of grid competition.

Attendance will be boosted by some 25 high school squads which will be guests of the Mountaineer athletic department. Among the schools expected are Mount Hope, Elkins, Keyser, Kingwood, Bridgeport, Cairo, Parsons, Pennsboro, Pineville, Harrisville, Rowlesburg, Franklin, Ripley, Grantsville, Mannington, Monongah, Harpers Ferry and Linsly Institute (Wheeling).

Big Parade Scheduled

Many alumni will arrive early Friday for the torchlight parade and pre-game thuse. The parade, with over 30 fraternity and sorority floats, will move through downtown Morgantown at 6:15 p. m. Between halves Saturday, members of the '22 squad will be introduced and the homecoming queen selected by the student body will be crowned on the field.

On Saturday's heavy schedule is a cross country run between Art Smith's Mountaineer harriers and Virginia. This event will be at 11 a. m. at the Morgantown Country Club.

The winless West Virginia freshman gridders wind up their abbreviated schedule away from home, traveling to Fort Lefiance, Va., to play Augusta Military Academy Saturday.

IN FINAL GAME — Ralph "Meatball" Basilio, former Allegany High School player, will play his last game for Potomac State School tomorrow when the Cats take on West Virginia Tech for the conference championship at Keyser. Basilio has been seeing much action this year as a sophomore and for the past two years has been a standout lineman in conference play. He's the only Potomac lineman to score a touchdown this year, getting the six-pointer against Morris-Harvey on a runback of an intercepted pass. Ralph served in the Army Air Corps during the war.

Kramer Will Get $50,000 Annually For Turning Pro

Jack To Play Riggs In New York Dec. 26

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 —(AP)—Jack Kramer, twice national amateur singles tennis champion, today turned professional for an annual salary of $50,000, largest contract ever offered a tennis star.

Kramer will engage Bobby Riggs, national professional champion, in a tour opening in New York's Madison Square Garden Dec. 26. They will play from 50 to 60 matches on their tour, sponsored by Jack Harris, Chicago. The tour also will take them to South Africa, where Harris took Don Budge and Riggs last year on a profitable venture.

Snow, Rain, Gale Force Suspension Of Horse Racing

SALEM, N. H.,Nov. 12 (AP)—Horse racing at the two New England tracks, Rockingham Park in New Hampsire and Lincoln Downs in Rhode Island was cancelled today as a howling easterly rainstorm suddenly turned to snow.

Shortly after a rain and snow-laden gale ripped loose 30 feet of the rail at the new Lincoln Downs track and brought cancellation of the day's racing card, Rockingham Park was forced to suspend—with three races still uncompleted.

Officials at Rockingham, oldest of New England's four principal horse racing tracks, said it was the first time in the history of the track that racing had been cancelled there on account of snow.

They said that blinding snow swirling above a muddy track made visibility so poor and conditions so dangerous that it was decided to call the program off after the fifth race.

Pails Flies To U. S. To Turn Professional

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 12 —(AP)—Dinny Pails, Australia's No. 1 tennis player, flew to America today to turn professional, and was sped on his way by a sharp blast from one of the country's leading amateur officials.

"Australia amateur tennis is well rid of him," said Brian Fuller, president of the New South Wales Association. "All tennis administrators feel the same about Pails—they are sick of him.

"I think this is just another act of discourtesy on his part. Pails was chosen to play in an inter-state match starting next Wednesday. He also was to have played in the New South Wales championship next week. He must have known this morning at the latest that he was going."

The 26-year-old Pails, present holder of the Australian singles crown, said before his departure that he had not yet signed to play professionally, but that he expected to do so.

Humbird Bulldogs Win 10th Straight

The Humbird Street Bulldogs football team made it ten straight triumphs yesterday by defeating the Potomac Street Scribes by the score of 7 to 6 on Potomac Street Field.

Junior Richards' 40-yard pass to Lynn Beightol netted the Bulldogs' touchdown in the opening period and Dick Moore kicked the extra point.

Bobby Smith's 10-yard run around right end produced the Scribes' six-pointer.

Potomac State Must Win Final To Tie For Lead

Cats Are Favored Over Tech At Keyser Friday

Should the old jinx hold true, the Potomac State Catamounts will find themselves in a tie for the West Virginia Intercollegiate Football Conference crown when the dust clears from Friday's title contest with West Virginia Tech at Stayman Field in Keyser.

The Cats have not only beaten the Golden Bears in every game of their series but they haven't as yet been polite enough to allow this week's visitors to cross their goal line. State edged Tech 6-0 in the series opener and then added another win to their side of the ledger with a 7-0 conquest last year.

This final game is very important to Potomac State. Should the Cats win they will officially tie the West Liberty Hilltoppers for the conference title. However a league ruling may award Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's eleven undisputed possession of the flag because of their playing eight loop games to West Liberty's four.

Tech comes to Keyser tonight and tomorrow they will get a good look-see of Stayman Field. The Bears have dropped only one conference game in five starts, Morris Harvey providing a 14-13 upset. That loss came on the heels of a 25-0 smearing by the California Teachers, a team which squashed Potomac 26-6 last week.

The Loughmen are in a fair physical shape although changes may be made at quarterback and at center, depending on whether old injuries heal in time. "Barney" Walley may move in as signal caller and Jim White may handle the center spot.

16-Pounder Sports 10 1-2 Inch Beard

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 12—Wild turkey kills reported to the West Virginia Conservation Commission this week brings the total for the 1947 season up to 14. Winfed Tharp, Wardensville reports a 12 pound gobbler in Dutch Hollow. Warren Jenkins an 18½ pound gobbler on Baker's Mountain. Floyd Rinard a 12 pound hen on Baker's Mountain, Ervin Jenkins, Leetown, a 10 pound hen on Baker's Mountain, Bruce Shell, Lost City, a 10 pound hen on Little Ridge and Wheeler Wilkins, Jr., Inkerman, a 15 pound gobbler on Spring Lick Ridge.

The state law requires reports within 10 days giving date, place, time, name of the hunter, residence and whether the bird was a hen or a gobbler. Reports may be made to District Conservation Officer John Shanholtz, direct to the Commission or at the Moorefield Examiner office.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP) — First football coach—"How did your team come out yesterday?"

Second football coach—"I don't know. I haven't seen the pictures yet."

That may be a little exaggeration, but anything is possible in these days when the mentors are doubling as movie crtics, peering at the camera's story of what happened to their team in their weekend encounters.

They have an easy choice in their reviews. Either the picture has an odor, if their team happened to lose, or it is colossal and will have a long run, particularly if their halfbacks had some of the same.

Anyway, the movie camera is both the blessing and the curse of football. It enables the coaches to spot defects in their team's play, which is good. And often as not it arouses controversies over official decisions and thus leaves a victory slightly tarnished, which is bad.

Last Saturday two games ended in sour notes. Ohio State defeated Northwestern, 7-6, in a game which saw the Buckeyes scoring the winning point about three minutes after the game should have been over, due to a series of offside penalties.

Georgia Tech scored its winning touchdown on Navy on a play which, Navy Coach Hamilton declares, was illegal. He saw it in the movies. He says Quarterback Jimmy Southard was not eligible to take the forward pass for the winning touchdown inasmuch as he was not a yard behind the ball when he took the original pass from center. Tech says the play was on the up-and-up. So take your choice.

There was a time, before movies became part of the equipment of every respectable football squad, when games were won or lost on the field. Officials might err, being human, but there was no proof of lasting nature that they did, and if a coach thought he had been given the small piece of the cake in an official decision he grumbled a little, then forgot about it. He'd have a hard time proving anything.

Now, with movies to back him up, he can yelp lustily, although in only one case, to our knowledge, did the pictorial history of a game have a bearing on the outcome.

That was the famous fifth-down incident of the Dartmouth-Cornell game of 1940, when through a miscalculation of Referee Red Friesell, Cornell scored its supposedly winning touchdown on the fifth down of a series. When Friesell saw movies of the game and was confronted with his mistake, he admitted it and Cornell promptly conceded that Dartmouth had won, 3 to 0, instead of losing, 7 to 3.

The Army-Columbia game earlier this year struck a discordant note when there was some argument as to whether Bill Swiacki, the Columbia end who fielded beautifully all afternoon, caught and had possession of a ball which gave the Lions their winning touchdown.

Both the Columbia and Army coaching staffs rushed to their projection rooms as quickly as possible, although they knew that what they might see would have no bearing on the outcome of the game. Columbia claimed the movies showed Swiacki made a legitimate catch. Army was noncommittall, but indicated it wasn't so sure.

Anyway, the movies have piled woes on the officials, who not only are second-guessed by the coaches and fans, but by the cameras as well. Every play is a photo-finish with them, so they'd better be right.

They're the only guys we know who get a screen test every Saturday afternoon.

Major League Status Is Sought By Coast Loop In Three Years

Circuit Asks Higher Rating Than Triple A

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(AP)—The Pacific Coast League has requested quick action from baseball's executive council to place it one step above its present triple A rating now and to give it major league status in three years, it was learned today.

From an authoritative baseball source, it also was learned that the coast loop has asked that it's name be changed to "The Pacific Coast Major League."

A special committee comprising Charles Graham, San Francisco; Victor Ford Collins, Hollywood; William Starr, San Diego; and Emil Sick, Seattle, has been named to confer with the executive council during the annual minor league meetings to be held in Miami, Dec. 3-5, in an effort to gain the following demands:

1—The name to be used at the start of next season to be the Pacific Coast Major League.

2—The creation of a new classification for the PCL—between the present triple A and the majors.

3—No elimination of draft selection regulations except that the draft price for the PCL be increased from $10,000 to $25,000 and the draft eligibility be raised from four to six years.

4—The PCL shall follow the major league in draft selection order and precede the two other triple A leagues, but will agree not to draft from the International League and American Association.

5—The agreement shall last three years at the end of which period the status of the PCL shall be revived for the purpose of taking the final step to full major league classification.

Williamsport Is 6-0 Winner Over Barton Booters

Bruce-Thurmont Battle Set For Hancock Today

Barton High School's soccer team was eliminated from Maryland's tournament for Class "D" schools when the up-creek eleven went down to defeat yesterday at the hands of a powerful Williamsport team at Hancock, Md., by the score of 6 to 0.

The victory gave the Washington county team which won state honors last year the championship of District No. 1, comprising Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties, for the 1947 campaign, and moved Coach Doub's eleven a step closer to another "D" title in Maryland.

Hanna, Anderson Star

The Billport team scored one or more field goals in every period and the game was played in Barton territory a greater part of the time. Hanna and Anderson formed such a perfect defensive combination in Williamsport fullback and halfback lines that Goalie Weaver handled only one chance during the game. Hanna's long distance booting was the best seen by the Barton boys this season.

Anderson and Kreps booted field goals to give Williamsport at 2-0 edge in the first quarter. Kline scored in the second period, Kreps and Morgan in the third stanza and Kreps racked up his third fielder of the game in the final canto.

Warnick played a good game at the uprights for Barton and handled at least 25 chances, many of them being torrid shots.

Bruce To Play Thurmont

Bruce High School of Westernport, Allegany county's entry in the Class "C" tourney will battle Thurmont of Frederick county today at 2 p. m. at Hancock for the District No. 1 title. These teams were rained out on Tuesday.

Yesterday's lineups:

Lamotta-Fox Bout May Draw $80,000

"Natural" Is Listed Friday At Garden

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—A fight "natural" coming up this Friday in Madison Square Garden has cut short a lot of sad talk over what's happening to the boxing business.

Blackjack Billy Fox, the Philadelphia knockout artist and anvil-chinned Jake Lamotta, the bruising Bronxite who never has been knocked off his feet, are slated to go 10 rounds but there are few experts who believe it will go the distance.

Fox, a 21-year-old light heavy, has had 50 pro fights. He has won 49 of them by putting his opponents to sleep. In the other he was flattened himself by 175-pound champion Gus Lesnevich in the tenth round.

Lamotta, a cocky, rugged middleweight, has never been slugged to the floor. A veteran, 26-year-old mauler who will fight anyone if the price is right, the confident Lamotta has had trouble getting action from other top-ranking battlers in his own 160-pound division.

As a result the 20th Century S. C. has been doing a rushing business and Sol Strauss, acting director of the organization in the absence of the ailing Mike Jacobs, is happily anticipating an $80,000 plus gate. Television and radio rights will add to that sum.

Gasparilla Captures $25,000 Added Race

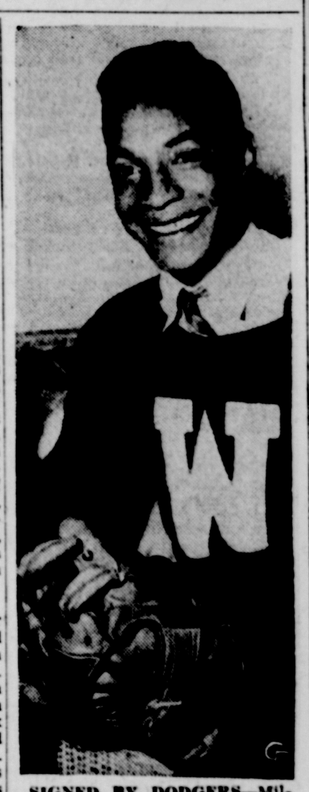

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—A. J. Sackett's Gasparilla shook off a consistent habit of running second and galloped off with a seven-length victory in the 42nd running of the $25,000-added Walden at Pimlico today.

The chestnut son of Diavolo-Headtide took command on the stretch turn after Jockey Warren Mehrtens shook him up and widened the margin easily as the field of four two-year-olds pounded down to the wire in the mile and a sixteenth test. The winning time was 1:49 1-5, a creditable performance over the heavy, rain-soaked strip, and the payoff was $5.20 and $3.40.

Brookmead's Chains got off to a bad start and finished second to pay $4.40, and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's co-favored Newsweekly was third. Bobanet's Tenabob brought up the rear after setting the pace for the first half mile.

The victory was worth $21,450 to Gasparilla; $5,000 went to Chains, $2,500 to Newsweekly, and Tenabob picked up $1,250 for coming in fourth and last.

A crowd of 11,372 sent $959,730 through the mutuels during the eight-race program.

SIGNED BY DODGERS—Milton Neal, 20-year-old former Winthrop, Mass., high school baseball ace, will report for spring training with Nashua, N. H., Brooklyn Dodgers' farm team at Greenville, S. C. Young Neal is the first New England Negro to be affiliated with organized baseball.

Pimlico Track Features Longest Race In America

Pimlico Cup Today Will Be Two Miles

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 — (AP) — Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Halconero and Mill River Stable's Miss Grillo meet in a rubber match here tomorrow in the two-and-a-half-mile Pimlico Cup, longest race on an American track.

The $25,000 added event features the closing of the Pimlico meeting during which Miss Grillo and Halconero have each won a distance race. Bowie starts the last Maryland racing of the year on Friday.

Five other distance runners have been nominated for the Pimlico Cup, but Miss Grillo and Halconero overshadow the field.

The Mill River horse galloped to an easy win in the Governor Bowie, but was upset when Halconero romped to a ten-length victory in the exterminator last Saturday.

Conn McCreary will replace Eddie Arcaro on Miss Grillo who will carry 124 pounds, the same weight as last week.

Jockey Ruperto Donoso, who bought Halconero in South America for Vanderbilt, will be able to ride tomorrow since the handicap has been upped ten pounds to 115. He couldn't make the weight last Saturday.

Miss Grillo's stablemate, Grand Prince, Miss Margie Fisher's Shivaree, H. C. Boorse's Our Sensation, H. L. Straus' March Chick and the Lazy F Ranch's Calvados round out the field.

GRID LOOP PLAYOFF IS SET FOR DEC. 14

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The play-off between the winners in the Eastern and Western divisions of the All-America Football Conference will be held either here or in Buffalo on December 14, it was announced after a meeting of club representatives here today.

St'l in the running for the eastern title are the New York Yankees, with a record of eight wins and two losses, and the Buffalo Bills, with seven wins, three losses and one tie. Cleveland leads the Western group with nine victories and one defeat.

Starkey-Boone Bout Will Top Armory Card

Tressler May Fight Lewistown Battler

Amateur boxing returns to the spotlight in Cumberland next Monday night (November 17) when the Police Boys' Club presents a program of eight or more three-round bouts at the State Armory, Matchmaker John Henry Stitcher announced last night.

Stitcher said that in one of the two top matches on the card, Randall "Skeets" Starkey, local high school sensation of the past two seasons, will swap punches with Homer Boone, welterweight of the Lewistown (Pa.) Athletic Club.

An opponent is being sought for Johnny Tressler, local heavyweight, who will appear in the other half of the double windup. Ed Knepp, of Lewistown, Pa., will likely be Tressler's opponent.

Matchmaker Stitcher, who is promoting P. B. C. shows for the third season, for the benefit of boys' work in the community, said that local boxers will meet Lewistown scrappers in three or four matches and the remainder of the card will comprise talent from local clubs.

"There are a flock of newcomers who want to show their wares and I'm going to put them on if I can match them," Stitcher declared last evening.

Homer Boone, who is slated to fight Starkey, put up a great battle with the hard-hitting Brian Holsopple of Windber, Pa., in St. Mary's A. C. show which opened the 1947-48 season on Tuesday, September 16.

Stitcher announces that tickets are now on sale and he expressed the opinion that they should go fast inasmuch as the local fistic-loving public is craving action from the beak-busters after a two months' layoff.

The show will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Chuck Bednarik, Penn Star, Voted Lineman Of Week

Played Leading Role In Win Over Virginia

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(AP)—Chuck Bednarik, center on the University of Pennsylvania's unbeaten and untied football team, today won this week's award as lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll.

Bednarik's name was on the lips of virtually everyone who saw Saturday's Penn-Virginia clash in Philadelphia. He was the key factor in Penn's triumph with his vicious tackling and pass interceptions at the opportune moments. He twice halted Virginia threats on the one-yard line.

Art Guepe, Virginia coach, paid the Bethlehem, Pa., 220-pounder, compliments galore after the game.

"I think we would have scored more than twice—in fact, I feel sure of it—except for one man," Guepe said. "That Bednarik. We knew he was good, but we didn't believe any center in the country was that good."

Down in the southwest another snapperback, Joe Watson, of Rice, received high praise. After his performance against Arkansas, Arkansas Coach John Barnhill asserted "Watson is the best center we have seen all year."

Wash Serini, Kentucky tackle, made tackles all over the field against West Virginia and drew high praise for his spectacular play.

Others complimented included: Malachi Mills, Virginia Military tackle, for making nearly 70 per cent of the tackles against William and Mary; Quentin Sichels, Michigan guard, for "tearing Indiana backfield to pieces;" Russell Frizzell, Tulsa tackle who sparked his team to upset win over Oklahoma Aggies; and Ziggy Czaroboski, Notre Dame tackle, who "seemed to be making the tackle almost every time an Army back carried the ball."

Ocean Downs Plant Will Cost $500,000

SALISBURY, Md., Nov. 12—(AP)—Officers of Ocean Downs Racing Association today announced plans to start construction Monday of a $500,000 harness racing plant at Taylorville, three and a half miles west of Ocean City on the main highway to Salisbury.

Ocean Downs was one of three applicants to which the Maryland Racing Commission on Monday issued notice of its intention to grant a license for twenty days of harness racing next summer.

Plans for the track include a $150,000 concrete grandstand, $75,000 worth of barns, lighting equipment to cost $40,000 and a $11,500 building to house drivers.

The sponsors hope to have it completed by next June.

Coley Welch Injured

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 12—(AP)—Coley Welch, former New England middleweight boxing champion, and Martin Foley, 23, both of Portland, were slightly injured today when their automobile skidded during a rainstorm, knocked down a parking meter and crashed into a store.

Welch's nose was lacerated and Foley's right ear and leg were cut.

A Rugged Career

So far as excitement, thrills, bitter disappointments, surging hopes and hopeless odds might go, no coach in the country even approaches the record of Captain Tom Hamilton who handles the Navy squad.

Captain Tom, a rugged individual with unusual charm, found his first thrills on the aircraft carrier Enterprise in the late war, where his ship was bombed, torpedoed and otherwise assaulted in the Pacific. Both Hamilton and his ship had a brilliant record. He was brought back to handle a sadly depleted Navy squad a year ago.

Navy won its first game in 1946 against Villanova, and lost all the others, finishing with a great stand against an Army team that had Davis, Blanchard and Tucker enrolled. Hamilton's team needed only one final play for victory.

This season, undermanned Navy drew this schedule—California, Columbia, Duke, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Georgia Tech, Penn State and Army. California has lost only one game. Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Georgia Tech and Penn State haven't been beaten or tied. Columbia and Army are high up in the nation's ranking.

This was a terrific schedule for any team—Michigan, Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Southern California or Texas. It was far beyond the reach of a young Navy team with its limited football personnel. Yet as Navy was bowled over week after week, it always came back fighting, giving all it had left. There were no breathing spots in Navy's schedule.

Now Navy has unbeaten and untied Penn State left—plus Army, its traditional rival. Hamilton wrote me before the first game was played that Navy was not equipped with material or manpower to face this schedule. "But there it is," he said. "We'll give all we have."

Both Tom Hamilton and Navy have given all they had. Both have set a record for courage—of battling against odds since the season opened. But there isn't too much fun, especially for Navy, in being knocked down week after week, struggling desperately to win one game each year.

Everyone seems to realize this except those handling the destinies of Navy football—who don't have to take the weekly beatings.

Navy's Vital Weakness

Just as the war broke out, Navy called Swede Hagberg, a brilliant submarine commander, to handle an all-star squad. Swede Hagberg is high on anyone's list as a submarine commanded. He was completely bewildered at Annapolis with such men as Jenkins, Kelly, Hoernschemeyer, Minisi, Scott, Whitmire, Demaree, Smackover Scott, three stars from Texas, and too many others to mention.

Hagberg was one of the ablest of all submarine Commanders. He was not a football coach.

Wallace Wade, a great coach for 15 years, lost two or three coaching years as an artillery major. "I'm so far behind," he told me, "that it will take at least three years to catch up." Other veteran coaches have told me the same thing. You can drop out two years in this modern coaching pace—and come back lost in a fog.

Hagberg never had a chance. Then Tom Hamilton was brought in. Hamilton had been away from football action for many years. He never had a chance against such men as Frank Leahy, Fritz Crisler, Lou Little, Red Blaik, George Munger and many more I could mention.

As smart and as able as Tom Hamilton is, he will need at least two more years to have his chance—to get his feet on the ground and match the Leahy's and the Crislers—and even then he won't have their material.

The five admirals I talked with at the last Army-Navy game told me they were going to stick to their present system—three years—and then back to Navy service—with a new man in. This may look to be a happy plan—but it won't work. Not a chance in the world.

I would vote 100 per cent to keep Tom Hamilton on the job. He will be better in 1948, and much better in 1949. But to yank him out and bring in another Navy man means Navy suicide.

It may be Tom Hamilton wants Navy service in place of coaching later on. I wouldn't know about that. But Hamilton now is just beginning to get his grip.

Red Blaik, at Army, has been coaching for over twenty years—Army, Dartmouth and back to Army again. Red is a high-class professional coach with long experience.

Navy is the only football squad that keeps changing coaches. They are out of the job just as they are finding what it is all about.

They tell me from Annapolis that Navy won't have a professional coach—or keep such a man as Hamilton in, after his three years of football service. This is all right if the admrials and the leading Navy officials get a kick out of seeing young midshipmen, knocked down and hammered around week after week. I don't think they do.

I hate to write this but I think, as far as football goes, they are too dumb to understand what is taking place. The record of the last three years should be all they need to think a few things over. Football coaching today is just as much a science, a matter of experience, as handling a battleship or any form of Navy craft.

The time is about due for Navy to stop banking on miracles—and give some coach at least an outside chance.

A Rugged Career

So far as excitement, thrills, bitter disappointments, surging hopes and hopeless odds might go, no coach in the country even approaches the record of Captain Tom Hamilton who handles the Navy squad.

Captain Tom, a rugged individual with unusual charm, found his first thrills on the aircraft carrier Enterprise in the late war, where his ship was bombed, torpedoed and otherwise assaulted in the Pacific. Both Hamilton and his ship had a brilliant record. He was brought back to handle a sadly depleted Navy squad a year ago.

Navy won its first game in 1946 against Villanova, and lost all the others, finishing with a great stand against an Army team that had Davis, Blanchard and Tucker enrolled. Hamilton's team needed only one final play for victory.

This season, undermanned Navy drew this schedule—California, Columbia, Duke, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Georgia Tech, Penn State and Army. California has lost only one game. Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Georgia Tech and Penn State haven't been beaten or tied. Columbia and Army are high up in the nation's ranking.

This was a terrific schedule for any team—Michigan, Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Southern California or Texas. It was far beyond the reach of a young Navy team with its limited football personnel. Yet as Navy was bowled over week after week, it always came back fighting, giving all it had left. There were no breathing spots in Navy's schedule.

Now Navy has unbeaten and untied Penn State left—plus Army, its traditional rival. Hamilton wrote me before the first game was played that Navy was not equipped with material or manpower to face this schedule. "But there it is," he said. "We'll give all we have."

Both Tom Hamilton and Navy have given all they had. Both have set a record for courage—of battling against odds since the season opened. But there isn't too much fun, especially for Navy, in being knocked down week after week, struggling desperately to win one game each year.

Everyone seems to realize this except those handling the destinies of Navy football—who don't have to take the weekly beatings.

Navy's Vital Weakness

Just as the war broke out, Navy called Swede Hagberg, a brilliant submarine commander, to handle an all-star squad. Swede Hagberg is high on anyone's list as a submarine commanded. He was completely bewildered at Annapolis with such men as Jenkins, Kelly, Hoernschemeyer, Minisi, Scott, Whitmire, Demaree, Smackover Scott, three stars from Texas, and too many others to mention.

Hagberg was one of the ablest of all submarine Commanders. He was not a football coach.

Wallace Wade, a great coach for 15 years, lost two or three coaching years as an artillery major. "I'm so far behind," he told me, "that it will take at least three years to catch up." Other veteran coaches have told me the same thing. You can drop out two years in this modern coaching pace—and come back lost in a fog.

Hagberg never had a chance. Then Tom Hamilton was brought in. Hamilton had been away from football action for many years. He never had a chance against such men as Frank Leahy, Fritz Crisler, Lou Little, Red Blaik, George Munger and many more I could mention.

As smart and as able as Tom Hamilton is, he will need at least two more years to have his chance—to get his feet on the ground and match the Leahy's and the Crislers—and even then he won't have their material.

The five admirals I talked with at the last Army-Navy game told me they were going to stick to their present system—three years—and then back to Navy service—with a new man in. This may look to be a happy plan—but it won't work. Not a chance in the world.

I would vote 100 per cent to keep Tom Hamilton on the job. He will be better in 1948, and much better in 1949. But to yank him out and bring in another Navy man means Navy suicide.

It may be Tom Hamilton wants Navy service in place of coaching later on. I wouldn't know about that. But Hamilton now is just beginning to get his grip.

Red Blaik, at Army, has been coaching for over twenty years—Army, Dartmouth and back to Army again. Red is a high-class professional coach with long experience.

Navy is the only football squad that keeps changing coaches. They are out of the job just as they are finding what it is all about.

They tell me from Annapolis that Navy won't have a professional coach—or keep such a man as Hamilton in, after his three years of football service. This is all right if the admrials and the leading Navy officials get a kick out of seeing young midshipmen, knocked down and hammered around week after week. I don't think they do.

I hate to write this but I think, as far as football goes, they are too dumb to understand what is taking place. The record of the last three years should be all they need to think a few things over. Football coaching today is just as much a science, a matter of experience, as handling a battleship or any form of Navy craft.

The time is about due for Navy to stop banking on miracles—and give some coach at least an outside chance.

Annual Service Will Be Held By Ministerial Group

Plan To Buy Oxygen Tent For Hospital

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Nov. 12—The annual community Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Frostburg Ministerial Association, will be held Thursday, November 27, at 10:30 a. m., in Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, Broadway. Rev. John Cameron Taylor, who recently became pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will preach the sermon and Rev. George L. Wehler, pastor of Salem Church, will conduct the service.

It was announced today by Rev. J. H. Liesmann, president of the Ministerial Association, that the offering received at the Thanksgiving service would be given for another oxygen tent at Miners' Hospital.

The purchase of an oxygen tent was sponsored by the Ministerial through the donations made at the Thanksgiving service in 1945. Since that time a need for another tent is urgent at the hospital. Because of this the Ministerial Association is hopeful that the offering this year will be sufficient to make the purchase of another tent.

Other members of the committee are Robert Hohing, Robert Karlowa, William Thomas, G. Kear Hosken, Thomas Elias, Mrs. Edna Griffith, Mrs. Pearl Mattingly, Robert Prichard, Joseph Durst, Robert Davis, Jerry Groves and William H. Lemmert.

To Discuss Business Men's Organization

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER—Keyser merchants will have a meeting tonight, at 7:30 o'clock in the Potomac Light and Power Company offices on Main Street, for the purpose of reorganizing the now inactive Keyser Business Men's Association.

The question of Christmas decorations for the city will also be discussed. The meeting will be the most important in recent years as the fate of the business men's organization will be decided, a spokesman said. All owners and managers of stores are urged to attend.

May Visit Schools

Although a program has not been planned by the Keyser Schools in observance of National Education Week, Thursday, has been designated as "Visitation Day" at both the Keyser High and Elementary Schools when parents and patrons of the schools are invited to visit classrooms during school hours.

Cars Collide

Damages are reported to have been slight as a result of an automobile accident at the corner of Main and Armstrong Streets shortly before 7 o'clock Tuesday night.

City Police, who investigated, said J. B. Rhodes, 21, Antioch, who was traveling west on Armstrong Street in a Plymouth coupe, failed to give right of way to Clifton H. Evans, Keyser, who was traveling east on Armstrong Street. Rhodes was ordered to appear for a hearing at 4:30 o'clock Thursday.

Evans Released

A 21-year-old Keyser man, sentenced during the October term of Court to serve from one-to-10 years in the state penitentiary for contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls, was released from the Mineral County jail Tuesday under bonds totaling $1,500 after his attorneys employed a "technicality" in his behalf.

The man, Theodore Clifton Evans, was sentenced by Judge Ernest A. See for contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls, 13 and 16 years of age.

Attorneys Donald C. Hott and Howard P. Shores obtained Evans' release when it was learned he had not been given a preliminary hearing after warrants for his arrest were issued. He has been released on $500 bond pending a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle November 21, and under a $1,000 bond pending an appeal to the West Virginia State Supreme Court of the one-to-10 year sentence.

Sentencing of Evans at the October Term of Court marked the third time in two years he had appeared before Judge See. In 1945, Judge See paroled Evans after his arrest on an auto theft charge to enable him to enter the armed service. He ran afoul of the law again after his discharge, and the judge gave him another chance by deferring sentence.

Will Erect Chapel

Residents of McCoole voted unanimously to erect a community chapel at a meeting at the McCoole Fire Hall recently.

After discussion of various plans the offer of the Session of the Keyser Presbyterian Church to sponsor the building of a community church at McCoole was accepted.

Trustees elected were Benjamin F. Sands, Roy H. Borror, F. Harrell Smith, Mrs. Wallace C. Clark and Mrs. Edwin A. Burke. The trustees were given the authority to plan a campaign for funds for the erection of the structure.

Annual Service Will Be Held By Ministerial Group

Plan To Buy Oxygen Tent For Hospital

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Nov. 12—The annual community Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Frostburg Ministerial Association, will be held Thursday, November 27, at 10:30 a. m., in Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, Broadway. Rev. John Cameron Taylor, who recently became pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will preach the sermon and Rev. George L. Wehler, pastor of Salem Church, will conduct the service.

It was announced today by Rev. J. H. Liesmann, president of the Ministerial Association, that the offering received at the Thanksgiving service would be given for another oxygen tent at Miners' Hospital.

The purchase of an oxygen tent was sponsored by the Ministerial through the donations made at the Thanksgiving service in 1945. Since that time a need for another tent is urgent at the hospital. Because of this the Ministerial Association is hopeful that the offering this year will be sufficient to make the purchase of another tent.

Pivotal Industrials Lose In Final Hour, Pulling Market Average Down

NEW YORK Nov. 12 (AP) — Pivotal industrial shares sagged in the final hour of today's stock market, carrying average prices to their lowest since September 30.

The late activity lifted total transactions, bolstered by accumulation of orders over yesterday's Armistice Day recess, to 900,000 shares compared with 720,000 Monday.

Douglas Aircraft closed 1¾ lower at 49¼.

Bohn Aluminum skidded to a new 1947 low, closing off 2⅜, at 33⅛, while Pennsylvania Railroad at 16⅜ was down one-fourth of a point. Finishing fractionally lower were Phelps Dodge, United States Gypsum and Union Bag and Paper. Declines of a point or more were recorded by United States Steel at 74, American Telephone at 153⅞, American Can at 85¾ and duPont at 186½.

New 1947 highs were attained by Shamrock Oil, which closed at 29, and by Wesson Oil which finished at 51. Responding to dividend news were Master Electric, up 1⅝ at 25⅛, and Pan American Airways, ahead three-eighths at 9⅝. Other gainers included Goodrich, Anaconda Copper, American Woolen, Chesapeake and Ohio, Western Union, Dow Chemical and Owens-Illinois.

Depressed in the Curb were Electric Bond and Share, Salt Dome Oil, Root Petroleum and Carr-Consolidated Biscuit. Forward were Logansport Distilling, Middle West Corporation and Kaiser-Frazer. Turnover here was 280,000 shares against 200,000 Monday.

United States government bonds dropped sharply again while corporate issues also weakened in late trade.

The Victory Loan 2½ of December 1967-72, off 7-32, was quoted at 101 bid, the lowest since quotations started to advance after the issue was publicly sold late in 1945. This compared with a record high of 106⅛. At today's price the yield to the purchaser would be 2.44 per cent.

Sales totaled $5,280,000 compared with $3,882,000 Monday.

Pivotal Industrials Lose In Final Hour, Pulling Market Average Down

NEW YORK Nov. 12 (AP) — Pivotal industrial shares sagged in the final hour of today's stock market, carrying average prices to their lowest since September 30.

The late activity lifted total transactions, bolstered by accumulation of orders over yesterday's Armistice Day recess, to 900,000 shares compared with 720,000 Monday.

Douglas Aircraft closed 1¾ lower at 49¾.

Bohn Aluminum skidded to a new 1947 low, closing off 2⅜, at 33⅛, while Pennsylvania Railroad at 16¾ was down one-fourth of a point. Finishing fractionally lower were Phelps Dodge, United States Gypsum and Union Bag and Paper. Declines of a point or more were recorded by United States Steel at 74, American Telephone at 153⅞, American Can at 85¾ and duPont at 186½.

New 1947 highs were attained by Shamrock Oil, which closed at 29, and by Wesson Oil which finished at 51. Responding to dividend news were Master Electric, up 1⅝ at 25⅛, and Pan American Airways, ahead three-eighths at 9¾. Other gainers included Goodrich, Anaconda Copper, American Woolen, Chesapeake and Ohio, Western Union, Dow Chemical and Owens-Illinois.

Depressed in the Curb were Electric Bond and Share, Salt Dome Oil, Root Petroleum and Carr-Consolidated Biscuit. Forward were Logansport Distilling, Middle West Corporation and Kaiser-Frazer. Turnover here was 280,000 shares against 200,000 Monday.

United States government bonds dropped sharply again while corporate issues also weakened in late trade.

The Victory Loan 2½ of December 1967-72, off 7-32, was quoted at 101 bid, the lowest since quotations started to advance after the issue was publicly sold late in 1945. This compared with a record high of 106½. At today's price the yield to the purchaser would be 2.44 per cent.

Sales totaled $5,280,000 compared with $3,882,000 Monday.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

NEW YORK — (INS) — Harry Brandt president of the Independent Theatre Owners of New York, is breaking out with a new movie of his own. He tells me he will produce "Close-Up" at the Pathe Studio here in New York.

Loretta Young

It has to do with newsreels, and when I asked him if it would be a documentary film, he said, "not on your life. It's a thriller-chiller-diller about a newsreel cameraman who accidentally photographs a criminal While taking pictures of a parade."

A few years ago Harry named a list of stars who were "poison at the box office." I asked him if he had any more "poison" names.

With spirit unbroken, he answered, "Yes, more than ever in 1947"—but he wouldn't name them. I bet he would like to forget he ever dubbed Joan Crawford and Edward Arnold cold turkeys on that original list.

Italy, here we come! Still another Hollywood-financed picture starts in Rome when Bryan Foy sends oved a company to make "Sons of the Musketeers" with Turhan Bey, the torrid Turk.

An Eagle-Lion man is already there along with Leonard Picker, the producer, and they say things are moving so fast the picture can start next month.

Italy was chosen for the filming of this swashbuckling movie not altogether because of the romantic backgrounds, but because of the blocked lira (Italian receipts piled up) which cannot be taken out of the country.

Pretty cute, the story back of how Henry Ginsberg talked Bing Crosby and Bob Hope into making "Road To Rio"—the last and the best of the "road" pictures.

The boys had just about made up their minds the series was played out. They both had time on their hands for outside assignments—which their Paramount contract permits them.

So Henry, vice-prexy in charge of production said, "Look, boys," here's a funny script. Let's give the 'road' one more try and we'll cut you both in on the profits."

In case you don't get the point—Henry kept his box office babies in a home production, eliminated competition from two outside pictures, and with the business this movie will do—everybody's happy!

If at first you succeed—it's the best reason in the world for trying again. This may be the reason Columbia is putting Glenn Ford opposite Rita Hayworth in "The Loves of Carmen" with Charles Vidor directing from Virginia Van Upp's script.

This is the foursome that made "Gilda" a box office bonanza. I was interested to hear that while Rita sings and dances in "Carmen" none of the music from Bizet's opera is used. Instead she'll twirl to old gypsy songs.

Snapshots of New York and Hollywood collected at random:—Saw Tommy Manville at El Morocco with Mrs. Dorothy Freeman, a model. Someone said, "Is she going to be your ninth or tenth wife?" and he answered, "If she will have me."

That English girl hasn't as yet given him his freedom—and I don't think she will. I hear Tommy's family has asked her not to.

Loretta Young's first night in town was spent going to the theatre with Rosalind Russell's sister and her husband, Chet Le Roche, and of course, Ted Lewis. I must say I was proud of Loretta when she walked into the Stork Club. She looked every inch a star.

Richard Ney's new enthusiasm is Martha Vickers. They've made it twice this week to the Chanteclair in Hollywood.

What's this about Betty Avery Drown dating Lew Ayres? When I left Hollywood she was practically engaged to someone els..

Lee Van Atta, our own INS correspondent assigned to General MacArthur during the war, joins the John Ford-Merian Cooper staff as an assistant production chief. His first job is a roving assignment on an adventure picture.

Oscar Homolka, who just finished "I Remember Mama," will do "Edgar and Alice," a stage play, next. That's all today.

'Queen For A Day' Will Attend Royal London Wedding

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—The MBS is making much ado over the Thursday edition of its daily Queen for a Day. That's because this 2 p. m. program has posted announcement to the effect that the selected queen this day will get a trip to London next week to attend the royal wedding.

Incidentally, the broadcasts this week have origination from convention hall in Philadelphia. Because of the special stunt, the successful woman will be described, known or otherwise identified as "London Queen."

CBS reports that at 10:30 it will present a "special democratic program in connection with the world food emergency, to come from Hollywood." No other advance announcement was made.

Two Maxes, Baer and Rosenbloom, both ex-boxers now turned comedians, are due for an Eddie Cantor guesting on NBC at 10:30 . . . Madeleine Carroll is to visit the Magazine Theater of CBS at 10, to help out in a short comedy "Gold Is Where You Find It."

The Family Theater has picked a script with the title of "The Perfect Wife," for its MBS edition at 10 o'clock. Spring Byington and Ralph Morgan will do the cooperative reading of the lead parts, while Lizbeth Scott will be the hostess.

Listed for discussion in the semi-weekly CBS in My Opinion at 6:15 is "Is the American community disintegrating?"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Ripening of Frank Morgan

Frank Morgan

Even since "The Bandwagon," that most captivating of all revues, I have followed with intense interest the development of Frank Morgan's laugh, a comic trick which has taken him far. In the last decade that "hee hee hee hee haw" of Morgan has been elaborated, reorchestrated and greatly enriched by constant practice. The tone color is warmer, deeper,—one might almost say,—purer, more euphonious. Or possibly fruitier is the word I'm looking for. Where once it sounded like the saxophone section at a high school dance signifying intermission, it now has the wild, elfin quality of woodwinds scampering through Mozart. Any moment I expect him to burst into a concerto.

The whole Morgan personality, which is now on display on the new Old Gold Show (C. B. S. 9 p. m. EST Wednesdays), has been ripening under the California sun for a great many years and has now reached a stage where it can't mature much further without getting wormy. In full blossom, the Morgan character is about one third Sheridan Whiteside of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," one part Major Hoople of the comic strips, and one part goat. On the "Old Gold" show where he shares billing with Frances Langford and Don Ameche, he works all three veins indiscriminated and concurrently.

One moment he's waspish like Monty Woolley; the next he's telling preposterous lies like Major Hoople; the next moment he's being goatish. Possibly these characteristics are mutually incompatible because it sounds like three men talking at once on different subjects. For a while I held a theory that the writers got there at the last minute and there wasn't time to assemble their separate scripts. However, I understand there's only one writer on this show so this theory had to be discarded. Unless of course, that one writer is a case of split personality too. No, it hardly seems possible.

Mr. Morgan precipitates himself into the "Old Gold" show a few moments after the trumpets have subsided and spars alternately with Miss Langford, Mr. Ameche and Carmen Dragon, the orchestra leader, about his pursuit of happiness, if that phase is permissible in that context. I have a sample right here.

Ameche: How can you come in here three weeks in a row without recognizing Frances Langford's face.

Morgan: I haven't reached that far yet.

For those of you who collect the finer nuances of radio, this joke sounded much different from the same joke expressed by Bob Hope. When Morgan says it, it's riper, fuller—well, fruiter, I guess, is still the world.

Enough of Morgan. Don Ameche, who plays straight man at the early parts of the show teams up with Frances Langfortd at the end in a sharp connumbial sketch about the less pleasant aspects of matrimony. It is very astringent comedy, entirely different from the coy and sentimental appeal of all the other martial comedies an inflection, timing and character.

In this sketch, Miss Langford plays the role of a wife who is a shrew, a neurotic, a hypochondriac and a spendthrift; she's also—I don't know of any suitable nouns for these qualities—selfish, jealous and stupid. It seems amazing that such an attractive girl could project so many unattractive qualities but she does it very well. Mr. Ameche plays the part of a henpecked, edgy and sharp-tongued husband almost to perfection.

However, I have one rather serious complaint about this sketch. Miss Langford and Mr. Ameche started this act last year on their own show and some of their programs were very funny indeed. This year they are all beginning to sound like the same sketch. It's time they stirred in a few new ideas.

A couple of other elements deserve mention. Miss Langford still sings in her soft, throaty and, I think, very fetching manner. Mr. Dragon's orchestra is adequate though Mr. Dragon should be forcibly restrained from entering into the comedy sequences. Also, there's an interlude in the middle called "the record preview of the week." In this period, the show switches to Chicago or New York to pick up Dorothy Shay or Frankie Carle or some other recording artist in a performance of an unreleased pressing or platter of disk or any other word for record you'd like to put in there.

I have no great objections to this except that sometimes it results in a tremedous amount of dead air. Mr. Carle, the night I listened, must have been wool-gathering out there in Chicago because there were minutes in which nothing at all happened except the voice of the announcer pleading with Chicago to come in.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dodd Succumbs At 96

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Mrs. Elizabeth Dodd, 96, died at the home of her son, County Agent S. L. Dodd, Jr., at noon yesterday. Mrs. Dodd, who lived with different members of her family, had been here with her son for the past six weeks.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ropp, she was born in Berkeley County and spent the greater part of her life near Hedgesvill. She was a member of Falling Water Presbyterian Church most of her life.

The last of her own immediate family, Mrs. Dodd is survived by three sons and one daughter; S. L. Dodd, Jr., Dr. D. R. Dodd, Columbus, Ohio, Dr. M. R. Dodd, Martinsburg and Mrs. Fred Hammil, Keyser; 11 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

There was a brief service at the Dodd home yesterday at 5 p. m., and this morning the body will be taken to Falling Waters Church where there will be a service at 2 p. m.

Farm Club Elects

Mrs. Brooke Sherman was elected president of the Old Fields Farm Women's Club at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Teets, retiring president, last week. Miss Elda Leatherman was elected vice-president and Mrs. L. R. Grover and Mrs. P. E. Thurston were re-elected to the positions of secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. J. D. Saville opened the meeting with prayer and the only other business transacted was the report of the project chairman, Mrs. Martin Huffman, that all projects had been completed.

Th annual revealing party was held and Mrs. Joe Lively, recent bride, was given a miscellaneous shower.

Mrs. L. L. Shanholtzer, Hagerstown, Md., was a guest, as was little Miss Beverly Halterman.

Mrs. Seldon Dies

Mrs. Lottie Rutherford Seldon, 65, died at the Smithland Nursing Home November 4, 1947. Born at Lost City on June 18, 1882, she was a daughter of the late Hamilton and Amanda Miller. On March 15, 1889, she was united in marriage to Frank Seldon and to this union nine children were born, six still survive, with two having died in infancy and a daughter, Bonnie at the age of 21. Her husband died in 1916.

Mrs. Seldon spent her entire life at Lost City with the exception of a few years in Moorefield. She became a member of the Methodist Church in young womanhood and remained faithful until death. She had been an invalid for several years.

Her survivors include four daughters: Mrs. Beulah (J. S.) Reed, Akron, Ohio; Mrs. Bessie (Glenn) Biller, Lost City; Mrs. Ola (John) Mathias, Mathias; Mrs. Golda (Harold) Biller, Purgitsville; two sons, John and Boyd Seldon, Lost City; six brothers and sisters, Grover C. Miller, Phoenix, Ariz.; Jesse and Arthur Miller, Lost City; Mrs. Mary Garrett, Tiffin, Ohio; Miss Minnie Miller, Cumberland, Md., and Mrs. Maynard Miller, Mathias; 20 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held November 6 at home with Rev. Hall officiating. Burial was in the Miller Cemetery on the home place. Pallbearers were grandsons, Chester and Vernon Mathias, Delmas and Donald Biller, Robert Seldon and Paul Hazelett. Flower girlds were Mrs. Paul Hazelett, Leona Reed, Leona Miller, Mary Jo Miller, Lois Miller, Joanne Mathias, Doreen Biller and Betty Lou Miller.

Bean Rites Held

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in the Episcopal Church for Guy R. Bean, 53, who died suddenly in his place of business November 6. Mr. Bean had been suffering from a heart condition for the last four years but his death came as a shock as he had been attending to business as usual.

Capt. Milton Austin, C. A., was in charge of the service with Mrs. George Kuhn singing a solo, and a quartet composed of L. R. Grover, W. J. Teets, Foster Arnold and O. A. Leatherman. Interment was in Olivet Cemetery. Pallbearers were June Vetter, J. D. Chipley, Jr., C. E. Williams, Oscar Fitzwater, Boyd J. McWhorter and Virgil Crites. Honorary pallbearers were Robert Neff, Bill Smith, Julian B. Chipley, Louis Loving, Thomas Hawse, C. H. Fisher, Holbert Saville, J. M. Harrison and Earl Martin.

A son of the late Oscar and Nellie Clower Bean, Guy Russell Bean had been born and reared in Hardy County. He married Miss Beulah Godlove and they had lived in Moorefield since their marriage. Mr. Bean was the owner of the Busy Bee Lunch Room and had been connected with it for more than 15 years. He was a Mason.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by three children, Robert, Donald and Miss Lenora, all at home; two brothers, Murray A. Bean and Hugh M. Bean, Moorefield; and a sister, Mrs. Ernest Thrush, Petersburg.

Among those attending the funeral Sunday were Boyd Godlove, Alexandria, Va.; Robert Neff, Cumberland; Mrs. Edna Godlove, Tommy Godlove, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Fortney, Mr. and Mrs. Brondell Kauffman, Waynesboro, Pa.; Mrs. F. D. Haas, Mrs. Henry Hawse, Mrs. Alston Wilkins, Misses Maxine Haas and Ann Godlove and Chester Haas, Lost River, and a number from Petersburg.

Marriage Is Announced

Miss Naomi A. Foltz became the bride of John W. Sager October 30, at the parsonage of the Church of the Brethren, at Westernport, the pastor, Rev. J. Emmert Dettia, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sager, Piedmont, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were the attendants at the single ring service.

The bride wore a light blue suit with black accessories and her flowers were a corsage of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Sager is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Foltz, Mathias. Mr. Sager is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Sager, also of Mathias, and is a veteran of four years service in the U. S. Army.

After the wedding, a supper was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sager to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker, Westernport, Md.; Mrs. Brydon DeWitt and son, Brydon Merrill, Piedmont, and the bride and groom.

The couple are living at present with the bridegroom's parents in Mathias.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Ripening of Frank Morgan

Even since "The Bandwagon," that most captivating of all revues, I have followed with intense interest the development of Frank Morgan's laugh, a comic trick which has taken him far. In the last decade that "hee hee hee hee haw" of Morgan has been elaborated, reorchestrated and greatly enriched by constant practice. The tone color is warmer, deeper,—one might almost say,—purer, more euphonious. Or possibly fruitier is the word I'm looking for. Where once it sounded like the saxophone section at a high school dance signifying intermission, it now has the wild, elfin quality of woodwinds scampering through Mozart. Any moment I expect him to burst into a concerto.

Frank Morgan

The whole Morgan personality, which is now on display on the new Old Gold Show (C. B. S. 9 p. m. EST Wednesdays), has been ripening under the California sun for a great many years and has now reached a stage where it can't mature much further without getting wormy. In full blossom, the Morgan character is about one third Sheridan Whiteside of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," one part Major Hoople of the comic strips, and one part goat. On the "Old Gold" show where he shares billing with Frances Langford and Don Ameche, he works all three veins indiscriminated and concurrently.

One moment he's waspish like Monty Woolley; the next he's telling preposterous lies like Major Hoople; the next moment he's being goatish. Possibly these characteristics are mutually incompatible because it sounds like three men talking at once on different subjects. For a while I held a theory that the writers got there at the last minute and there wasn't time to assemble their separate scripts. However. I understand there's only one writer on this show so this theory had to be discarded. Unless of course, that one writer is a case of split personality too. No, it hardly seems possible.

Mr. Morgan precipitates himself into the "Old Gold" show a few moments after the trumpets have subsided and spars alternately with Miss Langford, Mr. Ameche and Carmen Dragon, the orchestra leader, about his pursuit of happiness, if that phase is permissible in that context. I have a sample right here.

Ameche: How can you come in here three weeks in a row without recognizing Frances Langford's face.

Morgan: I haven't reached that far yet.

For those of you who collect the finer nuances of radio, this joke sounded much different from the same joke expressed by Bob Hope. When Morgan says it, it's riper, fuller—well, fruiter, I guess, is still the world.

Enough of Morgan. Don Ameche, who plays straight man at the early parts of the show teams up with Frances Langfordt at the end in a sharp connumbial sketch about the less pleasant aspects of matrimony. It is very astringent comedy, entirely different from the coy and sentimental appeal of all the other martial comedies an inflection, timing and character.

In this sketch, Miss Langford plays the role of a wife who is a shrew, a neurotic, a hypochondriac and a spendthrift; she's also—I don't know of any suitable nouns for these qualities—selfish, jealous and stupid. It seems amazing that such an attractive girl could project so many unattractive qualities but she does it very well. Mr. Ameche plays the part of a henpecked, edgy and sharp-tongued husband almost to perfection.

However, I have one rather serious complaint about this sketch. Miss Langford and Mr. Ameche started this act last year on their own show and some of their programs were very funny indeed. This year they are all beginning to sound like the same sketch. It's time they stirred in a few new ideas.

A couple of other elements deserve mention. Miss Langford still sings in her soft, throaty end, I think, very fetching manner. Mr. Dragon's orchestra is adequate though Mr. Dragon should be forcibly restrained from entering into the comedy sequences. Also, there's an interlude in the middle called "the record preview of the week." In this period, the show switches to Chicago or New York to pick up Dorothy Shay or Frankie Carle or some other recording artist in a performance of an unreleased pressing or platter of disk or any other word for record you'd like to put in there.

I have no great objections to this except that sometimes it results in a tremedous amount of dead air. Mr. Carle, the night I listened, must have been wool-gathering out there in Chicago because there were minutes in which nothing at all happened except the voice of the announcer pleading with Chicago to come in.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dodd Succumbs At 96

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Mrs. Elizabeth Dodd, 96, died at the home of her son, County Agent S. L. Dodd, Jr., at noon yesterday. Mrs. Dodd, who lived with different members of her family, had been here with her son for the past six weeks.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ropp, she was born in Berkeley County and spent the greater part of her life near Hedgesvill. She was a member of Falling Water Presbyterian Church most of her life.

The last of her own immediate family, Mrs. Dodd is survived by three sons and one daughter: S. L. Dodd, Jr., Dr. D. R. Dodd, Columbus, Ohio, Dr. M. R. Dodd, Martinsburg and Mrs. Fred Hammil, Keyser; 11 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

There was a brief service at the Dodd home yesterday at 5 p. m., and this morning the body will be taken to Falling Waters Church where there will be a service at 2 p. m.

Farm Club Elects

Mrs. Brooke Sherman was elected president of the Old Fields Farm Women's Club at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Teets, retiring president, last week. Miss Elda Leatherman was elected vice-president and Mrs. L. R. Grover and Mrs. P. E. Thursh were re-elected to the positions of secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. J. D. Saville opened the meeting with prayer and the only other business transacted was the report of the project chairman, Mrs. Martin Huffman, that all projects had been completed.

Th annual revealing party was held and Mrs. Joe Lively, recent bride, was given a miscellaneous shower.

Mrs. L. L. Shanholtzer, Hagerstown, Md., was a guest, as was little Miss Beverly Halterman.

Mrs. Seldon Dies

Mrs. Lottie Rutherford Seldon, 65, died at the Smithland Nursing Home November 4, 1947. Born at Lost City on June 18, 1882, she was a daughter of the late Hamilton and Amanda Miller. On March 15, 1889, she was united in marriage to Frank Seldon and to this union nine children were born, six still survive, with two having died in infancy and a daughter, Bonnie at the age of 21. Her husband died in 1916.

Mrs. Seldon spent her entire life at Lost City with the exception of a few years in Moorefield. She became a member of the Methodist Church in young womanhood and remained faithful until death. She had been an invalid for several years.

Her survivors include four daughters: Mrs. Beulah (J. S.) Reed, Akron, Ohio; Mrs. Bessie (Glenn) Biller, Lost City; Mrs. Ola (John) Mathias, Mathias; Mrs. Golda (Harold) Biller, Fabius; two sons, John and Boyd Seldon, Lost City; six brothers and sisters, Grover C. Miller, Phoenix, Ariz.; Jesse and Arthur Miller, Lost City; Mrs. Mary Garrett, Tiffin, Ohio; Miss Minnie Miller, Cumberland, Md., and Mrs. Maynard Miller, Mathias; 20 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held November 6 at home with Rev. Hall officiating. Burial was in the Miller Cemetery on the home place. Pallbearers were grandsons, Chester and Vernon Mathias, Delmas and Donald Biller, Robert Seldon and Paul Hazelett. Flower girls were Mrs. Paul Hazelett, Leona Reed, Leona Miller, Mary Jo Miller, Lois Miller, Joanne Mathias, Doreen Biller and Betty Lou Miller.

Bean Rites Held

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in the Episcopal Church for Guy R. Bean, 53, who died suddenly in his place of business November 6. Mr. Bean had been suffering from a heart condition for the last four years but his death came as a shock as he had been attending to business as usual.

Capt. Milton Austin, C. A., was in charge of the service with Mrs. George Kuhn singing a solo, and a quartet composed of L. R. Grover, W. J. Teets, Foster Arnold and O. A. Leatherman. Interment was in Olivet Cemetery. Pallbearers were June Vetter, J. D. Chipley, Jr., C. E. Williams, Oscar Fitzwater, Boyd J. McWhorter and Virgil Crites. Honorary pallbearers were Robert Neff, Bill Smith, Julian B. Chipley, Louis Loving, Thomas Hawse, C. H. Fisher, Holbert Saville, J. M. Harrison and Earl Martin.

A son of the late Oscar and Nellie Clower Bean, Guy Russell Bean had been born and reared in Hardy County. He married Miss Beulah Godlove and they had lived in Moorefield since their marriage. Mr. Bean was the owner of the Busy Bee Lunch Room and had been connected with it for more than 15 years. He was a Mason.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by three children, Robert, Donald and Miss Lenora, all at home; two brothers, Murray A. Bean and Hugh M. Bean, Moorefield; and a sister, Mrs. Ernest Thrush, Petersburg.

Among those attending the funeral Sunday were Boyd Godlove, Alexandria, Va.; Robert Neff, Cumberland; Mrs. Edna Godlove, Tommy Godlove, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Fortney, Mr. and Mrs. Brondell Kauffman, Waynesboro, Pa.; Mrs. F. D. Haas, Mrs. Henry Hawse, Mrs. Alston Wilkins, Misses Maxine Haas and Ann Godlove and Chester Haas, Lost River, and a number from Petersburg.

Marriage Is Announced

Miss Naomi A. Foltz became the bride of John W. Sager October 30, at the parsonage of the Church of the Brethren, at Westernport, the pastor, Rev. J. Emmert Dettia, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sager, Piedmont, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were the attendants at the single ring service.

The bride wore a light blue suit with black accessories and her flowers were a corsage of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Sager is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Foltz, Mathias. Mr. Sager is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Sager, also of Mathias, and is a veteran of four years service in the U. S. Army.

After the wedding, a supper was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sager to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker, Westernport, Md.; Mrs. Brydon DeWitt and son, Brydon Merrill, Piedmont, and the bride and groom.

The couple are living at present with the bridegroom's parents in Mathias.

"Pilot" Schools To Help In Study Of Speech Defects

Selection of "pilot" schools for intensive study in devising ways and means to handle the problem of speech defects of school children throughout the county is in the offing, according to Ralph E. Kessler, county supervisor of special education.

A survey conducted in elementary schools of the county this fall indicated that 770 children, nine per cent, have speech defects in need of correction, this figure comparing favorably with a national figure of 10 per cent of elementary students who are suffering speech defects.

In the county, plans are being made to determine which children must be taught individually by a correctionist, those who can be handled with group therapy and those who can be helped by the class room teacher.

Of the 770 county children needing correction, 488 or 68.7 per cent are classed as having articulatory difficulties, including baby talking, lisping and the general group which has sound substitutions, omissions and distortions.

Pupils who showed disorders of rythm—stammering, stuttering and rapid incoherent speech numbered 97 cases or 13.6 per cent. Fifty-seven cases displayed phonation—breathy, harsh and husky speaking—and 66 used delayed speech that is, one speech sound for all consonants, or do not complete words. Eight per cent of the cases had cleft palate speech.

This data, compiled by Kessler and Miss Lois Burrack, speech correctionist for the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, was presented at a meeting Tuesday of Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools; Miss Ruby M. Adams, director of county elementary schools; Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools; Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel; Mrs. Hume O. Annon, executive secretary of the Crippled Children's League, and Miss Burrack.

Hagerstown Reports New Chain Letter Operation

Local postal officials said yesterday there is no evidence in Cumberland of a new chain letter scheme which has been reported in operation in the Hagerstown district.

Hagerstown officials said the chain letter system operates as follows:

A participant purchases a letter from another participant for $2. He then sends $2 to the person whose name is at the top of the list. Then he makes two copies of the letter which he sells for $2 each to two other persons. If the chain is unbroken, the letter promises a return up to $2,084.

Although only money is sent through the mails, Hagerstown Postmaster Thomas M. Simpson said the scheme is in violation of federal postal laws because the mails are being used to aid the plan.

CARD OF THANKS

We are taking this means to thank our friends and neighbors for the kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement of the death of Mrs. Sallie C. Dyer, Westernport. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
THE FAMILY.

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved son, Louis Charles Zapf. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and donated cars for the funeral.
MOTHER & FATHER, SISTER & BROTHERS.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son, Clarence Sween who left this life one year ago, November 12, 1946.

The blow was hard the shock severe,
We never thought the end so near.
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
Our hearts cannot tell how we miss him,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say;
God alone knows how much we miss him
In our lonesome hearts today.
Little he thought when leaving home
That he was never to return,
That he so soon in death would sleep,
Leaving us here alone to mourn.
God alone knows how much we miss him;
Never will his memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly missed by Father, Mother & Family.

CARD OF THANKS

We are taking this means to thank our friends and neighbors for the kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement of the death of Mrs. Sallie C. Dyer, Westernport. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
THE FAMILY.

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved son, Louis Charles Zapf. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and donated cars for the funeral.
MOTHER & FATHER, SISTER & BROTHERS.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son, Clarence Sween, who left this life one year ago, November 12, 1946.

The blow was hard the shock severe,
We never thought the end so near.
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
Our hearts cannot tell how we miss him,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say;
God alone knows how much we miss him
In our lonesome hearts today.
Little he thought when leaving home
That he was never to return,
That he so soon in death would sleep,
Leaving us here alone to mourn.
God alone knows how much we miss him;
Never will his memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly missed by Father, Mother & Family.

Laundry Worker Badly Hurt When Hit By Engine

Robert G. Leasure In Poor Condition

Hit by a backing yard engine on the Baltimore Street crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at 3:50 p. m. yesterday, Robert G. Leasure, 78, 223 Harrison Street, an employe of the Crystal Laundry, was in poor condition in Allegany Hospital last night.

Leasure's right foot was torn off when he was run over by the tender, and B. and O. employes used a pick and shovel to extricate him from beneath the train.

Robert G. Leasure

At Allegany Hospital, Leasure's right leg was amputated about midway between the knee and ankle. He also was undergoing treatment for lacerations of the head.

Detective Lt. Edwin Lilya, who investigated, said Crossing Watchman Raymond Devore told him he "blew and blew" his whistle to warn Leasure of the backing train.

Leasure's daughter, Mrs. S. S. Dowlan, 514 Hill Top Drive, said her father was on his way to a Queen City Pavement restaurant to eat when he was hit.

Police said another man walking about five or six steps ahead of Leasure "just made it" when he crossed in the path of the steam shifter engine that was pulling one coach.

Lt. Lilya identified the conductor as Charles Small, this city, and the engineer was said to be B. S. Duff, also of Cumberland.

A native of Oldtown, Leasure worked for many years as a baggagemaster on the Western Maryland Railway between Cumberland and Elkins, W. Va., but for the past 20 years or more he has been employed as a washer by the Crystal Laundry. He retired once from the latter job, but his successor left about a year later and Leasure returned to work.

Leasure is next to the youngest of five brothers and sisters, all of whom are over 75. John Leasure, who moved to Cumberland recently from Oldtown is 76, and Daniel, who still lives at Oldtown, is 89. His sisters are Mrs. Liza Nixon, Oldtown, who is 84, and Mrs. Amanda Dicken, Cumberland, 86.

He is the father of five children, three daughters and two sons. The sons are Carl and Eugene Leasure, both of Cumberland, and the daughters are Mrs. Dowlan, Mrs. W. V. Hartsock and Mrs. Omer Crabtree, all of Cumberland.

Red Cross Holding Home Service Talks

Representatives from Red Cross chapters in Martinsburg, W. Va., and Winchester, Va., are in Cumberland to attend a two-day Home Service Institute session, according to Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

The opening session yesterday concerned a discussion on home service cases involving veterans, servicemen and their families. Miss Evelyn Webb, home service field representative from eastern area headquarters of the Red Cross in Alexandria, Va., led the discussion.

At today's meeting, Douglas S. Krick, field director of the Baltimore office of the Veterans Administration, will discuss all types of veterans' claims. Sessions are being held in the federal grand jury room at the Postoffice Building.

Krick was in Cumberland last May to speak at a similar meeting.

Those attending are Capt. George F. Whitmore, home service secretary of the Martinsburg chapter, accompanied by Miss Cecilia Heelen and Mrs. Barnhart; and Miss Virgie Adams, home service secretary of the Winchester chapter.

Mrs. Witherup and Mrs. Katherine Regan, office secretary, are representing Allegany County Chapter.

TEMPERATURE READING

At the official weather station in Constitution Park, the mercury stood at 36 at 9:30, having fallen three degrees since 7 p. m. It fluctuated dropping three degrees in the hour between 6 and 7 p. m. JUNIOR OPTIMISTS—The Braddock Junior Optimist Club, sponsored by the Cumberland Optimist Club as part of its youth program, was instituted last night, and Hugh G. Funkhouser, Optimist president is shown presenting a charter to George Riggs, 14, president of the junior club. Left to right are, Edward Bock and Carrol Andrews, vice-presidents; Funkhouser; James Trizise, vice-president; Riggs; Lee Lacy, secretary, and Kenneth Wilmont, sergeant at arms. The junior club meets regularly each Friday at 6 p. m. at Central YMCA, and is open to boys from 10 to 15 years of age.

Junior Optimist Club Charter Is Presented Here

George Riggs Is First President

The Braddock Junior Optimist Club, sponsored by the Cumberland Optimists, was formally instituted last night at Central YMCA, with officers installed and a national charter presented, by Hugh G. Funkhouser, Optimist president.

The club, comprised of boys from 10 to 15 years of age, meets regularly each Friday at Central YMCA at 6 p. m., with their own meeting from 6 to 6:30 p. m., gymnasium class from 6:30 until 7 p. m., then a half hour swimming followed by movies from 7:30 until 8 p. m. Two members of the Optimists Club are delegated to attend each Junior Club session.

The object of the junior club is to teach boys the value of Optimism in human life, intelligent self-government, service to others and to encourage good citizenship, Funkhouser said. The sponsorship of junior clubs is a part of the Optimist International program, and is in keeping with Optimists' motto, "Friend of the Boy".

Officers installed last night include, George Riggs, 14, Blackistone Avenue, president; Edward Bock, Carrol Andrews, and James Trezise, vice-presidents; Lee Lacy, secretary; Kenneth Wilmont, sergeant at arms; George Appel, Robert Hanekamp, Raymond Stull, William Thuss, Robert Spiker, and Charles Troutman, board of governors.

Other charter members include, Daniel Evans, Richard Guthridge, James Humbertson, William Murphy, John McClelland, John Mullaney, Jack Steward, David Dawson, Edgar Dawson, David Steele, and James Case.

Funkhouser was assisted in the installation by Edgar M. Lewis, Fred P. Keyser, and John Spiker.

Each junior club must bear some historical name, and the boys selected the name of "Braddock", in honor of General Braddock who started his fatal march from Fort Cumberland over the Braddock Road.

Rawlings Trio Freed In Larceny Case

Three Rawlings young men who admitted they took a compact, box of candy and several other articles from the automobile of a woman who gave them a ride, were questioned in the office of the State's Attorney yesterday and then released, according to police when the woman declined to swear out a warrant.

The trio, booked as Richard Bobo, William Groggs, and Cpl. Albert Taylor, was arrested early Tuesday morning after the woman, Mrs. Don McRee Keyser, W. Va., told police she noticed the articles missing after the trio got out of her car.

Police said Mrs. McKee picked the trio up in the vicinity of Martin's Mountain where they were hitchhiking. The articles were found in their possession when they were taken into custody.

Mailing Of Packages To Civilians In Foreign Countries Hits Record Peak

Germany, England Head The List

Cumberland postal officials said yesterday that mailing of food and clothing parcels to civilians in foreign countries during October hit a record peak of 321 parcels.

That figure is excessive even as compared to pre-war years, they said. The volume dropped to a minimum during the war because mailing of parcels to civilians in most European countries was prohibited.

In contrast to the increase in mailing of packages to civilians, overseas mailing to military personnel has dropped considerably, officials said. They estimated that the ratio is about two to one.

Of the 321 parcels mailed to foreign countries in October, the highest number to any one country was 97, addressed to civilians in Germany. England was next with 91 and Italy was third with 46.

The majority of the parcels are addressed to European countries, although a few are being sent to such distant points as Australia, China, the Fiji Islands, Siam and the Belgian Congo. Brazil and Mexico are also on the list, with one package sent to each country.

Officials said most of the packages are being sent by individuals as Christmas gifts to friends or relatives in foreign countries.

This month's total is expected to be about the same as in October, even though November is a "short" month. The official Christmas deadline for overseas mailing is this Saturday, but November 15 was merely set as the date by which all such parcels must be mailed to ensure delivery by Christmas Day. Ordinary overseas packages may be mailed at any time, however.

Although a few parcels have been sent to the Soviet satellite country of Yugoslavia, no packages have been sent to Russia or Japan in recent months, officials said.

Zone Board Denies Runion Appeal For Grocery-Residence

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night refused to grant an occupancy permit to Lester A. Runion, local contractor, to use the rear of Lot 14 and part of Lot 15, Block 28, Brookfield Avenue, for building a one-story structure to house a small grocery and confectionery store and living quarters.

Chairman William M. Weatherholt explained that Runion's appeal was denied because the lots are located in a Residential B zoning district.

William H. Geppert, local attorney and co-owner of the property with Runion, explained that they had purchased eight lots on Brookfield Avenue opposite Fort Hill stadium for a small housing development, and that the lots were later widened so that seven of the lots face Brookfield Avenue while the eighth faces Greenway Avenue.

The latter lot was concerned in the appeal.

The attorney presented a petition, signed by 20 residents of the area, which stated that there is a need for a grocery store in that neighborhood and asked the board to approve Runion's appeal.

Under deed restrictions for the Johnson Heights area, Geppert said, written consent had been obtained from owners of adjacent lots regarding the proposed business.

He explained that the building would be of Spanish architecture and would resemble a home more than a store.

One resident of the section, Perry R. Ambrose, 62 Brookfie4ld Avenue, was the only person appearing in opposition to granting the permit. Ambrose explained that he has no objection to the proposed grocery store but added that granting the permit might set a precedent and allow less desirable business establishments to move into the area.

Runion was present but did not testify.

Friendship Train Not Coming Here

No local effort to contribute food to the "Friendship Train," now moving eastward across the nation, has been reported, and Mayor Thomas S. Post and Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said they have received no communications from the sponsoring groups.

The train is not expected to pass through Cumberland, but apparently will move out of Pittsburgh over the Pennsylvania Railroad. Although the train will not visit Fairmont, W. Va., residents of that city plan to have a carload of food in Pittsburgh in time to be coupled to the "Friendship Train." The unperishable food is being sent to Europe as a Christmas gift.

Mother Files Writ Of Habeas Corpus To Recover Child

Grantsville Woman Wants To Keep Him

In an effort to recover her infant son, Mrs. Dorothy V. Carder, this city, through her attorney William H. Geppert, filed an application and petition for a writ of habeas corpus in Circuit Court yesterday, against Mrs. Elizabeth Yaites, of near Grantsville.

Chief Judge William A. Huster issued a writ to the sheriff of Garrett County and set a hearing for December 6 at 9:15 a. m. in Court here.

According to the petition, the child, Richard Cecil Moore, age about two and a half years, has been living with Mrs. Yaites since October 1946, when Mrs. Carder agreed to have the child taken there to live.

Mrs. Carder, her attorney explains, has been living with her mother at 303 Maryland Avenue, with three children by her former marriage, and her second husband. She was awaiting the birth of a fourth child, and due to the crowded conditions of the home, decided to have her youngest child cared for by her friend Mrs. Yaites.

Since then, Mrs. Carder and her husband have acquired a farm on Baltimore Pike, near the city, and now have ample housing facilities and room for their whole family. They have requested that the Yaites woman return the little boy, but she has refused to relinquish him, claiming she has become attached to the child, and wants to adopt him.

Geppert said the mother has tried to get the boy several times, and has finally found it necessary to take legal action.

Drive To Aid U. S. Indians Started By Coney GI Serving In Germany

$77.50 Collected By Sgt. McFarlane

A tri-state area soldier's one-man campaign to enlist aid for America's Navajo Indians resulted in the turning over of $77.50 to the American Legion Post in Paris, France, the New York Herald Tribune reported yesterday.

Sgt. Richard McFarlane, Lonaconing, now stationed with United States occupation forces in Stuttgart, Germany, began his quest for funds among the enlisted men and officers in Stuttgart after he read a magazine article which reported that 30,000 Navajo Indians are threatened with starvation on their reservations in Arizona and New Mexico.

The 27-year-old son of David McFarlane, West Main Street, Lonaconing and the late Mrs. Edith Pendlebury McFarlane stated "it seemed funny that conditions like that should exist back home when all we hear over here is relief for Europe."

A graduate of Central High School with the Class of '37, Sgt. McFarlane was active in dramatics and debates during his school years.

After graduation Sgt. McFarlane went to Detroit to live with relatives and while there enlisted in the army just before the war.

Sgt. McFarlane returned to the United States in 1945 after a tour of duty in Africa and Europe and visited his friends and relatives in Lonaconing at that time.

He reinlisted in 1945 for a three year stint with the occupation forces in Germany.

An aunt, Miss Cecelia Pendlebury and two sisters, Lillian and Catherine, live at home with Sgt. McFarlane's father.

The American Legion Post in Paris is forwarding the contribution to the Navajo Indians, the Tribune stated.

Mrs. Evans Is Named Head Of Health Council

Demonstration Given On League Work

At the second monthly meeting of the newly organized Public Health Lay Council for Allegany County, held last night in City Hall auditorium, Mrs. Arthur Evans of the Cresaptown lay group was elected county chairman, succeeding Mrs. Lewis C. Millholland, Bowling Green, who resigned recently. Forty persons attended.

During a brief business session, Mrs. Evans reported that three new lay health groups have been formed, known as the East Side, LaVale and Cumberland groups. She asked each group chairman to keep in touch with her so that a uniform schedule may be maintained regarding volunteer workers to assist at Health Department clinics.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said that no new health centers can be established in the county until such time as more doctors and nurses are obtained.

He suggested that small communities affiliate with larger towns in which the 12 existing centers are located.

Following the business session, Miss Elma Lee Georg, physiotherapist of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, presented a program demonstrating work of the league.

Polio Victims Present

Nine children who are being treated by the league, including two children who were stricken with infantile paralysis, took part in the demonstration.

A 2-year-old Cumberland girl, Sandra Showalter, the county's only polio victim last year, wore a small brace to protect a muscle in her foot which was still paralyzed.

Eight-year-old Allan Pryor, who was the first county infantile paralysis victim this year, suffered paralyssis of his right leg, but Miss Georg demonstrated that the boy, who returned from a Baltimore hospital two weeks ago, is now affected only in the foot. Heat treatments and massage are being used, and his chances for complete recovery are good, she said.

Cerebral Palsy Cited

In this connection, Miss Georg pointed out that cerebral palsy can cause a paralysis just as bad or worse than polio, and that such cases outnumber infantile paralysis cases in the county, with an annual average of seven cerebral palsy cases per 100,000 population.

Norma June Free, a 17-year-old Cumberland girl, has been under League care for a number of years after her right side fas paralyzed. Now the paralysis is confined to foot muscles, Miss Georg pointed out.

A 17-year-old junior at Allegany High School, Betty Lou Driver, drew applause when she thanked Miss Georg and Miss H. O. A Annan, executive secretary of the league, for their assistance to her. In 1935, when Betty Lou came to the attention of the league, she was unable to talk or walk, and her muscles were unco-ordinated because of cerebral palsy.

A Lonaconing youngster, 5-year-old Kenneth Green, who had been paralyzed from the waist down, demonstrated his improvement by walking with a crutch.

Bill Greise, a young Cumberland boy, and Ramona Dyche, 16, were presented in connection with an illustration of treating curvature of the spine.

David Greise was introduced to demonstrate treatment of an excessively arched foot.

In 1934, Everstine left Cumberland, and for the past 10 years has been administrative assistant to Dr. Horace E. Flack, secretary to the Maryland Legislative Council and head of the Department of Legislative Reference.

Everstine is married to the former Miss Barbara Schilling, this city, daughter of the late Sylvester Schilling, who also graduated from Allegany in the class of '26.

Potomac Park Plans Yuletide Lighting Fete

Potomac Park Improvement Association will have a dual celebration, about a week before Christmas, when a huge community Christmas tree will be lighted and streets in the community will be illuminated for the first time.

J. Milton Dick, association president, said last night at a regular meeting of the group, that officials of the Potomac Edison Company have assured him, work on installing street lights will be completed between December 15 and 20.

Dick said he will name a committee to arrange the entire celebration. Tentative plans call for providing a treat for the 400 children of Potomac Park by Santa Claus, lighting of the new street lights for the first time and lighting a huge Christmas tree to be erected and decorated. Music will be furnished by a choral group and a band, he said.

The association's nominating committee submitted the following names as candidates for the coming election: J. Textile Workers Will Not Attend State CIO Meeting

Executive Board Turns Down Affiliation Plan

Officials of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, reported last night that the Celanese local will not be represented when the Maryland and District of Columbia Industrial Union Council (CIO) convenes in Baltimore November 20.

The State CIO Council is planning to hold its first convention since 1944 in Baltimore November 20, 21 and 22, and Ulisse De Dominicis, Baltimore, president, said the main business of the convention will be to carry out policies outlined at the recent CIO national convention.

Some 200 delegates are expected to attend the sessions at the Odd Fellows Hall, Saratoga and Cathedral Streets, Baltimore.

Will Name Delegates

The nomination and election of a delegate from the Western Maryland Industrial Union Council will be held at a meeting of the council tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Rubber Workers Hall. C. D. McIntyre, acting president, will officiate.

Action of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, on delegates to the state convention will be taken at a meeting of the local Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

It was reported yesterday that the United Paper Workers local at Luke plans to send delegates to the convention for the first time.

When asked what chance there was that the Celanese union would send delegates to the convention, John G. Thomas, business manager and secretary-treasurer, flatly stated, "None".

Thomas said a proposal to re-affiliate with the state group was turned down at a special meeting of the union's executive board Monday night.

Ask Board To Act

The local, he added, by a huge majority, turned the matter back to the Executive Board so that the small group could analyse the make up of the state organization and take action. The action taken Monday, of course, dooms any attempt to re-affiliate in time for the coming convention.

He said Frank J. Bender, regional CIO director for Maryland, attended the executive board meeting and outlined proposed changes in the by-laws of the council. Thomas said the council considered that the rules were still unsatisfactory.

The Celanese local voted December 13, 1944, to disaffiliate with the State Council and reaffirmed that decision in February, 1945, by an overwhelming majority after Richard E. Boyden, who then was president of the local, ruled the first vote out of order.

The disaffiliation action resulted chiefly from charges made by James A. Dundon, the TWUA representative, who now is stationed in Texas, in protest to the action which he and other delegates termed "Communist-inspired leadership of the state council."

Are Willing To Join

At that time, Dundon said he would be in favor of the local's affiliation in a "properly run state council," and Local 1874, TWUA, officials expressed willingness to join the body whenever certain changes were made.

Playford Aldridge, shop chairman in spinning and bobbin stores, who worked with Dundon in the disaffiliation action, said the local's opposition centers about certain parts in the council's by-laws which give minority groups too much opportunity to dominate the council.

He added that the by-laws have already been amended to a certain point but that the changes proposed at Monday's meeting did not meet with the favor of the executive board.

All TWUA locals in Maryland, he said, have dropped out of the council.

The stormy issue was brought before the floor of the local four times during 1944, twice in 1945 and twice last year before Monday's decision, officials said.

County Allotted Three Beds At State Infirmary

County commissioners have advised Dr. Winter R. Frantz to contact hospital officials at Camp Ritchie state infirmary, to determine what use can be made of three beds there, assigned to patients from Allegany County.

A representative of the Associated Charities notified the county board yesterday that some action must be taken about the assigned beds, or be taken about the assigned beds, or the allotment will be released.

The county board does not know what type of patients can be sent to the Ritchie infirmary, commissioners explained.

Snow In Cumberland Likely This Month, According To Past Records

Weather Observer Digs Into Files

Cumberlanrd is in for snow this month on the basis of weather records kept here since 1912, according to Robert R. Golden, local weather observer at Constitution Park.

November snows seem to run in five to six year cycles over that period of years and since there hasn't been a November snow for six years, one is about due. Golden figures.

Digging back into his records, the observer found that November 1938 holds the record for the most snow. Eleven and a half inches fell that year, eight falling on November 24 and 25 to cause postponement of the annual Thanksgiving Day game between Fort Hill and Allegany High Schools, and three and a half more falling on November 28.

The most precipitation—rain and melted snow—to fall in November was 4.79 inches in 1940, while back in 1922 the total for the month amounted to only 0.55 of an inch. That's the lowest precipitation mark since 1912.

Eighty-degree temperature readings in past Novembers have been "pretty common," says Golden, but the warmest November day was the 19th in 1921 when the mercury hit 85 degrees.

In the other extreme, the coldest November temperature is five degrees and that was recorded twice, in successive years. It was first recorded November 29, 1929, and again the following year, on November 28, the temperature dropped to that mark. Its closest competition was in 1938 when the mercury got down to eight degrees.

Army Films Available

The Army Recruiting Station announced that five films received here this week are available for showing to interested patriotic and civic organizations. They are Westward Is Bataan, How Good Is a Gun, Attack-the Battle for New Britain, Desert Victory and All American.

1947 Christmas Seals Feature 2 Oxen Pulling Sled Of Trees

Sale Will Open On November 24

The Maryland Tuberculosis Association has received the 1947 Christmas seal in preparation for the official opening sale date Nov. 24, it was announced yesterday, by William J. Edwards, chairman of the campaign to be sponsored by the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association.

The 1947 seal depicts two oxen pulling a sled loaded with Christmas trees.

Designed by Raymond Lufkin, Tenaffy, N. J., the seal symbolizes the pioneer spirit that enabled early settlers to conquer the wilderness and implies the same spirit for the battle against tuberculosis, the Association declared.

Although sale of the seals has helped bring about an 80 per cent reduction in the number of TB deaths, the association warned that the disease still kills 53,000 Americans annually and is the most deadly disease in the 15-44 age group.

. . . Your Protection Against Tuberculosis

The State group estimated that 4,000,000 lives have been saved in this country since 1907, the year the sale of the familiar "Cross of Lorraine" stamps was begun.

November 23, one day before the official seal sale opens, has been designated as Christmas Seal Sunday. The campaign will run from Nov. 24 to Christmas Eve, Edwards reported.

Maryland Telephone Operators Vote Their Preference For CIO

Members To Get A Second Ballot

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 — (AP) — Maryland telephone operators have voted preference to affiliate with Telephone Workers Organizing Committee (CIO), Mrs. Dorothy C. Weiss, president of Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, reported today.

Mrs. Weiss said a second ballot will be mailed to members of the MTTU for a final "yes or no" vote on whether to affiliate with the TWOC.

Mrs. Weiss said about 60 per cent of the MTTU's 3,500 members voted in the first round. Others on the first ballot with the TWOC were the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL), Communications Workers of America (IND) and an independent choice.

Another telephone union — the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers—is now going through the process of determining whether it wishes to affiliate with some other group.

Ballots were mailed last week to the plant and maintenance workers making up the MFTW's membership and must be returned on or before November 17.

A MFTW spokesman said if members vote to affiliate with another group, the union will send out another ballot.

Two Maryland unions have voted to affiliate with the TWOC. They are the State Branches American Union of Telephone Workers (Long Lines employes) and the Association of Communications Equipment Workers (installation personnel for the Point Breeze plant of the Western Electric Company).

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone and Telegraph Company's clerical and commercial employes and Western Electric production workers voted to join the Communications Workers of America.

Laundry Worker Badly Hurt When Hit By Engine

Robert G. Leasure In Poor Condition

Hit by a backing yard engine on the Baltimore Street crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at 3:50 p. m. yesterday, Robert G. Leasure, 78, 223 Harrison Street, an employe of the Crystal Laundry, was in poor condition in Allegany Hospital last night.

Leasure's right foot was torn off when he was run over by the tender, and B. and O. employes used a pick and shovel to extricate him from beneath the train.

Robert G. Leasure

At Allegany Hospital, Leasure's right leg was amputated about midway between the knee and ankle. He also was undergoing treatment for lacerations of the head.

Detective Lt. Edwin Lilya, who investigated, said Crossing Watchman Raymond Devore told him he "blew and blew" his whistle to warn Leasure of the backing train.

Leasure's daughter, Mrs. S. S. Dowlan, 514 Hill Top Drive, said her father was on his way to a Queen City Pavement restaurant to eat when he was hit.

Police said another man walking about five or six steps ahead of Leasure "just made it" when he crossed in the path of the steam shifter engine that was pulling one coach.

Lt. Lilya identified the conductor as Charles Small, this city, and the engineer was said to be B. S. Duff, also of Cumberland.

A native of Oldtown, Leasure worked for many years as a baggagemaster on the Western Maryland Railway between Cumberland and Elkins, W. Va., but for the past 20 years or more he has been employed as a washer by the Crystal Laundry. He retired once from the latter job, but his successor left about a year later and Leasure returned to work.

Leasure is next to the youngest of five brothers and sisters, all of whom are over 75. John Leasure, who moved to Cumberland recently from Oldtown is 76, and Daniel, who still lives at Oldtown, is 89. His sisters are Mrs. Liza Nixon, Oldtown, who is 84, and Mrs. Amanda Dicken, Cumberland, 86.

He is the father of five children, three daughters and two sons. The sons are Carl and Eugene Leasure, both of Cumberland, and the daughters are Mrs. Dowlan, Mrs. W. V. Hartsock and Mrs. Omer Crabtree, all of Cumberland.

Red Cross Holding Home Service Talks

Representatives from Red Cross chapters in Martinsburg, W. Va., and Winchester, Va., are in Cumberland to attend a two-day Home Service Institute session, according to Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

The opening session yesterday concerned a discussion on home service cases involving veterans, servicemen and their families. Miss Evelyn Webb, home service field representative from eastern area headquarters of the Red Cross in Alexandria, Va., led the discussion.

At today's meeting, Douglas S. Krick, field director of the Baltimore office of the Veterans Administration, will discuss all types of veterans' claims. Sessions are being held in the federal grand jury room at the Postoffice Building.

Krick was in Cumberland last May to speak at a similar meeting.

Those attending are Capt. George F. Whitmore, home service secretary of the Martinsburg chapter, accompanied by Miss Cecilia Heelen and Mrs. Barnhart; and Miss Virgie Adams, home service secretary of the Winchester chapter.

Mrs. Witherup and Mrs. Katherine Regan, office secretary, are representing Allegany County Chapter.

After alternately dropping three degrees in the hour between 6 and 7 p. m. At the city police station at 11:15 the mercury was at 32 degrees and at Frostburg it was 36. Each junior club must bear some historical name, and the boys selected the name of "Braddock", in honor of General Braddock who started his fatal march from Fort Cumberland over the Braddock Road.

Rawlings Trio Freed In Larceny Case

Three Rawlings young men who admitted they took a compact, box of candy and several other articles from the automobile of a woman who gave them a ride, were questioned in the office of the State's Attorney yesterday and then released, according to police when the woman declined to swear out a warrant.

The trio, booked as Richard Bobo, William Groggs, and Cpl. Albert Taylor, was arrested early Tuesday morning after the woman, Mrs. Don McRee, Keyser, W. Va., told police she noticed the articles missing after the trio got out of her car.

Police said Mrs. McKee picked the trio up in the vicinity of Martin's Mountain where they were hitchhiking. The articles were found in their possession when they were taken into custody.

Mailing Of Packages To Civilians In Foreign Countries Hits Record Peak

Germany, England Head The List

Cumberland postal officials said yesterday that mailing of food and clothing parcels to civilians in foreign countries during October hit a record peak of 321 parcels.

That figure is excessive even as compared to pre-war years, they said. The volume dropped to a minimum during the war because mailing of parcels to civilians in most European countries was prohibited.

In contrast to the increase in mailing of packages to civilians, overseas mailing to military personnel has dropped considerably, officials said. They estimated that the ratio is about two to one.

Of the 321 parcels mailed to foreign countries in October, the highest number to any one country was 97, addressed to civilians in Germany. England was next with 91 and Italy was third with 46.

The majority of the parcels are addressed to European countries, although a few are being sent to such distant points as Australia, China, the Fiji Islands, Siam and the Belgian Congo. Brazil and Mexico are also on the list, with one package sent to each country.

Officials said most of the packages are being sent by individuals as Christmas gifts to friends or relatives in foreign countries.

This month's total is expected to be about the same as in October, even though November is a "short" month. The official Christmas deadline for overseas mailing is this Saturday, but November 15 was merely set as the date by which all such parcels must be mailed to ensure delivery by Christmas Day. Ordinary overseas packages may be mailed at any time, however.

Although a few parcels have been sent to the Soviet satellite country of Yugoslavia, no packages have been sent to Russia or Japan in recent months, officials said.

SALVATION ARMY PLANS TO EXPAND CHRISTMAS RELIEF

Preliminary plans for the Christmas activities of the Salvation Army in the Cumberland area were discussed at a meeting of the Salvation Army Advisory Board yesterday at noon, Maj. Elmer Wall, commander, reported.

Maj. Wall said the Citadel and Outpost will enlarge their programs for Christmas relief but said details of the campaign are not yet complete.

Reports of activities at the Outpost were presented by Capt. Lynn Wiseman while Maj. Wall gave a resume of activities at the Citadel.

Zone Board Denies Runion Appeal For Grocery-Residence

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night refused to grant an occupancy permit to Lester A. Runion, local contractor, to use the rear of Lot 14 and part of Lot 15, Block 28, Brookfield Avenue, for building a one-story structure to house a small grocery and confectionery store and living quarters.

Chairman William M. Weatherholt explained that Runion's appeal was denied because the lots are located in a Residential B zoning district.

William H. Geppert, local attorney and co-owner of the property with Runion, explained that they had purchased eight lots on Brookfield Avenue opposite Fort Hill stadium for a small housing development, and that the lots were later widened so that seven of the lots face Brookfield Avenue while the eighth faces Greenway Avenue.

The latter lot was concerned in the appeal.

The attorney presented a petition, signed by 20 residents of the area, which stated that there is a need for a grocery store in that neighborhood and asked the board to approve Runion's appeal.

Under deed restrictions for the Johnson Heights area, Geppert said, written consent had been obtained from owners of adjacent lots regarding the proposed business.

He explained that the building would be of Spanish architecture and would resemble a home more than a store.

One resident of the section, Perry R. Ambrose, 62 Brookfield Avenue, was the only person appearing in opposition to granting the permit. Ambrose explained that he has no objection to the proposed grocery store but added that granting the permit might set a precedent and allow less desirable business establishments to move into the area.

Runion was present but did not testify.

Friendship Train Not Coming Here

No local effort to contribute food to the "Friendship Train," now moving eastward across the nation, has been reported, and Mayor Thomas S. Post and Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said they have received no communications from the sponsoring groups.

The train is not expected to pass through Cumberland, but apparently will move out of Pittsburgh over the Pennsylvania Railroad. Although the train will not visit Fairmont, W. Va., residents of that city plan to have a carload of food in Pittsburgh in time to be coupled to the "Friendship Train." The unperishable food is being sent to Europe as a Christmas gift.

Mother Files Writ Of Habeas Corpus To Recover Child

Grantsville Woman Wants To Keep Him

In an effort to recover her infant son, Mrs. Dorothy V. Carder, this city, through her attorney William H. Geppert, filed an application and petition for a writ of habeas corpus in Circuit Court yesterday, against Mrs. Elizabeth Yaites, of near Grantsville.

Chief Judge William A. Huster issued a writ to the sheriff of Garrett County and set a hearing for December 6 at 9:15 a. m. in Court here.

According to the petition, the child, Richard Cecil Moore, age about two and a half years, has been living with Mrs. Yaites since October 1946, when Mrs. Carder agreed to have the child taken there to live.

Mrs. Carder, her attorney explains, has been living with her mother at 303 Maryland Avenue, with three children by her former marriage, and her second husband. She was awaiting the birth of a fourth child, and due to the crowded conditions of the home, decided to have her youngest child cared for by her friend Mrs. Yaites.

Since then, Mrs. Carder and her husband have acquired a farm on Baltimore Pike, near the city, and now have ample housing facilities and room for their whole family. They have requested that the Yaites woman return the little boy, but she has refused to relinquish him, claiming she has become attached to the child, and wants to adopt him.

Geppert said the mother has tried to get the boy several times, and has finally found it necessary to take legal action.

Drive To Aid U. S. Indians Started By Coney GI Serving In Germany

$77.50 Collected By Sgt. McFarlane

A tri-state area soldier's one-man campaign to enlist aid for America's Navajo Indians resulted in the turning over of $77.50 to the American Legion Post in Paris, France, the New York Herald Tribune reported yesterday.

Sgt. Richard McFarlane, Lonaconing, now stationed with United States occupation forces in Stuttgart, Germany, began his quest for funds among the enlisted men and officers in Stuttgart after he read a magazine article which reported that 30,000 Navajo Indians are threatened with starvation on their reservations in Arizona and New Mexico.

The 27-year-old son of David McFarlane, West Main Street, Lonaconing and the late Mrs. Edith Pendlebury McFarlane stated "it seemed funny that conditions like that should exist back home when all we hear over here is relief for Europe."

A graduate of Central High School with the Class of '37, Sgt. McFarlane was active in dramatics and debates during his school years.

After graduation Sgt. McFarlane went to Detroit to live with relatives and while there enlisted in the army just before the war.

Sgt. McFarlane returned to the United States in 1945 after a tour of duty in Africa and Europe and visited his friends and relatives in Lonaconing at that time.

He reinlisted in 1945 for a three year stint with the occupation forces in Germany.

An aunt, Miss Cecelia Pendlebury and two sisters, Lillian and Catherine, live at home with Sgt. McFarlane's father.

The American Legion Post in Paris is forwarding the contribution to the Navajo Indians, the Tribune stated.

Mrs. Evans Is Named Head Of Health Council

Demonstration Given On League Work

At the second monthly meeting of the newly organized Public Health Lay Council for Allegany County, held last night in City Hall auditorium, Mrs. Arthur Evans of the Cresaptown lay group was elected county chairman, succeeding Mrs. Lewis C. Millholland, Bowling Green, who resigned recently. Forty persons attended.

During a brief business session, Mrs. Evans reported that three new lay health groups have been formed, known as the East Side, LaVale and Cumberland groups. She asked each group chairman to keep in touch with her so that a uniform schedule may be maintained regarding volunteer workers to assist at Health Department clinics.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said that no new health centers can be established in the county until such time as more doctors and nurses are obtained.

He suggested that small communities affiliate with larger towns in which the 12 existing centers are located.

Following the business session, Miss Elma Lee Georg, physiotherapist of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, presented a program demonstrating work of the league.

Polio Victims Present

Nine children who are being treated by the league, including two children who were stricken with infantile paralysis, took part in the demonstration.

A 2-year-old Cumberland girl, Sandra Showalter, the county's only polio victim last year, wore a small brace to protect a muscle in her foot which was still paralyzed.

Eight-year-old Allan Pryor, who was the first county infantile paralysis victim this year, suffered paralyssis of his right leg, but Miss Georg demonstrated that the boy, who returned from a Baltimore hospital two weeks ago, is now affected only in the foot. Heat treatments and massage are being used, and his chances for complete recovery are good, she said.

Cerebral Palsy Cited

In this connection, Miss Georg pointed out that cerebral palsy can cause a paralysis just as bad or worse than polio, and that such cases outnumber infantile paralysis cases in the county, with an annual average of seven cerebral palsy cases per 100,000 population.

Norma June Free, a 17-year-old Cumberland girl, has been under League care for a number of years after her right side fas paralyzed. Now the paralysis is confined to foot muscles, Miss Georg pointed out.

A 17-year-old junior at Allegany High School, Betty Lou Driver, drew applause when she thanked Miss Georg and Miss H. O. A Annan, executive secretary of the league, for their assistance to her. In 1935, when Betty Lou came to the attention of the league, she was unable to talk or walk, and her muscles were unco-ordinated because of cerebral palsy.

A Lonaconing youngster, 5-year-old Kenneth Green, who had been paralyzed from the waist down, demonstrated his improvement by walking with a crutch.

Bill Greise, a young Cumberland boy, and Ramona Dyche, 16, were presented in connection with an illustration of treating curvature of the spine.

David Greise was introduced to demonstrate treatment of an excessively arched foot.

Carl Everstine To Be Admitted To Bar

In 1934, Everstine left Cumberland, and for the past 10 years has been administrative assistant to Dr. Horace E. Flack, secretary to the Maryland Legislative Council and head of the Department of Legislative Reference.

Everstine is married to the former Miss Barbara Schilling, this city, daughter of the late Sylvester Schilling, who also graduated from Allegany in the class of '26.

Potomac Park Plans Yuletide Lighting Fete

Potomac Park Improvement Association will have a dual celebration, about a week before Christmas, when a huge community Christmas tree will be lighted and streets in the community will be illuminated for the first time.

J. Milton Dick, association president, said last night at a regular meeting of the group, that officials of the Potomac Edison Company have assured him, work on installing street lights will be completed between December 15 and 20.

Dick said he will name a committee to arrange the entire celebration. Textile Workers Will Not Attend State CIO Meeting

Executive Board Turns Down Affiliation Plan

Officials of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, reported last night that the Celanese local will not be represented when the Maryland and District of Columbia Industrial Union Council (CIO) convenes in Baltimore November 20.

The State CIO Council is planning to hold its first convention since 1944 in Baltimore November 20, 21 and 22, and Ulisse De Dominicis, Baltimore, president, said the main business of the convention will be to carry out policies outlined at the recent CIO national convention.

Some 200 delegates are expected to attend the sessions at the Odd Fellows Hall, Saratoga and Cathedral Streets, Baltimore.

Will Name Delegates

The nomination and election of a delegate from the Western Maryland Industrial Union Council will be held at a meeting of the council tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Rubber Workers Hall. C. D. McIntyre, acting president, will officiate.

Action of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, on delegates to the state convention will be taken at a meeting of the local Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

It was reported yesterday that the United Paper Workers local at Luke plans to send delegates to the convention for the first time.

When asked what chance there was that the Celanese union would send delegates to the convention, John G. Thomas, business manager and secretary-treasurer, flatly stated, "None".

Thomas said a proposal to re-affiliate with the state group was turned down at a special meeting of the union's executive board Monday night.

Ask Board To Act

The local, he added, by a huge majority, turned the matter back to the Executive Board so that the small group could analyse the make up of the state organization and take action. The action taken Monday, of course, dooms any attempts to re-affiliate in time for the coming convention.

He said Frank J. Bender, regional CIO director for Maryland, attended the executive board meeting and outlined proposed changes in the by-laws of the council. Thomas said the council considered that the rules were still unsatisfactory.

The Celanese local voted December 13, 1944, to disaffiliate with the State Council and reaffirmed that decision in February, 1945, by an overwhelming majority after Richard E. Boyden, who then was president of the local, ruled the first vote out of order.

The disaffiliation action resulted chiefly from charges made by James A. Dundon, the TWUA representative, who now is stationed in Texas, in protest to the action which he and other delegates termed "Communist-inspired leadership of the state council."

Are Willing To Join

At that time, Dundon said he would be in favor of the local's affiliation in a "properly run state council," and Local 1874, TWUA, officials expressed willingness to join the body whenever certain changes were made.

Playford Aldridge, shop chairman in spinning and bobbin stores, who worked with Dundon in the disaffiliation action, said the local's opposition centers about certain parts in the council's by-laws which give minority groups too much opportunity to dominate the council.

He added that the by-laws have already been amended to a certain point but that the changes proposed at Monday's meeting did not meet with the favor of the executive board.

All TWUA locals in Maryland, he said, have dropped out of the council.

The stormy issue was brought before the floor of the local four times during 1944, twice in 1945 and twice last year before Monday's decision, officials said.

County Allotted Three Beds At State Infirmary

County commissioners have advised Dr. Winter R. Frantz to contact hospital officials at Camp Ritchie state infirmary, to determine what use can be made of three beds there, assigned to patients from Allegany County.

A representative of the Associated Charities notified the county board yesterday that some action must be taken about the assigned beds, or the allotment will be released.

The county board does not know what type of patients can be sent to the Ritchie infirmary, commissioners explained.

Snow In Cumberland Likely This Month, According To Past Records

Weather Observer Digs Into Files

Cumberlanrd is in for snow this month on the basis of weather records kept here since 1912, according to Robert R. Golden, local weather observer at Constitution Park.

November snows seem to run in five to six year cycles over that period of years and since there hasn't been a November snow for six years, one is about due. Golden figures.

Digging back into his records, the observer found that November 1938 holds the record for the most snow. Eleven and a half inches fell that year, eight falling on November 24 and 25 to cause postponement of the annual Thanksgiving Day game between Fort Hill and Allegany High Schools, and three and a half more falling on November 28.

The most precipitation—rain and melted snow—to fall in November was 4.79 inches in 1940, while back in 1922 the total for the month amounted to only 0.55 of an inch. That's the lowest precipitation mark since 1912.

Eighty-degree temperature readings in past Novembers have been "pretty common," says Golden, but the warmest November day was the 19th in 1921 when the mercury hit 85 degrees.

In the other extreme, the coldest November temperature is five degrees and that was recorded twice, in successive years. It was first recorded November 29, 1929, and again the following year, on November 28, the temperature dropped to that mark. Its closest competition was in 1938 when the mercury got down to eight degrees.

Army Films Available

The Army Recruiting Station announced that five films received here this week are available for showing to interested patriotic and civic organizations. They are Westward Is Bataan, How Good Is a Gun, Attack-the Battle for New Britain, Desert Victory and All American.

1947 Christmas Seals Feature 2 Oxen Pulling Sled Of Trees

Sale Will Open On November 24

The Maryland Tuberculosis Association has received the 1947 Christmas seal in preparation for the official opening sale date Nov. 24, it was announced yesterday, by William J. Edwards, chairman of the campaign to be sponsored by the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association.

The 1947 seal depicts two oxen pulling a sled loaded with Christmas trees.

Designed by Raymond Lufkin, Tenaffy, N. J., the seal symbolizes the pioneer spirit that enabled early settlers to conquer the wilderness and implies the same spirit for the battle against tuberculosis, the Association declared.

Although sale of the seals has helped bring about an 80 per cent reduction in the number of TB deaths, the association warned that the disease still kills 53,000 Americans annually and is the most deadly disease in the 15-44 age group.

. . . Your Protection Against Tuberculosis

The State group estimated that 4,000,000 lives have been saved in this country since 1907, the year the sale of the familiar "Cross of Lorraine" stamps was begun.

November 23, one day before the official seal sale opens, has been designated as Christmas Seal Sunday. The campaign will run from Nov. 24 to Christmas Eve, Edwards reported.

Maryland Telephone Operators Vote Their Preference For CIO

Members To Get A Second Ballot

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 — (AP) — Maryland telephone operators have voted preference to affiliate with Telephone Workers Organizing Committee (CIO), Mrs. Dorothy C. Weiss, president of Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, reported today.

Mrs. Weiss said a second ballot will be mailed to members of the MTTU for a final "yes or no" vote on whether to affiliate with the TWOC.

Mrs. Weiss said about 60 per cent of the MTTU's 3,500 members voted in the first round. Others on the first ballot with the TWOC were the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL), Communications Workers of America (IND) and an independent choice.

Another telephone union — the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers—is now going through the process of determining whether it wishes to affiliate with some other group.

Ballots were mailed last week to the plant and maintenance workers making up the MFTW's membership and must be returned on or before November 17.

A MFTW spokesman said if members vote to affiliate with another group, the union will send out another ballot.

Two Maryland unions have voted to affiliate with the TWOC. They are the State Branches American Union of Telephone Workers (Long Lines employes) and the Association of Communications Equipment Workers (installation personnel for the Point Breeze plant of the Western Electric Company).

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone and Telegraph Company's clerical and commercial employes and Western Electric production workers voted to join the Communications Workers of America.
